McClory Asking Impeachment On Contempt Charge

WASHINGTON (UPI) — At the urging of a key Republican member, the House Judiciary Committee moved today toward recommending President Nixon's impeachment on a third charge that he "willfully disobeyed" its subpoenas for 147 Watergate-related tapes.

The proposal by Rep. Robert McClory of Illinois, the panel's second-ranking Republican, prompted charges of "political overkill" against the President and threatened to shatter the delicate coalition of Republicans and southern Democrats that supported two previous impeachment articles by large margins.

Pro-impeachment forces stood to lose several pivotal Republicans over the issue, as well as Democrat Walter Flowers of Alabama.

The committee previously had favored by 27 to 11 Nixon's impeachment for obstructing justice in the Watergate cover-up; and by 28 to 10 for abusing his powers of office to violate the constitutional rights of private citizens.

The first vote Saturday night, however, assured that Nixon would be the first president since 1868, and only the second in American history, to face impeachment proceedings on the House floor.

The Judiciary Committee's sixth day of public impeachment debate was devoted to individual members' proposed charges against Nixon. These included the secret Cambodian bombing, underpayment of taxes and government expenditures for improvements to his San Clemente and Key Biscayne properties, and impoundment of congressionally authorized funds.

In supporting his proposed indictment of Nixon for defying four committee tape subpoenas, McClory said the "prime example of 'stonewalling' is right here." He and some Democrats argued that the impeachment provision of the Constitution would be a dead letter should Congress permit Nixon to decide what evidence he could withhold.

"This is really overkill," complained Rep. Charles W. Sandman, R-N.J., a staunch Nixon defender who was joined by Railsback, a pro-impeachment Republican.

"This committee has somehow developed a rather fragile, bipartisan support" for the first two impeachment articles, Railsback said. "This would be political overkill, and you watch what happens to your fragile coalition."

Rep. Charles E. Wiggins, R-Calif., said "those who voted for the first two articles cannot have their cake and eat it too." He said it was inconsistent to vote for impeachment twice on the basis of evidence, and then claim Nixon must be impeached because the evidence was inadequate.

Other Republicans said the committee should have joined Watergate Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski in taking the subpoena issue to the Supreme Court for a decision. But McClory and his backers said the House's constitutional impeachment powers, and its right to evidence, were unchallenged.

"The power of impeachment given Congress must be considered absolute," said Rep. Wayne Owens, D-Utah. "Congress must say to future presidents that impeachment is automatic if the President stonewalls Congress and refuses to yield evidence."

McClory voted for the abuse of powers article last night after he successfully argued in private conversations with the Democrats that a proposed contempt of Congress charge be removed and offered separately.

Under questioning, he said his charge could be dropped — even at the time of a Senate trial — if Nixon surrendered the subpoenaed evidence.

By a vote of 24 to 14, the committee amended McClory's article with language proposed by Rep. Ray Thornton, D-Ark., who said he wanted to limit it strictly to the impeachment issue.

"If we draw too broadly upon our power and authority," Thornton said, "we might distort the balance of power and give the legislative branch under its impeachment clause the authority to continually investigate and determine the actions of members of the executive or judicial branches of government."

The amended article charged that Nixon "willfully disobeyed" four committee subpoenas dated April 11, May 15 and 30, and June 24 "without lawful cause or excuse."

It charged that Nixon, "substituting his judgment as to

Students Feel Loan Cutbacks

Federal funds for aid to students at College of Marin have been cut drastically this year, college officials said today.

Administrators in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare gave no reason for the cuts, Irwin P. Diamond, college president said today.

They only said the local college can apply again and may be eligible if there are more funds available later.

In the meantime, many needy students at the College of Marin will not receive grants, loans or work-study program money, according to Elaine Overton, new director of financial aid at the college.

She said some 700 students have applied for aid, but that only from 200 to 300 will receive help, and much of that at a lower level than last year.

"There will be lesser sums for fewer students," she said.

Last year about 350 students received federal aid at the college.

There are three federal programs in which aid is given.

The heaviest funding is in the work-study program, in which the federal money pays up to 80 per cent of a student's salary. This program has been cut 37 per cent, down to $32,078 from last year's figure of $50,706.

Supplementary education grants (money which does not have to be repaid and which is given to students with the most need) have been cut 23 per cent, down to $15,131 from last year's $19,590.

The third program is direct student loans, which also was cut 37 per cent. Last year the federal government allotted $16,555 to the College of Marin and this year, only $10,504.

Local students still may apply to banks for federally insured 7 per cent interest rate student loans, Mrs. Overton said, but she added that many banks discriminate against older students in these loans.

She called "totally unfair" the practice of some banks which refuse student loans to students who are more than 25 or 26 years old. This policy is very hard on the large numbers of middle-aged women who wish to gain an education and reenter the job market, she said.

Some banks also refuse loans to first-time freshmen, she said, and also require that applicants have had deposits in their banks for six months or more.

Diamond said, though, he thought banks soon will change some of these policies since "college student populations are different than they used to be" with many more older students.

San Quentin Inmate Stabbed During Fight

A San Quentin inmate was reported in stable condition today in prison hospital, after being stabbed in a five-man fight yesterday in the exercise yard of the prison's high security south block. Another man received minor injuries.

All five were in high security confinement because they were known as "behavior problems," according to prison information officer Darrow W. Smith.

Bruce Burk, 27, of San Diego County, suffered a six-inch gash on the right side of his neck. He is serving six to 10 years for possession of marijuana.

Leslie Samples, 25, of Los Angeles County, suffered minor abrasions. He was treated at the hospital and was returned to his cell. He is serving two terms of five years to life for armed robbery.

The three other unidentified inmates were detained for questioning. Two razor blades were recovered and are considered possible weapons in the fight.

Burk's injury brings the total of stabbings at the prison to 43 this year, five of them fatal, Smith said.

Nixon Sees Vindication In House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon passed word today he firmly believes that after individual House members weigh the evidence, he will not be impeached.

Gerald L. Warren, deputy White House press secretary, said he was reflecting Nixon's personal views in telling reporters that the President does not agree with some of his supporters who are conceding the House will vote impeachment.

Warren said Nixon is confident "individual members of the House will weigh the evidence" and not vote for impeachment.

"Our confidence is firm," said Warren.

Warren said Nixon's position is "very clear" that he will go down to the constitutional wire, in a Senate trial if necessary, to defend himself.

Rep. Edward Hutchinson of Michigan, ranking Republican of the House Judiciary Committee, predicted yesterday that the House would impeach the President.

"We do not agree with those who are conceding the House of Representatives," said Warren.

Dean Sentencing Is Scheduled Friday

WASHINGTON (UPI) — John W. Dean III, the former White House counsel who became President Nixon's chief accuser and a key figure in the impeachment inquiry, will be sentenced Friday for his part in the Watergate cover-up.

A spokesman for the U.S. District Court announced today that Judge John J. Sirica would impose sentence on the 34-year-old Dean, who pleaded guilty Oct. 19 to a single count of conspiracy to obstruct justice.

He could receive as much as five years in prison and a fine of $10,000.

Obtaining Dean's guilty plea was the last major act of Archibald Cox before he was fired as special Watergate prosecutor by Nixon Oct. 20 in the so-called "Saturday night massacre" that triggered the House impeachment inquiry.

In striking the bargain, Cox let Dean plead guilty to a single conspiracy count in return for his testimony as a government witness before the Watergate grand juries and at criminal trials arising out of the scandals.

Dean's testimony is believed to have been a major factor in the indictment of other former high Nixon aides.

Fire Board Adopts Budget

A $1,669,360 budget for fiscal 1974-75 was adopted last night by the Novato Fire Protection District board.

The budget is more than double the $802,975 budget for last fiscal year.

The board set the tax rate at $1.17 per $100 assessed valuation, or 46 cents more than the 71 cent rate of last year.

The increase was approved by the voters in the June 4 primary election.

The budget calls for $927,502 in salaries, $546,289 for capital outlay and $201,688 in maintenance.

Blackstone Canyon Purchase Approved

The Marinwood Community Services District Board last night approved purchase of scenic Blackstone Canyon as open space.

Board members agreed to pay $110,000 for the 25-acre parcel at the end of Blackstone and Valleystone drives, according to Genevieve T. Bolding, district manager.

The bulk of the land is owned by Julius T. Selinger, although several other landowners are involved in the purchase, she said.

Funds for the acquisition will come from the district's $600,000 open space bond issue approved by voters in 1972. The board had previously spent $322,000 of the fund for purchase of about 160 acres, she noted.

She said the canyon is often used by local school districts for outdoor activities and nature hikes.

In other business, the board approved plans for a pedestrian bridge to span Miller Creek.

The board next meets at 8 p.m. tomorrow to consider employee pay hikes, she said.

GREEK PRISONERS — Some of the 1,750 Turkish Cypriot prisoners of war tried to find shelter from the hot sun yesterday in and around their makeshift tents in the soccer stadium at Limassol, Cyprus, where they are being held. Negotiators Resume Talks Aimed At Peace On Cyprus

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

The foreign ministers of Britain, Greece and Turkey returned to the conference table today in Geneva, and conference sources said an agreement to end the Cyprus crisis appeared near despite complicating factors in Ankara and on Cyprus.

The government-controlled Athens radio announced that an agreement had been reached in Geneva between Greece and Turkey but Greek Foreign Minister George Mavros said, "No, that is false, completely false." But he said, "The level of hope does not change."

Mavros and Turkish Foreign Minister Turan Gunes emerged from the morning meeting with British Foreign Secretary James Callaghan arm in arm. They went together into a side room and talked alone for several minutes. Then Mavros left and the two men shook hands warmly.

Asked whether an agreement would be signed this afternoon, Mavros replied:

"Not yet. There are still some serious problems. But the fact that we are here leaves hopes."

The ministers agreed to meet again, with their military advisers, at 3 p.m. (10 a.m. EDT).

Conference sources said agreement appeared close but there still remained the prickly questions of fixing buffer zones on Cyprus and a demarcation line to separate the Greek and Turkish Cypriots.

In Ankara, Turkish Premier Bulent Ecevit rejected Greek demands the Turkish invasion force pull back to the July 22 cease-fire lines. On Cyprus, the Turks landed more men and material, halted U.N. patrols and sent a regiment of troops backed by armor and artillery to positions from which they could seize the road to Nicosia from Greek Cypriots.

The meeting of the foreign ministers was the first since their marathon all-night session Sunday. Conference delegates said even the fact they sat down together again appeared to be a good sign.

They saw another hopeful sig in the fact that Mavros twice cancelled a news conference he had scheduled this morning when it appeared the talks would fail. He did so in order to continue the peace talks.

Callaghan, again playing the role of go-between and mediator, held two long private meetings with Mavros and one with Gunes before the ministers sat down together.

Greek and Turkish officials said Callaghan passed on to Mavros new Turkish proposals on the critical issue of withdrawal of Turkish troops from Cyprus.

This has been the most difficult issue since the talks began last Thursday and more than once appeared likely to wreck the conference and any chances of a peace settlement. Conference delegates earlier said today's meetings could well prove crucial.

Callaghan arrived at the Palais des Nations, the United Nations European headquarters building, before 9 a.m. (4 a.m. EDT). Soon afterwards he held his first meeting with Mavros in the British delegation office.

Mavros stayed nearly one hour. Then Gunes came in and talked with Callaghan for 45 minutes. Then Mavros returned for another discussion.

Finally, just after noon, all three met.

The Turkish premier has made it clear he would insist that Turkish troops remain on Cyprus to protect the rights of the minority Turkish Cypriots.

Reinecke Determined To Remain In Office

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke has vowed to stay in office despite his perjury conviction, but the state attorney general says research is under way to determine if he will have to be forced to step down.

A formal opinion will be issued within a week, Attorney General Evelle Younger said yesterday.

In Washington, Reinecke said, "I have no intention of resiging unless it's necessary under state law."

Reinecke, who was preparing to return to Sacramento, said he would not take a leave of absence while his case is being appealed, a process that may take up to a year.

He met yesterday with James R. Pace, chief probation officer for the U.S. District Court in Washington. No restrictions have been placed on Reinecke's movements except that he may not leave the country.

Reinecke was convicted Saturday of lying to the Senate Judiciary Committee in the ITT investigation. He appealed the Washington, D.C., jury verdict and sentencing has been set for Aug. 30.

Younger told a Beverly Hills news conference yesterday he will render the opinion within a week.

He said he was asked by Gov. Ronald Reagan yesterday to render an opinion in the case but said the law covering removal of state officers is somewhat hazy.

Women Ordained Priests In Stormy Ceremony

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Ignoring threats of disciplinary action and vocal protests from a group of priests in the audience, four Episcopal bishops yesterday ordained 11 women as the first female priests in the history of the church.

A standing-room-only crowd packed into a sweltering church in North Philadelphia to watch the ceremony, which had been condemned by the Episcopal Church on grounds it violated church law.

In a statement issued during the ceremony, Bishop Lyman C. Ogilby of the Diocese of Pennsylvania, who refused to sanction the services, said those participating were "subjecting themselves to such appropriate action as may later be determined by the church.

The ordination was performed by the Rt. Rev. Robert L. DeWitt, former bishop of Pennsylvania; the Rt. Rev. Edward R. Welles II, former bishop of West Missouri; the Rev. Daniel Corrigan, former head of Domestic Missions for the Church; and the Rt. Rev. Antonio Ramos, bishop of Costa Rica.

The two-hour service was punctuated by loud weeping, applause, cheering and shouts of "amen" as well as boos and catcalls when five priests in the audience rose to oppose the ordination.

"This is the last time you can be called bishops," said the Rev. George Rutler of Rosemont, Pa. "We are not gaining 11 priests, but we are losing four bishops."

The Rev. Charles Osborn, executive director of the American Church Union, said the "alleged ordination" was "theologically, eccesiastically and canonically void."

Three Plead Innocent To Two Counts

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Three men charged with bribery and conspiracy along with Florida Republican Sen. Edward Gurney pleaded innocent to the charges yesterday.

Entering pleas were Earl (Duke) Crittenden, an Orlando citrus grower and former state Republican chairman; and former Housing and Urban Development (HUD) officials Ralph Koontz of Jacksonville, and Wayne Swiger of Tampa, Fla.

Gurney, who withdrew his reelection candidacy this month, is named in seven of 11 counts of an indictment returned by a federal grand jury July 10. He has pleaded innocent to charges of bribery, conspiracy and perjury.

Arraignment is still pending for former State Republican Party Treasurer George Anderson, Orlando, and former Gurney aides James L. Groot, Washington, and Joseph Bastien, Winter Park, Fla.

No trial date has been set for any of the seven.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Lindbergh In New York Hospital

NEW YORK (UPI) — Pioneer aviator Charles A. Lindbergh Jr., 72, first man to cross the Atlantic alone in an airplane, was reported in good condition today in Columbia Presbyterian Hospital, where he was admitted one week ago.

Lindbergh

"He had a good night and he's in good condition," hospital spokesman said.

Lindbergh reportedly is suffering from influenza and was forced to cancel a scheduled appearance Sunday at the Midwestern Governor's Conference in Minneapolis because of his illness.

Lindbergh flew his monoplane, the Spirit of St. Louis, nonstop from New York to Paris in May of 1927 in 33½ hours.

Chrysler Earnings

DETROIT (UPI) — The Chrysler Corp. yesterday reported worldwide earnings during the first six months of this year fell 85.9 per cent from the record figures of a year ago.

Lynn Townsend, chairman of the smallest of the "Big Three" automakers, and President John Riccardo said Chrysler's earnings of $29.4 million for the first six months this year, compared with a record $198.4 million last year, reflected the difficult economic conditions for the auto industry worldwide.

General Motors, the industry giant, announced last Friday its first-half earnings dropped almost 74 per cent to $426 million from the comparable 1973 period — the lowest earnings for the period in 16 years.

Ford Motor Co., the other member of the big three, will issue its first half report tomorrow.

A Flour Bomb

LONDON (UPI) — A 17-year old girl hurled a bag of flour at Britain's former prime minister, Edward Heath, today and hit him squarely on the back of the neck, covering him with flour.

Heath, unruffled, strode calmly into the Excelsior Hotel at London Airport for a champagne party welcoming the British rugby football team from a controversial playing tour in South Africa.

DaNang Threat

SAIGON (UPI) — The government rushed in troops and heavy artillery today in an effort to stem a growing threat to Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city, by North Vietnamese forces who launched a major attack on the nearby town of Thuong Duc and appeared on the brink of overrunning it.

Field reports said the government reinforcements were three miles below Thuong Duc where two government outposts were attacked under cover of heavy artillery, rocket and mortar fire. The reports said Thuong Duc, 25 miles southwest of Da Nang, could fall at any time.

End To Rule

LISBON (UPI) — People sang in the streets of Lisbon today and Portuguese and guerrilla soldiers in Mozambique laid down their guns for the first time in more than a decade.

Thousands of wild singing, banner waving people chanted their support of Portugal's president who declared an end to 500 years of Portuguese rule in Africa.

About 15,000 demonstrators milled outside the pink-walled presidential palace of Belem shouting approval of President Antonio De Spinolas.

Out Of Hospital

MADRID (UPI) — Generalissimo Francisco Franco left a Madrid hospital today on the arms of two doctors for what medical sources said could be a long convalescence from a circulatory ailment.

The 81-year-old ruler placed the power of Spain in the hands of Prince Juan Carlos, his hand picked hair, three weeks ago when his condition was listed as serious.

Beirut Clashes

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Palestinian guerrillas using mortars, rockets and grenades battled on the outskirts of Beirut today with Lebanese rightists demanding an end to commando control over refugee camps.

Witnesses said fresh fighting broke out at dawn in the suburb of Dikwaneh after a night of guerrilla-rightist clashes in which at least three persons were injured. The fighting continued through the morning.

In Tel Aviv, Israel warned of a possible new Middle East war this year and raised the threat of a first strike if the Arabs set the state for a conflict.

Lt. Gen. Mordechai Gur, Israel's military commander, said yesterday "the question of whether there will be war by the end of the summer is bothering us."

Protest Takeovers

LIMA (UPI) — Angry students roamed the streets near Lima today, setting fire to a bus and smashing bank windows during protests against the government takeover of Peru's major independent newspapers.

Hundreds of middle class Peruvians jumped in their cars and took to the streets in a horn-honking demonstration against the government, shouting "Elections!" and "Free Press!"

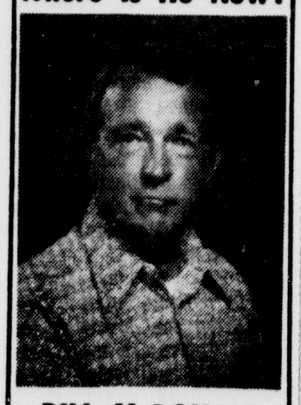

Police fired tear gas and warning shots to disperse the bands of students. The number of arrests was not known.

Round For Hughes

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Howard Hughes has almost certainly escaped a second indictment for stock manipulation in a case that brought the U.S. attorney for Nevada into open conflict with orders from Washington not to bring charges against Hughes.

The federal grand jury reported to U.S. District Judge Roger Roley yesterday that it had returned no indictments in the billionaire's acquisition of Air West Airlines.

Connally Pledges An All-Out Fight

HOUSTON (UPI) — Former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally, indicted on charges of accepting $10,000 in bribes and lying to a grand jury about it, stood at the door of his spacious, vine-covered home and vowed to fight the charges "with every resource I have."

The Watergate grand jury, in a 90-second proceeding in open court, submitted the indictment to Chief U.S. District Judge George L. Hart Jr. in Washington yesterday.

Connally, 57, was charged with two counts of accepting bribes to influence a 1971 increase in milk price supports, one count of conspiracy to commit perjury and obstruct justice, and two counts of making false declarations before the grand jury.

The charges carry a maximum penalty of 19 years in prison and $50,000 in fines.

Connally was at his ranch in Floresville, Tex., yesterday morning when he was told of the indictment. He returned to his home in Houston, where he is a partner in the law firm of Vinson, Elkins, Searls, Connally and Smith.

"I again deny that I am guilty of any wrongdoing and I am confident that I will be completely vindicated on these charges," the silver-haired former Texas governor said.

"I'll fight this with every resource I have. I will win because the right is on our side. I have no plans other than what I have had."

Connally served three terms as governor of Texas and was one of the most popular Democrats in the state.

"I don't know that I ever had any chances for the nomination, but this sure hasn't helped them any," Connally said yesterday. "But let's wait and see."

The grand jury also indicted Connally's Texas colleague, Jake Jacobsen, 54, on one count of making an illegal payment to a public official, and named him an unindicted co-conspirator in the plot to cover up the bribe.

The maximum penalty would be two years and $10,000.

End Of AC Transit Bus Strike Is Near

OAKLAND (UPI) — A tentative agreement has been reached in a 30-day strike against the Alameda-Contra Costa (AC) transit system and officials expect buses to start hauling 200,000 daily riders by Thursday.

The agreement signaling the end of the strike was announced yesterday after a 21-hour negotiating session.

The terns of the agreement between the company and Amalgamated Transit Union Local 192 were not announced pending a ratification meeting tomorrow by union members.

"We're pretty happy with the package," said Local President Ed Cordeiro. "I can happily say that we can firmly recommend it to our membership."

A spokesman for the company said the buses have been run daily by supervisors to keep the vehicles in shape to roll.

"All the buses are ready," he said. "The only thing we need is the people back to take them out."

The union represents 1,288 bus drivers, 220 mechanics and 148 clerical workers employed by the line that serves routes in Alameda and Contra Costa counties in the East Bay and across the bay to San Francisco.

The walkout idled a fleet of 800 buses, forcing commuters to seek other means of transportation.

The drivers had been making $6.26 an hour under the old contract that expired June 30.

One of the major disagreements was retention of a cost-of- living clause from the old pact that had resulted in a 34 per cent pay increase in the last two years.

The company said the cost-of-living clause would result in another 41-cent an hour increase and maintained its drivers already had the highest pay rate in the nation.

At one point in the walkout, strikers marched on the company headquarters and burst into the offices of AC chief Alan Bingham in an effort to force him to take a more active role in negotiations. Three plate glass windows were broken but no arrests were made.

Bingham took part in the talks for the first time yesterday. However, he was not directly involved in the negotiations but met with management negotiators during caucuses.

The strikers claimed that his representatives did not have sufficient authority to negotiate.

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Top Senate Democrats and Republicans firmly oppose a bid by another Democratic lawmaker to oust Senate President Pro Tem James R. Mills of San Diego.

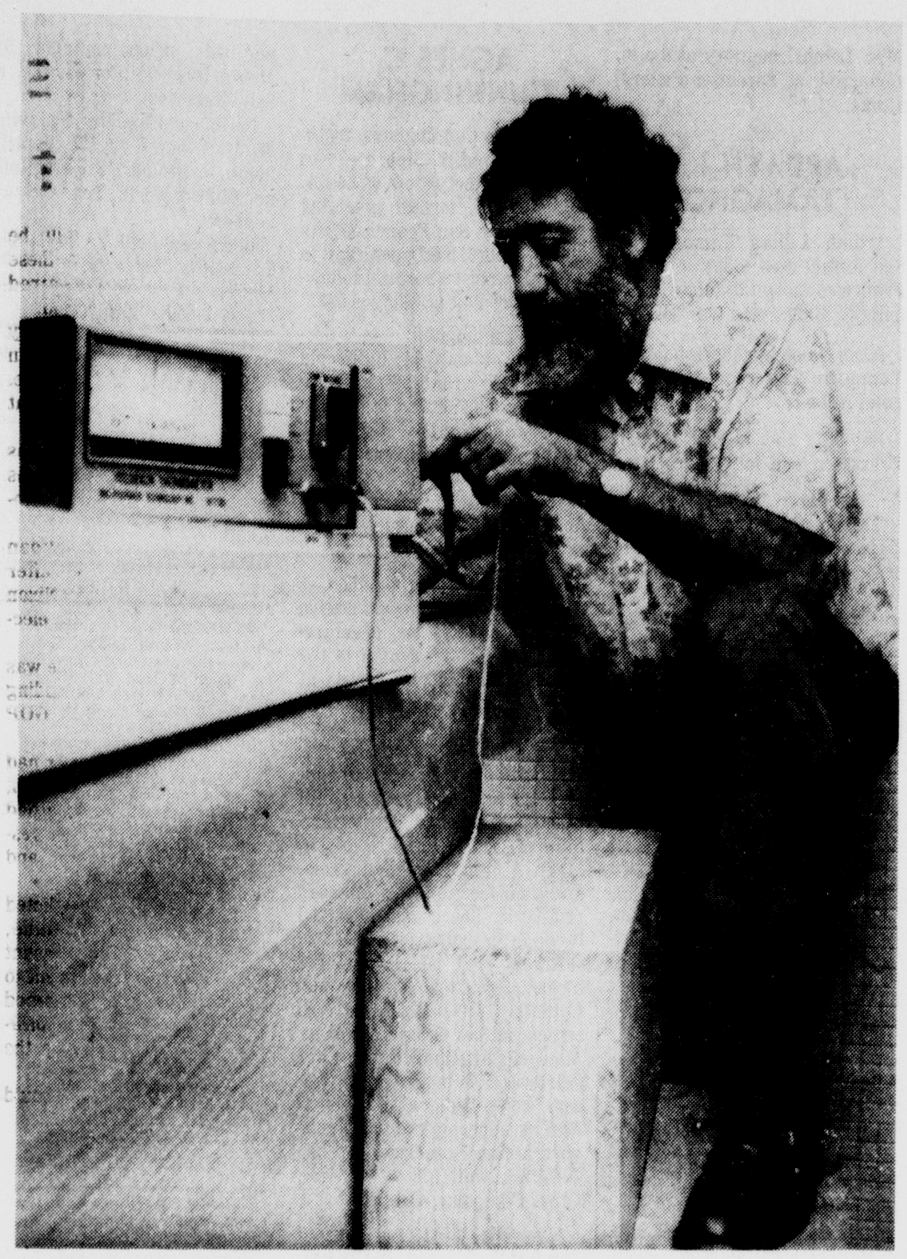

They threatened Sen. George N. Zenovich, D-Fresno, with possible loss of his seat on the powerful rules committee if he presses his effort to remove Mills from the leadership position.

Leaders of both parties were interviewed yesterday about the long-simmering contest between Mills and Zenovich. Lawmakers return to the Capitol in six days and the matter could surface this month.

'METAPSYCHIATRY'

A Psychiatrist With New Ways

By LEW CODDINGTON

It is hard to be sure at first glance that Dr. G. Warren Kleinmaier of Kentfield is a psychiatrist. Judging by his office he could be a botanist, an electronics repairman or a carpenter.

As one steps through the leafy foliage of his outer room, past pieces of equipment sitting discreetly by the wall, and over boards and tools in the hallway, one searches in vain for the stereotypical couch of the conventional psychiatrist.

But if Kleinmaier's decor is unusual, his ideas are even more so. He is exploring the hazy borderline between psychiatry and mysticism, an area he calls "metapsychiatry."

"Mystical experiences are very real, and to deny them is very limiting," he says. "Even scientists sometimes run away from this. But we need the courage to go towards the mysterious, to find what hidden truths are there.

"At the same time, we can't run away from the logical. We need to use the logical mind to bring the mystical into the light of day.

"What we're searching for is a bridge between science and spirit. We are focusing on self-realization and personal growth, and not necessarily just treating problems."

The area is largely uncharted (one publication insists he is "the world's first metapsychiatrist") and Kleinmaier has been exploring it only four months. He has yet to publish his findings.

Kleinmaier makes heavy use of biofeedback equipment in his work. The instruments, which look at a glance like ordinary stereo amplifiers, keep track of a client's brain waves while Kleinmaier observes.

Kleinmaier says he is especially fascinated by the theta brain wave state, normally found in persons on the borderline between waking and sleep. "It's associated with creativity, but we don't know exactly how yet," he says.

With careful coaching, he guides clients into this tranquil state, then listens to their observations when they emerge. He encourages them to write their thoughts in notebooks.

The leafy outer office, which he calls an "Eden-like room," creates the mellow, non-clinical atmosphere needed for activity like this, Kleinmaier believes.

Other props aid his search. In a back room is a Lilly tank, completely insulated and dark, filled with warm salt water Psychiatrist John C. Lilly started 20 years ago that a person floating in this atmosphere, sealed off from distractions, could look deeply into his own head.

Kleinmaier also is assembling libraries of books and tapes, from thinkers as diverse as Baba Ram Dass and S.I. Hayakawa. Other projects are in the offing.

"People aren't really expecting this kind of approach," Kleinmaier says. "I have to expose them in stages. They say, 'Yeah, well, I hadn't exactly thought of it that way, but yeah, that's the way it should be, so let's go toward it.' The reaction is primarily positive."

About three-quarters of his clients come to him seeking help on specific problems, but that is changing, Kleinmaier says. More and more are seeking "nonproblem-oriented enhancement of human potential." A group, called "Regenesis," is one example.

Kleinmaier's movement toward "metapsychiatry" was gradual. Now 51, he was originally a pediatrician, which led him into child psychiatry and eventually to other psychiatry. He was psychiatrist for three years at San Quentin Prison until fired last year.

Kleinmaier was fired after he was reassigned by the prison's chief psychiatrist to the prison adjustment center and refused to report for duty there. Kleinmaier said he did not want to conduct a "program of therapy through a porthole," in the center where many of the prison's most troublesome inmates are held).

He is reluctant to speak about his own mystical experiences, partly because he doesn't want the tag "nut" applied to him or his work, and partly because he refuses to see the mystical as unusual. "They are the natural outcome of organic development over time," he says, "not sudden, foreign or imposed."

And the thing to do with them, since they are there, is to use the powers of science to explore them.

GARDEN OF EDEN — In the leafy, restful "Eden-like room" of psychiatrist G. Warren Kleinmaier of Kentfield, a client, Lynda Berkley, uses biofeedback equipment to bring on the tranquil theta brain wave state associated with creativity.

Brown And Flournoy Agree To Limit Campaign Costs

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Democratic and Republican candidates for governor of the nation's most populous state have agreed to spending limits on political advertising, including television spots, and to a series of six debates.

The agreement by Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr., the Democratic candidate, and Controller Houston Flournoy, the Republican nominee, was announced yesterday.

It sets up detailed procedures for the six debates, channelling broadcasts for the most part away from large-audience stations in heavily populated areas, possibly reducing their impact.

Brown, given the lead in the polls, negotiated from the stronger position, with Flournoy pushing for more debates and exposure to build his position. The conditions on format were seen as reflecting Brown's reluctance to gamble his lead.

But the Brown camp pointed out that he could well have held down the number of debates.

Brown's campaign manager, Tom Quinn, said Brown was still "going beyond what we had to do politically" in agreeing to six debates, and that if Brown insisted on fewer, it would probably not harm him much.

Flournoy campaign manager Doug Kranwinkle said the Brown camp "had us over a barrel" and indicated the Republican contender was satisfied with the bargain struck.

The candidate agreed to a $900,000 apiece limit on advertising, including a $750,000 ceiling on radio and television spots, and a $100,000 maximum for newspaper and periodical advertising. The total limit also includes money spent on billboards, statewide mailings and recorded telephone messages.

Although voters gave 3-1 approval in the primary to an election control initiative, Proposition 9, it has not yet taken effect.

Brown and Flournoy decided that it would be impossible to set up, by themselves, the policing machinery that will oversee future campaigns under the provisions of the initiative, and so other spending areas will not be controlled. These include staff expenses, telephone and printing bills, direct mailings to less than 500,000 persons and office costs.

Lecture Slated

Chiropractor Stephen A. Duff will lecture on chiropractics at 8 p.m. Thursday at the American Legion Log Cabin in San Anselmo and will show a film from the University of Colorado on advanced research.

Outgoing Economic Advisor Says Inflation Battle Far From Over

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Herbert Stein, outgoing chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, said today the main weapons in the fight against rising inflation must continue to be limiting both the money supply and government spending.

In testimony before Congress' Joint Economic Committee, Stein said the inflation battle may be longer and harder than expected, partly because of what he said was failure of everyone to appreciate the intensity that tends to feed on itself.

He said the rates of increase in food and oil prices were abating, and that this would lead to a lower rate of inflation later in the year.

"But it must be admitted that prices outside the food and fuel areas spurted more than many, including us, expected and our estimate of the inflation rate at the end of 1974 is higher than it once was, although we continue to believe it will be significantly lower than in the first half of the year," Stein said.

He contended the administration was now on the right course and should stick with it.

"The instruments for restraining demand are well known — chiefly limiting the increase of the money supply and the increase of government spending. They must be out in reliance."

Vice President Gerald R. Ford said meanwhile that "I'm worried about interest rates" and said he hoped the Federal Reserve Board might ease its tight money policy once "it sees that there is an honest-to-goodness effort being made in fiscal policy."

In an interview published in Dun's Review, Ford opposed a tax increase, as have others in the administration, while urging spending cuts.

Hypnotist Faces Mental Testing

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — Nightclub hypnotist Ronald Dante, former husband of actress Lana Turner, yesterday was ordered to undergo an examination for mental competence, postponing his trial for attempted murder.

Dante's attorney requested the mental examination. The order by Superior Court Judge Robert Buchanan automatically delays Dante's trial, which had been scheduled to begin today.

Why have only one condominium when you can have three? Or more?

Condominium Plus Club

The Condominium Plus Club is a unique plan that allows you condominium usage at a variety of destination resort locations through the purchase of only one condominium developed by Destination Resort Corporation. Thus, if you buy a DRC condominium at Lake Tahoe, Nevada, the option to join the Condominium Plus Club is yours, and the opportunity to use one at Palm Desert, California, or at Aspen, Colorado, is a bonus.

Specifically, here's how it works: You own a condominium at Coeur du Lac, Lake Tahoe, and want to ski for a week at Aspen or play tennis for a month at Palm Desert. You simply notify DRC. And for a fraction of what you would pay to rent, they'll make your reservations and schedule a luxurious condominium for you (and additional rooms for friends and business meetings, if you wish) in the resort area you select.

This unique experience in multiple resort living is the first plan of its kind that allows you all the benefits of individual, private ownership, plus the availability of a variety of exciting vacation areas. DRC has acquired a new property at Park City, Utah, and is currently investigating an additional resort project in Hawaii for inclusion into the Condominium Plus Club.

Coeur du Lac Lake Tahoe, Nevada

The luxurious condominiums at Coeur du Lac are located in Incline Village, only one and a half blocks from the most beautiful lake in North America and nestled among the majestic Sierra Nevadas. Spring, summer, winter, fall – Coeur du Lac is the perfect resort paradise where you can swim, play tennis, golf, ski, sun, boat, fish and horseback ride to your heart's content.

Residences range in size from one to four bedrooms and are constructed the traditional way with hand craftsmanship and quality materials throughout. Each unit features exterior cedar siding, redwood panelling on dining and living room walls, open beam ceilings, fireplaces and exterior decks. Excellent financing is available.

READY FOR OCCUPANCY

One member of the Marin County Fire Department raises the American flag while another crew member inspects the new Woodacre firehouse in preparation for the department's occupancy today. The $150,000 two-story structure built at the intersection of Railroad Avenue and Carson Road will house the department's administrative offices and living quarters for 25 men including dining room and training area. An old firehouse on the three-acre site will be torn down once the move is completed.

Water Contract On Board Agenda

Marin Municipal Water District directors, meeting at 1 p.m. tomorrow, will decide whether finally to approve an agreement to bring 4,300 acre feet of water annually to the district.

At its last meeting the district board tentatively approved a contract with the North Marin County Water District for water through the proposed North Marin intertie between the two districts.

The contract will, among other things, permit Marin Municipal to import Russian River water through North Marin's lines once the intertie pipeline is built.

Directors will meet in the district office in Corte Madera.

Defense Mapping Insanity Case

ATLANTA (UPI) — An attorney for William A.H. Williams, accused in the kidnaping of Atlanta Constitution editor Reg Murphy, prepared the basis for an insanity defense as Williams' trial opened yesterday.

After failing to gain approval to move the federal court trial out of Atlanta because of the publicity the case has received, attorney Tyrus Atkinson had the judge ask each potential juror whether he respected psychiatric testimony and could acquit an offender proved insane.

Twenty-eight of the 34 prospective jurors questioned yesterday were approved for the panel from which a 12-member jury and two alternates will be drawn. Questioning of prospective jurors was to continue today.

Navy League Opens Meeting

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Navy League opened a four-day meeting today at the Fairmont Hotel with registration of about 1000 members from throughout the country.

The board of directors of the civilian organization promoting Navy interests was scheduled to meet in private late today in advance of the League's opening general session tomorrow.

A number of resolutions were being studied by the Resolutions Committee of the League at a closed meeting, and a reception was scheduled for tonight.

Hub Chamber Fills Vacancy

Donald A. Duerr, member of the Marinwood Community Services District Board, is new vice president of the San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce.

Other chamber officers are Helen Dellwig, president; James F. Reed, past president; Joan Vivaldo, treasurer, and Esther M. Dearth, secretary-manager.

Impeachment Asked On Contempt Charge

what materials were necessary for the inquiry, interposed the powers of the presidency against the lawful subpoenas of the House of Representatives, thereby assuming to himself functions and judgments necessary to the exercise of the sole power of impeachment vested by the Constitution in the House of Representatives."

For this, the article said, Nixon should be impeached by the House, tried by the Senate and removed from office.

Rep. Henry P. Smith, R-N.Y., who opposes impeachment, raised another issue when he said Nixon's refusal to honor the subpoenas carried "at least the implications of the 5th Amendment, in which the accused is not required to testify against himself."

Also likely to come to a vote today was a proposed article on Nixon's $432,000 underpayment of taxes and use of government money to improve his homes.

Its sponsor, Rep. Edward Mezvinsky, D-Iowa, said he believed he had 17 Democratic votes and might get the four Republican votes necessary for a winning majority of 21.

Deputy White House Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren gave the same response to yesterday's committee vote as the White House had made to the first article of impeachment, voted Saturday: "We're confidant the facts do not support the article and we're confident the House will assess the facts and not vote out impeachment."

The impeachment article adopted yesterday:

Accused Nixon of trying to use income tax information for political ends and to harass "enemies" with tax audits. Opponents pointed out no such audits were conducted because IRS commissioners — appointed by Nixon — objected.

Charged Nixon ordered wiretaps with no national security purpose, in violation of the law written by the Judiciary Committee in 1968. It requires the attorney general's approval even for wiretaps undertaken to forestall foreign attack or revolution.

Condemned Nixon's creation of the "plumbers" and their break-in to find damaging facts about Pentagon Papers defendant Daniel Ellsberg as wrong, and impeachable.

Alleged he "knowingly" misused the FBI, CIA and Justice Department, and interfered with Archibald Cox, who was fired last October as special prosecutor for suing for access to Nixon's tapes.

At yesterday's hearing, no mention was made of another blow to Nixon's defense — the indictment on charges of bribery, perjury and obstruction of justice of former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally Jr., whom Nixon once described as one of the most admirable men in America.

The House Rules Committee was meeting today to decide whether the House impeachment debate — expected to start in about two weeks and to last about two weeks — would be televised.

Television is usually forbidden in the House. If the House impeaches, the Senate trial is expected to be televised under rules which would permit cameras to focus only on the defense, the prosecution and witnesses, not to pan over the whole Senate chamber.

Suspect Is Held In Home Burglary

San Anselmo police yesterday arrested a 25-year-old Portland, Ore., man on suspicion of first degree burglary following the looting of a local residence.

Arthur V. Hatter was booked into Marin County Jail and held in lieu of $10,000 bail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Police said Hatter was arrested on a city street after thieves smashed a window of a home on San Anselmo Avenue and took prescription pills and a revolver. Pills and a revolver were found in Hatter's possession, police said.

Hatter was arrested on suspicion of burglary while armed with a deadly weapon and in violation of probation.

Some Long Distance Calls Do Not Move

Operator-assisted long distance calls were temporarily out of order in two-thirds of Marin County today between 10:30 a.m. and 11 a.m., Rob Leigh, Manager of Pacific Telephone's San Rafael branch reported.

Leigh said the problem in placing inter-county calls stemmed from a mechanical failure in the company's main switching center in San Francisco.

Prison Siege In Texas Continues

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (UPI) — In the seventh day of his siege at the Texas State Penitentiary, Fred Gomez Carrasco today offered to release his 13 captives in return for five prison officials, who he said "are playing a poker game with the lives of these hostages."

Kathy Ann Pollard, 24, daughter of one of the hostages, had a telephone talk with the renegade convict and she said he discarded demands for additional weapons. But she said he was firm in his demands for bulletproof vests refused by prison officials.

"I want my mother out of there," said Miss Pollard, daughter of Novella Pollard, 46, a prison schoolteacher who has been held with the other hostages since the start of the takeover last Wednesday.

"If he doesn't get what he wants, he will kill them and make a blood bath out of this," she said.

Milk Funding Charges Filed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two partners in a computer-mail firm were charged today by Watergate prosecutors with misdemeanor counts of aiding and abetting the donation of $82,000 in corporation money from the milk producers to the campaigns of Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn.; Sen. James C. Abourezk, D-S.D., and others.

The partners, John Valentine and Norman Sherman, were named in a criminal information filed in U.S. District Court in St. Paul, Minn., and announced at the office of the Watergate special prosecution force in Washington.

The Valentine-Sherman partnership furnished computerized mailing lists paid for out of corporate funds by the nation's largest dairy cooperative, Associated Milk Producers Inc.,and used in a number of Democratic campaigns during the 1972 elections, the information charged.

Nixon's Aunt Supporting Him

LINDSAY (AP — President Nixon's 84-year-old aunt wonders: "Isn't there any champion for Richard in this whole country?"

"I'm not saying he is perfect; no one is," Jane Beeson said in an interview with the Fresno Bee at her central California home. "But I think he has the highest of motives in all that he has done for his country."

Mrs. Beeson, who helped teach Nixon to play the piano at age 12, says she, her family, friends and members of the Friends church here "love and are praying for Richard."

Sanitary Board Approves Budget

The Homestead Valley Sanitary District board last night approved a 1974-75 budget of $47,440, which will mean a 14-cent drop from last year's tax rate in the district of 64 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

The budget is about $4,000 less than last year's spending, board President James G. MacNichols said.

Last year's budget was slightly higher to pay for more improvements in sewer lines and equipment than are needed this year, he said.

Budget categories include: salaries $1,440; capital outlay, $16,000; maintenance, $6,000; upgrading sewer lines $12,000; secretarial expenses $3,000; studies $3,000, and improvements at Mill Valley sewage treatment plant $6,000.

OBITUARIES

Edward A. Robbins Dies At 75

Funeral for Edward A. Robbins, a 25-year Marin resident, will be Thursday at 2 p.m. at Russell and Gooch Funeral Home in Mill Valley.

Robbins, 75, died Sunday in a Placer County hospital following a long illness.

A native of New York, he came to California 30 years ago. At the time of death, he resided at 41 Plymouth Avenue, Mill Valley.

Robbins was an army veteran of World War I. Before retiring, he was federal auditor for 25 years.

He was a member of the Mill Valley Lodge No. 356, Free and Accepted Masons, the Mill Valley Chapter No. 108, Royal Arch Masons, and the White Shrine of San Rafael. He also was a past patron of the Eastern Star of Mill Valley.

Survivors include his wife of the family home; a daughter, Barbara Lenley of Eureka; a son, Edward S. Robbins of Agana, Guam; three grandchildren, and one great-granddaughter.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 8 a.m. tomorrow.

Burial will be private.

The family has asked that memorial gifts be made to the Shriners' Hospital in San Francisco.

JOSEPH GUNN

Private funeral has been held in Arizona for former Mill Valley resident Joseph R. Gunn, 73, who died in a Sun City, Ariz., hospital Saturday.

Gunn retired after 39 years of engineering service with the Standard Oil Co. of California. His last assignment was at the Richmond refinery.

He was born in Nashville, Tenn., but grew up in Dallas, Tex., earning a bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering at the University of Texas and then a master's degree at the University of California at Berkeley.

Gunn lived many years in Mill Valley and was a member of the city council at one time. He also was a life member and past post commander of the Mill Valley Post 284 of the American Legion and a life member of the 40 and 8 Society.

In Sun City, he was a member of the Boswell Hospital Volunteer Service and headed a hospital foundation campaign. He also was a deacon in the United Church of Sun City.

Gunn is survived by his wife; a son, Joseph R. Gunn III of Bangkok; a stepson, David S. Bartlett of San Jose; a stepdaughter, Mrs. Frank O. Merrill of San Rafael; four sisters, Mrs. Henry C. Fulcher of Wichita Falls, Tex.; Mrs. E. H. Scarborough of Dallas, Tex.; Mrs. John Keebler of Willows, and Mrs. R. L. Brickell of Alexandra, Va.; two brothers, Robert W. Gunn of Tiburon and Harold Gunn of Lincoln University, Penn., and seven grandchildren.

The family prefers memorial contributions to the Boswell Hospital Foundation or to the Sunshine Service, Sun City.

HARRIET LEMOS

Harriet (Ann) Lemos, a longtime Southern Sonoma resident, died yesterday in a Petaluma hospital after a brief illness. She was 67.

She was born in Berkeley and reared in Modesto.

Mrs. Lemos and her husband, John, who died in 1957, came to Petaluma 46 years ago. During those years she worked as a cook for several local families and for the old Tivoli restaurant. Her home was at 902½ Sunny Slope Road.

She was a member of a pioneer California family. Her grandparents, Capt. and Mrs. Volney Cushing were married in 1853 in San Francisco.

Mrs. Lemos for many years did volunteer work for the Hacienda Convalescent Hospital in Petaluma.

She was an honorary citizen of Father Flanigan's Boys' Town.

Mrs. Lemos is survived by a son, John Lemos of Santa Rosa; two daughters, Edith Ann Lemos of Folsom and Joan Marie Ensley of Canoga Park; a sister, Esther E. Robson of Pacific Grove, and five grandchildren.

Mass of Christian Burial will be at 11 a.m. Thursday at St. Vincent Catholic Church, Petaluma. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery.

The Rosary will be recited in Mrs. Lemos' memory at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Sorensen Funeral Home.

ARDATH L. TAMAGNO

Ardath Lillian Tamagno of San Rafael died today in a San Francisco hospital following a lengthy illness. She was 56.

In 1937, she moved to San Francisco and four years later married Claude Paul Tamagno.

The couple moved to 28 East Crescent Drive in San Rafael in 1954 where Mrs. Tamagno has lived ever since. Following her husband's death, 10 years ago, Mrs. Tamagno ran his liquor store for several years.

Mrs. Tamagno is survived by three sisters, Ruth Goodyear of Novato, Elizabeth Wedel of San Francisco, Laurel Babb of Wichita, Kan., and a brother, Donald Craig of Clear Lake, Lake County.

Memorial graveside service will be held Friday at 11 a.m. at Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael. Cremation will be private. Memorial contributions to the American Cancer Society are preferred by the family.

FREDERICK HELBERG

Frederick Charles Helberg of Sonoma, a former San Rafael resident, died yesterday in a Martinez hospital. He was 82.

He was a native of San Francisco and was reared in Sonoma where his parents were earlyday fruit ranchers. He moved to San Rafael 32 years ago, then returned to Sonoma in 1972.

Helberg was a wholesale grocery salesman until his retirement in 1964.

He served overseas in the Army in World War I and was a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Tamalpais Post No. 72 of San Rafael.

Helberg is survived by his wife, Bernice, of the family home; a daughter, Letty Dell'Era of San Rafael; two sons, Frederick C. Helberg Jr. of Pleasant Hill, and Lloyd Helberg of Forest Knolls; a sister, Marie Pinelle of Sonoma, 12 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Funeral will be at 2 p.m. Thursday at St. Paul's Episcopal Church in San Rafael.

The Tamalpais Post of the VFW will hold a memorial service at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael.

Burial will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

ANTOINETTE M. MOSUNIC

A Mass of Christian Burial will be held tomorrow at 9:30 a.m. for Antoinette M. Mosunic, sister of Rose Mosunich of Petaluma, at St. Dunstan's Catholic Church in Millbrae.

Mrs. Mosunic died Sunday in a Redwood City hospital after a brief illness.

A native of Gig Harbor, Wash., she lived in Sacramento, San Francisco, Oakland, Mill Valley and last lived in Millbrae, where she worked in a department store.

She married the late Anton Mosunic in Oakland in 1930.

She was a member of the Over 40 Club at St. Dunstan's Catholic Church.

Besides Mrs. Mosunich, she is survived by a daughter, Helen Barker of Redwood City in San Mateo County, another sister, Genevieve Arnerich of Oakland and a brother, Samuel Pocina, also of Oakland. She is also survived by one grandchild.

Rosary will be recited at 8 o'clock today at the Chapel of the Highlands, El Camino Real at Redwood Drive in Millbrae. Burial will be at Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma.

MARGARET FINNEGAN

A Mass of Christian Burial for Margaret (Peggy) Finnegan was held yesterday at Nazareth House Chapel, San Rafael. Burial was at Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma.

Mrs. Finnegan, 97, died Thursday at the Nazareth House rest home after an illness.

A native of Ireland, she emigrated to California when she was 18, and lived most of her life in San Francisco. She moved to the San Rafael rest home about 10 years ago.

In an Independent-Journal interview last year, Mrs. Finnegan recalled that she and her late husband, James, took in 150 homeless persons after the 1906 earthquake. They set up their dining room table in the basement and fed the refugees for several days.

She is survived by four daughters, Anne C. Wuesterfeld of San Mateo, Genevieve Barrett, Marion McCarthy and Dorothy Risso, nine grandchildren and 19 great-grandchildren.

AGNES C. CUNNINGHAM

Agnes C. Cunningham, mother of Mildred A. Moore of San Rafael and the widow of Leo A. Cunningham, former presiding judge of the San Francisco Municipal Court, died yesterday in a San Francisco hospital following a brief illness. She was 83.

Mrs. Cunningham was a descendent of an old California family. Her grandfather, Pedro Vasquez, who settled in California soon after the Bear Flag revolt, was a prominent citizen of Sonoma in the early 1850s.

Mrs. Cunningham, was born in Portland, Ore. but lived most of her life in San Francisco.

She was married in 1925.

Mrs. Cunningham was active in many charitable organizations and was a member of the Rosary Confraternity Society at St. Monica's Church in San Francisco.

Besides Mrs. Moore, she is survived by three other children, Leo A. Cunningham Jr. of Daly City, Phillip P. Cunningham Jr. of San Francisco, Mary A. Patton of Sunnyvale, and a brother, Charles Dohoney of Seattle. She is also survived by eight grandchildren.

Rosary will be recited at 8 o'clock tonight at N. Gray and Company, Divisadero and Post streets in San Francisco, and a Mass of Christian Burial will be celebrated tomorrow at 9:30 a.m. at St. Monica's Church at 23rd Avenue and Geary Boulevard in San Francisco.

Burial will follow at Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma.

MARY C. CURTNER

Funeral for Mary C. Curtner of Novato will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Chapel of Marin.

She died last Thursday in a local hospital after a long illness. She was 82.

Mrs. Curtner was born in San Francisco and lived all of her life in the Bay Area. She resided in Brisbane for many years and worked for Simmons Mattress Co. there. She had made her home for the past six years with her niece, Alice Olsen of Novato.

Burial will be in Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma.

MRS. DILL

Funeral for JoAnn B. Dill of Rohnert Park will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow at Sorensen Funeral Home in Petaluma.

Mrs. Dill, 76, died Sunday in a local hospital after a long illness.

She was born and reared in Missouri and she moved to California in 1939, first settling in Bishop and coming to Southern Sonoma 12 years ago. She last lived at 7755 Adrian Drive.

Mrs. Dill is survived by her husband, George Dill of Rohnert Park; a daughter, Gladys Benoit Moore of Petaluma; a brother, Ted Duncan of Kansas; three grandchildren, and seven great-grandchildren.

Interment will be in Cypress Hill Memorial Park, Petaluma.

RANDOLPH DUKE RUFFNER

National Security Didn't Justify Wiretapping

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Judiciary Committee in effect decided yesterday that President Nixon's condoning of wiretaps and establishing of the White House "plumbers" unit could not be justified in terms of national security.

During some of the most substantive debate during the impeachment proceedings, Rep. John Conyers Jr., D-Mich., said:

"We cannot here today make this record too replete with documentation that says once and for all that the bugaboo of national security will no longer suffice to intimidate the Congress or scare the American people into condoninng activities of the kind we have heard here in Article II of these proceedings."

Two subpoints of Article II recommend impeachment of Nixon on grounds he condoned electronic surveillance of citizens and established the plumbers to carry out a covert operation against Pentagon Papers defendant Daniel Ellsberg —in violation of their constitutional rights.

A motion to strike the subpoints was shouted down.

Nixon's defenders said that in 1969, 1970 and 1971 while these things were done, the United States was in war in Vietnam and carrying on strategic arms limitation talks (SALT) —and secret reports were being leaked to newspapers.

"There certainly is no ground for impeaching a President who acts to save the lives of our troops," said Rep. Carlos J. Moorhead, R-Calif.

GOP Reps. Charles E. Wiggins of California and Joseph J. Maraziti of New Jersey said Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, then Nixon's natiional security affairs adviser, was very concerned about the leaks.

The taps were placed on phones of about 21 National Security Agency and White House employes and reporters, as well as the President's brother, Donald Nixon.

Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif., chairman of the committee's Constitutional and Civil Rigtts subcommittee, said in many cases the conversations "were those of citizens, their wives and children, chatting on the telephone, exchanging their joys, sorows and anxieties."

Rep. William E. Cohen, R-Maine, said "A man cannot set dogs loose with general instructions to stop and destroy leaks at any cost, and then say that he is not responsible when the constitutional rights of citizens are shredded in the process."

Rep. Joshua Eilberg, D-Pa., said, "We've learned that in Russia you must never have a serious conversation without turning on the water or radio so the conversation cannot be heard by the secret listening devices.

"It is also an axiom that the telephone is tapped, so in Russia everyone takes long walks in the parks so they can communicate. It has become an article of faith in Russia that Big Brother the secret police are always listening.

"Now, we learn that in the late '60s and early '70s and possibly right up to this date, the secret police have been listening in America, only now they have special equipment to eliminate the noise of running water or loud radios.

"In Washington it has become a sardonic joke to say that the phone is tapped whenever there is a strange noise on the line.

"We have become a suspicious people, afraid to talk freely, not because what we say might prove we have committed a crime or endangered national security but because our political enemies might use this information against us.

MAMA CASS ELLIOTT
Apparent choking victim

Mama Cass Elliott Found Dead

LONDON (UPI) – An autopsy showed today that American singer Mama Cass Elliott did not die of a heart attack but probably choked to death on a ham sandwich she was eating while propped up in bed watching television. Further laboratory tests were ordered to make sure.

An inquest into the death — mandatory when it is not from natural causes —will open at Westminster Coroner's Court tomorrow for the formal purpose of identifying the 31-year-old star who became internationally famous with the Mamas and Papas rock group.

The inquest will then be adjourned to await the result of the laboratory tests.

British officials said the autopsy established that the 5-foot, 5-inch 238-pound former flower child did not die of a heart attack and an official source said, "We think she choked. The laboratory tests will make the cause of death certain."

Dr. Anthony Greenburg, who was called to Miss Elliott's luxurious Mayfair apartment, had not ruled out the possibility of a heart attack but he also expressed belief she choked to death.

Dot MacLeoud, her English secretary, went to the apartment during the evening when Miss Cass failed to answer a telephone call. She reported finding the body slumped on a divan bed.

The secretary said the bedroom television set was on. She said a bottle of soda pop and a ham sandwich were on a bedside table.

Greenburg said the twice-divorced singer had been dead "for a considerable time before her body was found." He said she had seemed in good health.

American singer Joe Croyle, 25, apparently the last person to see her alive, said he visited Miss Elliot Sunday night and she seemed in good spirits.

She completed a successful two-week engagement at the London Palladium Saturday night and her manager, Alan Carr, said, "This last week was the happiest I have ever seen her."

Born Ellen Naomi Cohen on Feb 19, 1943, in Arlington, Va., she won fame as Mama Cass after joining Denny Doherty, Michelle Gilliam and John Phillips to form the Mamas and the Papas in 1965.

Miss Elliot left the group in 1968 after the Mamas and the Papas produced such gold records as "Monday, Monday" and "California Dreamin'."

During her solo night club, television and recording career, she had such single hits as "Dream a Little Dream of Me" and "Make Your Own Kind of Music."

She tried unsuccessfully to shed her old image and even made an album entitled, "Don't Call Me Mama Cass Anymore." But for her fans, she remained Mama Cass.

Miss Elliot had a daughter during her marriage to musician Jim Hendricks. The child —Owen Vanessa, 7, —lives with the singer's mother.

The marriage to Hendricks broke up in 1969. She married and divorced West German Baron Donald Von Weidenman in 1972.

San Rafael, air quality yesterday:
Oxidants, clean air.
Nitrogen, clean air.
Carbon monoxide, clear air.
Smoke particles, clear air.
Other areas:
San Francisco, clean air.,
San Jose, light air pollution.
Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources.

Senate Leaders Call For Live TV Coverage Of Impeachment

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate leaders said today live television coverage of President Nixon's possible impeachment trial in the Senate was vital.

Democratic Whip Robert Byrd of West Virginia proposed a resolution to require the Senate Rules Committee to establish procedures under which the trial would be broadcast if the House votes to impeach the President.

Broadcasting the trial would allow "the American people to see and hear" the proceeding and provide them with assurances that "the trial is fair and that the decision is correct," Byrd said.

Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania agreed. "For justice to be done it must be seen to be done," Scott said.

Byrd said that some expressed fears that television would result in a "circus atmosphere" and that senators would "play to the cameras, have no basis in fact."

"The American people will want to hear for themselves, see for themselves and decide for themselves," Byrd said.

The House also is moving toward expected approval of television coverage of its full impeachment debate expected to begin Aug. 12 but the Rules Committee put off a scheduled discussion of the issue today.

Ford Predicts Full Employment

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Vice President Gerald Ford told the 1974 National Urban League conference yesterday that full employment will be achieved "in the coming decades."

The theme of the 64th annual conference is "full employment as a national goal."

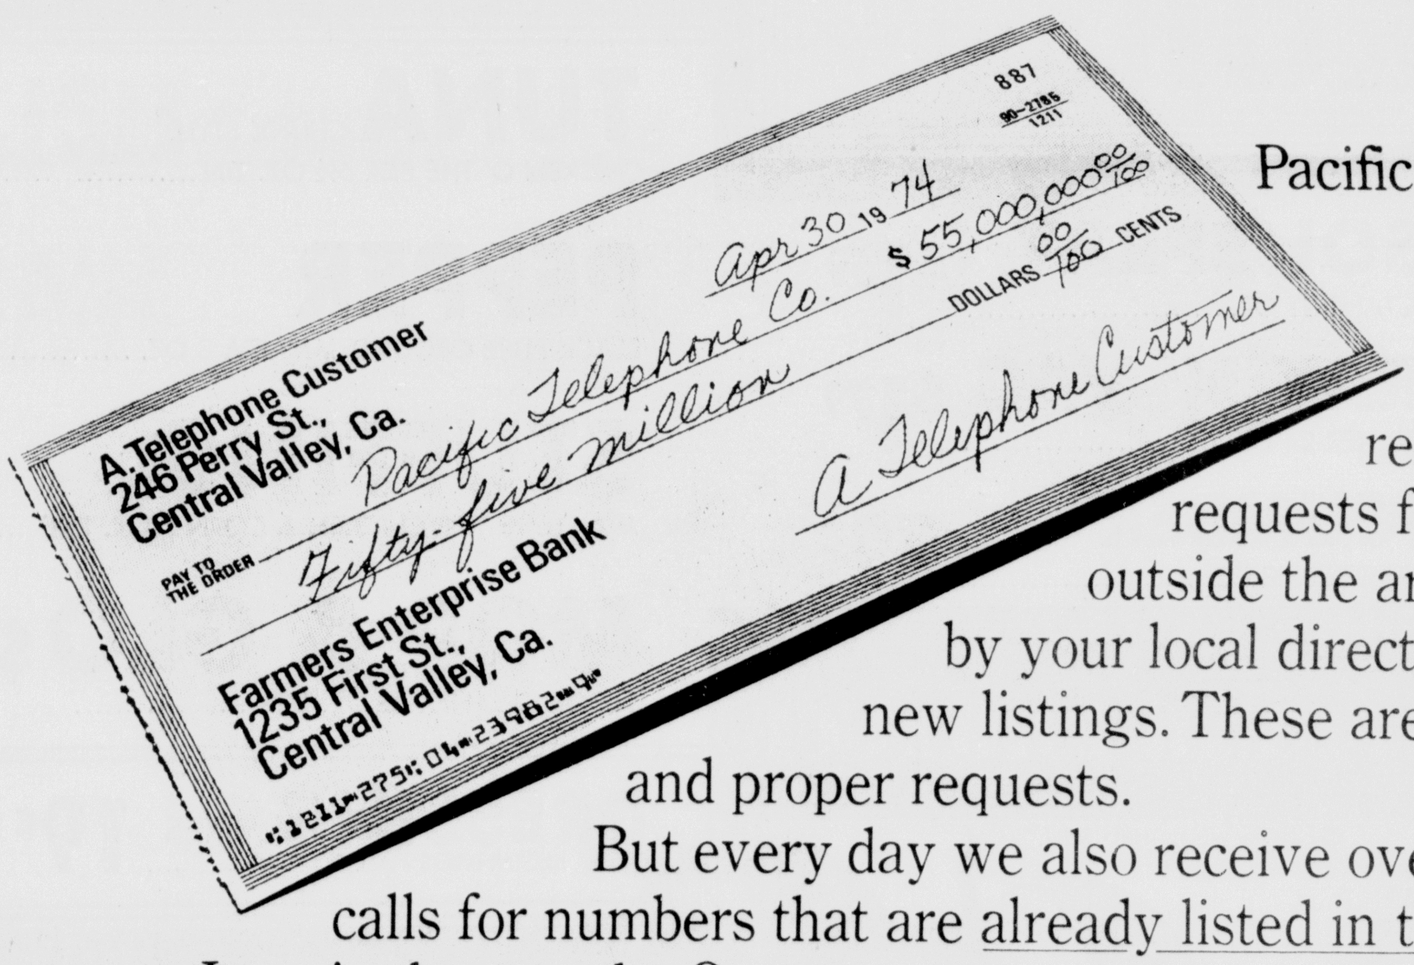

Ford said the phrase "coming decades" could mean 1985 or the year 2000 and stressed that new legislation was not necessary to reach the goal.

"We have the laws. What we need is the will, the money and the execution," he said.

Ford's views contrasted sharply with another convention speaker, Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., who said full employment could be achieved quickly.

THE $55,000,000 PHONE CALL. GUESS WHO PAYS FOR IT?

Pacific Telephone's Directory Assistance Operators receive many requests for numbers outside the area covered by your local directory and for new listings. These are necessary and proper requests.

But every day we also receive over a million calls for numbers that are already listed in the book.

In a single year, the Operator expense for handling those unnecessary calls comes to more than $55,000,000.

Who pays the cost of those needless calls?

Well, in an immediate sense, the Phone Company does. But as a public utility, our operating costs ultimately affect the rates that you, the customer, must pay.

So, if you care about the cost of your service, keep the book near your phone, and use it whenever you can; and make a list of the numbers you call often, or may need in a hurry, and keep that handy too.

IF YOU CARE ABOUT COST, USE THE BOOK.

Music Program Has Widespread Appeal

Last spring, the Forest Meadows Center of the Arts was established at Dominican College in San Rafael to prepare a special summer program with a twofold purpose:

One was to assemble and provide advanced education to young, serious-minded musicians from all over the country, aged 14 to 19. The other was to provide public participation in the summer festival of concerts as well as in the lectures and seminars.

BOTH GOALS are about to reach fruition in the Forest Meadows Center's 10-day summer music program, which will open Friday, Aug. 2 and continue through Sunday, Aug. 11.

The response from both students and instructors has been tremendous, according to Audrey Jarach, executive director of the Forest Meadows Center, who a year ago accompanied Marin's teen-age Orchestra Piccola in a triumphant tour through Italy and performances to sellout corwds at the Festival of Two Worlds at Spoleto.

The Forest Meadows Center program this year has assembled 105 young musicians, with screening to select the most gifted and those ready to launch their musical careers. This in turn drew top ranking instructors from throughout the country and inquiries from abroad.

THE WIDESPREAD appeal of the program is evidenced by the number of students from outside the Bay Area. Of the 105 enrolled, only 33 are from Marin and 15 others from the Bay Area. The other 57 are from Southern California or out of state.

"We've had phone calls out of New York from top instructors willing to come here to teach," said Mrs. Jarach. "The teachers are excited because of the caliber of students. We even received a letter from a teacher in Paris who is interested in teaching in the summer program next year."

ALMOST ALL activities are open to the public during the 10-day program, which is divided into three categories: Concerts by students and professional artists; master classes, lectures and seminars which are open to observers; and four observer days (Aug. 5, 6, 7 and 9) during which the public may attend some or all of the events.

Free noon concerts will be held daily at 12:30 p.m. in Caleruega Meadows near the dining hall, and paid concerts will be held at Forest Meadows Amphitheater from the 2nd through the 8th.

The program will include American music, from colonial to jazz and even some Appalachian mountain music.

INFORMATION ON the program and tickets are available at the Forest Meadows Center office at Dominican College. Participation by the public will assure success for a worthy undertaking that has gained national attention and will add to Marin's reputation as a center for stimulation of talent and appreciation of music.

Dumping Of Milk Is Galling But Let's Hear Other Side

By EARL G. WATERS

The picture of 23,000 gallons of fresh milk, with a retail value of $38,000, being spilled down the drain must have soured many people on the slogan "Milk has something for everybody."

For, even in the best of times, the thought of destroying food of any kind is repugnant to the Yankee upbringing of most persons. When it occurs in a period of high unemployment and high costs of milk (and everything else) it is even more galling.

SO THE RECENT widely publicized dumping of surplus milk at an L.A. water pollution control plant by the California Milk Producers Association, a farmer's cooperative, brought an angry reaction. What is the explanation for so seemingly an inexcusable waste of food?

The dairy industry in California is big, with producers grossing an annual $840 million in milk and milk products. And it has more state agencies ministering to it than a dog has fleas. In addition to the Milk Advisory Board, which spends $4 million annually advertising the virtues of milk, there is the California Dairy Council, the Milk Marketing Enforcement Bureau, the Milk Pooling Bureau, and the Milk Stabilization Bureau. Despite all these agencies regulating milk, including the price of milk, production is not regulated.

NORMALLY, throughout the year, milk production in excess of fresh milk market demands is channelled into milk products such as ice cream, cheese and powdered milk. And the plants processing these products are geared to an efficient level operation year around.

But, as Dr. Jed Adams, in charge of the Department of Agriculture's milk marketing program explains, "The production peak comes at the time of the year when consumption is lowest. The dairy herds are at their highest production in the spring, declining with the summer hot weather to the lowest point in October. But consumption start declining in May and doesn't pick up until September."

ADAMS RELATES this drop in milk usage to the school recess and vacation travelling, together with the tendency of most people to drink ades and pop during the summer hot weather rather than milk. During these periods the milk product plants reach their capacities and, on occasion, are unable to handle all of the milk produced.

He said the industry is constantly encouraging the expansion of milk plant capacities to handle "spring flush" surpluses. "But it is a vicious circle. As plant capacities expand the operators demand greater production to maintain year around operational levels. As the herds are increased to meet the demands the plants again reach the point where they are unable to handle unusual surpluses."

AS ADAMS points out, there is no way to hold fresh milk surpluses until they can be processed. "When the spring flush hits, unfortunately there are times when there is more milk than the plants can process."

So the 23,000 gallons surplus could not be processed and had to be dumped. There was no way to give it away. It was raw milk which would have had to have been pasteurized for human consumption as well as being packaged in containers. This would have cost the producers another $4,500 on top of the $12,000 loss they were already faced with due to their inability to market the milk.

COULD NOT the milk have been given to state and county institutions? Such places are already regular milk customers and giving them the surplus would only have displaced their normal deliveries thereby creating another surplus so nothing would have been gained.

As Adams concedes, "On the face of it the industry's image gets a black eye. But, when viewed in the proper perspective, the amount dumped wasn't that big a thing. It was less than one-half of one per cent of the state's total daily production.

"Refresh my memory, Wilson. This Watergate mess, what started it?"

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Pay More Attention To Children Safety

Amazed again! Another letter defending the rights of animals, especially the ones that bite people and children in your paper.

No one has come to the defense of that four year old boy and his rights as a person. The trend seems to be to come to the aid of the animal and his protection while we ignore children's rights to safety.

That child will never forget that attack by that dog. Will the dog be upset that he bit a child; know he is wrong and promise never to do it again?

I feel that we should be paying more attention to the protection of children against whatever or whomever may cause harm to their person.

Article On Aldersly Is Well Received

On behalf of the Board of Directors of Aldersly, the residents, the Administrator and staff, I wish to express our appreciation to you for publishing the July 20th article in "Marin Living" section about Aldersly, our "Bit of Denmark in Marin County."

We commend Dorothy Gardiner for the fine article and thank her for the time and effort she expended. Also, we are appreciative of the excellent photography by Alfred Arn.

You might like to know that we have had innumerable phone calls to compliment us on our "home" and many inquiries relative to residency, all of which are the direct result of the publicity given us by the Independent-Journal.

Again, we say "thank you."

President Faces A Stacked Deck

After listening to the various members on the House Judiciary Committee and the intermission remarks of members of the news media, it becomes quite apparent that President Nixon is playing against a "stacked" deck.

To begin with, the chairman of the Committee was the recipient of a direct quote, by a newspaper syndicated columnist, in the Los Angeles Times, as follows: "A House Judiciary Committee Chairman, who accepted a whopping $31,000, campaign contribution from AFL-CIO unions, which are fierce to impeach Mr. Nixon, and who must answer to a largely anti-Nixon constituency back in Newark."

The committee is composed of a preponderance of Democratic party members, members of a party that received, from the voters, in 1972 election, the second highest rejection of their candidate, in a presidential election. Furthermore, it is apparent, as they recite from various copies of the tapes, prepared by the House Judiciary Committee staff, that wording, punctuation and inference, does not compare with the newspaper accounts of the transcripts.

Constant repetitious reference to Watergate actions attributed to the President appears to be an indication that the members of the Committee either do not have knowledge that the House Select Committee chared by Senator Ervin, had issued their report and had found nothig implicating the President in the Watergate affair, or, perhaps they are indicating that they do not wish to know, or perhaps they are indirectly admitting that the $2,000,000 dollars in tax payers money spent by the Committee was an injudicious use of tax payer funds. Play it again, Sam.

Constant mention hs been made to the Constitution, and how the President has abused the Power of his office. . .

The President at no time has claimed to be above the law. Nor has he claimed to be below the law. His claim, and rightly so, is that he, as President, the head of the executive branch of our Government is equal to Congress and to the judiciary, in his actions, and to be subservient to either other branch would be inimical to the concepts as set forth in the Constitution. That is our system of checks and balances, and may it perserv-ere.

Grazing On Hillside Was Considered

Regarding your front page report of July 22, concerning the major grass fire on the hills of the community of Upper Lucas Valley, the article pointed out a contributing cause for the fire was division among residents over whether or not to graze the open-space in an attempt to reduce the grass level on the hills. As is usual in these cases the other side of the picture was not clearly presented. . .

There is no doubt that the community of Upper Lucas Valley is divided on the issue of grazing cattle to reduce the fire hazard in the hills. The Board of Directors of the Lucas Valley Homeowners Association and advisory committees from the community have worked hard and long to resolve this issue. For example, the Board requested an exhaustive study of the problem and a detailed report was presented this spring. In the report scientists from the University of San Francisco, San Francisco State University and the California Academy of Science made individual studies of our hills and all recommended against grazing. To add to the problem, agricultural specialists from the University of California Extension and Marin County together with the Marin County fire chief have recommended grazing. The scientists have pointed out that with or without grazing, fire is part of the natural environment of our oak-grassland hills. Fires are more frequent today because of the suburban development into these areas. While grazing would reduce to some extent the fire hazard, there are many additional problems that must be taken into account before a community can wed itself to a long term grazing contract. The cost of fencing, maintenance of water supply, liability insurance and year round access to the hills are matters that the community is struggling with at the moment.

Instead of grazing the hills, some individuals in the community have urged that certain steps be taken each year to reduce fire hazards and maintain our hills in their natural state. While the grazing issue was being discussed this spring, an advisory committee, through the Board of Directors, sent a letter to all homeowners bordering the hills asking them to cut back the tall grass behind their homes and to clear any debris in the area. An inspection of the hills a month or so later revealed that only a few perimeter homeowners made any effort to reduce the fire hazard. The Board then requested the community to join together for a weekend of clean-up on the hills around the perimeter. The date set was the week before the fire. Seven persons turned out on Saturday and two on Sunday!

The three fires which have swept the hills of Lucas Valley in the past two years were all started by youngsters in the community. Our research has shown that we will continue to have grass fires with or without cattle on the hills. It seems to me therefore, that now the fire danger has passed for this year, we should not be stampeded into a hasty decision on grazing as might be encouraged by your July 22 article. It is my firm conviction that in the long run we will find that the cultivation within our community of an environmental awareness, enjoyment and respect of our open-space, is far less expensive and far more enjoyable than environmental correction.

Impeachment Process Should Transcend All Partisanship

(Copyright 1974 The Christian Science Publishing Society)

There are intelligent and honest people who keep saying that the impeachment process is a political one.

This is tragic. It ought to be a judicial process. Political suggests partisan. But the issues are far deeper. They are issues of right and wrong, as examined in the light of the American Constitution. The examination ought to transcend every element of partisanship.

IT IS understandable, it is tactically legitimate, that President Nixon in self-defense seeks to arouse the partisanship of his fellow Republicans and of the Democrats who agree ideologically with him. But every member of Congress, every thoughtful citizen, ought to look beyond partisanship to the only real issues that are involved.

In discussing the setting aside of Albert Jenner, counsel to the Republican minority in the House Judiciary Committee, Rep. Robert McClory, second-ranking Republican on the Committee, put the issue in its starkly partisan terms. He said: "He (Mr. Jenner) has taken a strong position pro-impeachment entirely in line with the Democratic leadership . . . Consequently, in order that the Republicans can be served, we need the action of the partisan service of Mr. Garrison."

THESE ARE the terms in which the issue is now being put. It is deplorable. It is wrong. If you are a good Democrat, the attitude implies, you will vote against Mr. Nixon. If you're a good Republican, you will vote for him. Such strategy may not even be the most helpful to the President's cause. It almosts suggests the inevitability of a majority vote for impeachment in the House, even if it would permit the eking out of one-third and one against conviction in the Senate.

Every effort will be made, I should suppose, to continue this atmosphere of partisanship, whether or not it is the most effective method of serving the President's cause.

BUT IN THE end, just as happened a century ago with the Andrew Johnson case, I believe the Senate will rise above partisanship. If the House votes impeachment, the Senate must assume the status of the most solemn and ultimate court in the land. The Chief Justice of the United States (that is his proper title, not chief justice of the Supreme Court) will be presiding.

It would be refreshing, it would be right, if the chief voices for or against impeachment should be from across the partisan aisle.

IT IS QUITE proper, of course, that the members of the House Judiciary Committee who oppose impeachment should have a stout legal voice making their case. But it should not be made simply by Republicans for Republicans. Similarly when the issue reaches the House, and if it comes to the Senate, the defense should be fully effective but not partisan.

Even those who regard the impeachment process as political, as distinguished from partisan, are surely wrong. The judgment as to whether crimes have been committed should not be a political one, but an evaluation of the law and the facts from a strictly judicial standpoint. This principle applies especially if the narrow definition of an impeachable offense is adopted, the position advocated by the President's lawyer. If a broader approach is held — whether or not the President has "take(n) care that the laws be faithfully executed" — the same principle should apply.

BEHIND POLITICS, behind partisanship, stands public opinion. There, still more than in Congress, it seems to me that a nonpartisan approach tends to apply. Only to a limited degree have Americans divided on partisan lines. But there is too much of it, even so.

I have no doubt that these hopes to escape partisanship are utopian. Possibly they are naive. In the end, I believe enough of the need for strictly and sternly detached judiciousness will emerge in Congress and in public opinion so that the nation will achieve the decision it deserves.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

One Of Watergate Ironies: Ike Got By But Not Nixon

By GODFREY SPERLING JR.
Copyright 1974 The Christian Science Monitor News Service)

WASHINGTON, D.C. — One of the great ironies of Watergate is that Richard Nixon has often, in the past, lauded Dwight Eisenhower for being a man of high moral principles. Yet he disagrees with the way Eisenhower dealt with his biggest problem of ethnic: Sherman Adams and the charges that he had traded influence of a vicuna coat.

General Eisenhower did little to save his long-time, loyal, and able chief of staff. Mr. Nixon thinks he should have protected Mr. Adams, that he owed this to his No. 1 aide. And the tapes disclose that it was this Nixon effort to stand by his top people that has served to give his actions the flavor of a cover-up if, indeed, that isn't precisely what did occur.

BUT THERE ARE other ironies. There is the recent report that Charles Colson had told a private investigator that Mr. Nixon believes the CIA planned and carried out the Watergate break-in as a device for getting back at the President for reducing the agency's power. This Colson report, truth or myth, has not brought about any noticeable distress on the part of high-principles conservatives who usually are quick to go to the defense of the CIA.

NORMALLY YOU would hear strong assertions of the unchallengable Americanism and impeccable deportment of the CIA, coming from the right. But since this break-in rationale might provide an "out" for the President, these conservative voices are silent. Columnist Joseph Kraft has noted this irony.

BUT THERE ARE ironies that show up in the liberals, too. They applauded Eisenhower's use of executive privilege for not producing information asked for by McCarthy-Senate investigative hearings that were aimed at the alleged internal Communist threat of that period. Yet those who took that view then are often the very same people who have blasted President Nixon for invoking executive privilege for not providing information to the Ervin committee.

THE LIBERALS of the early '50's severely criticized the McCarthy hearings for their failure to provide Communist suspects with the right of cross-examination. Yet there was no evidence that the liberals of today were raising this civil-libertarian issue when witnesses like John Ehrlichman and H. R. Haldeman were grilled for hours on end under the lights of television and by some 20 million viewers without being able to cross-examine. And all the time, too, these witnesses were facing the possibility of perjury charges.

Another irony relates to the press. It now has become clear that some investigative reporting in Watergate went beyond the bounds of reportorial ethics. Involved in this approach was implicit rationale: that the end justified the means. One does not have to throw down the magnificent job done by reporters in undercovering the evils of Watergate to make this observation. This same end-justifies-the-means theory was used by some of those involved in Watergate to justify their illegal acts. Ah, the irony.

AND ANOTHER case: Presidential aide Pat Buchanan is depicted as a bigot when he points out that a large proportion of those on the grand jury who wanted the President indicted were black — and that blacks had voted overwhelmingly against Mr. Nixon in 1972. He says the irony here is that his critics are the same ones who would be horrified if a black in the South were convicted by an all-white jury.

One cannot conclude of course that just because blacks voted against the President they would not give him a fair hearing. They very well could and very possibly did. But blacks generally have felt that Mr. Nixon has not been their friend. This is something that any political reporter who roams the nation and samples public opinion soon finds.

Therefore, Mr. Buchanan might have been correct in implying that this was not the kind of a jury that would be most kindly to Mr. Nixon, or most likely to decide conflicting evidence in his favor.

FINALLY, THE most obvious irony has come from Sen. Edward Kennedy's criticism of the President's Watergate conduct and his early eagerness to provide Senate leadership in probing into the whole Watergate affair. Anyone who would read Robert Sherrill's excellent July 14 article on "Chappaquiddick Plus 5" in the New York Times magazine section would have to discern the glaring irony that is involved.

Everyone knows the old saying which says "fair is fair." But there is also the old political saying which asserts that fairness is decided "by whose ox is being gored."

We have seen a great deal of the use of this latter adage during this entire Watergate affair.

WILL ROGERS SAYS . . .

"It just looks like everything is doing fine but humans. Animals are having a great year, grass was never higher, flowers were never more in bloom, trees are throwing out an abundance of shade for us to loaf under. Everything the Lord has a hand in is going great, but the minute you notice anything that is in any way under the supervision of man, why, it's cockeyed." — April 17, 1932.

Nixon can't get equal time at the Judiciary Committee's public meetings — but would it be asking too much to have Rabbi Korff give the invocation?

On any hot issue like impeachment, every congressman wants to do what's best for the people — at least the ones in his district.

Congressman Hogan called a news conference to announce his vote for impeachment. He wants to be frank, forthright and governor of Maryland.

While the House Judiciary Committee was meeting, there was a mental picture of the President of the United States eating dinner off a TV tray.

Novato's Peons Carry Load As The Brass Enjoy Retreat

On Friday, July 19, 16 employees of the city of Novato went on a "retreat" to the Sacramento Inn, in Sacramento. The retreat lasted until noon Saturday.

Included in the party was the city manager, assistant city manager, all the department heads and "higher ups" in the departments. The retreat was billed as an organizational development meeting (with everyone retreating around a pool or in the shade, we'd bet.)

The retreat, which cost $250 to $300, was paid for by the Intergovernmental Personnel Act and was held under the auspicies of Hayward State University.

So in theory it did not cost us taxpayers. Then again, I don't know of any part of the government that doesn't have its hand in my pocket.

IT COST the taxpayers of Novato too. They paid 16 employees for a full days' work that was not done in the luxury of the Sacramento Inn, and did not contribute a thing to the function of the government for which they were paid.

With the brass all gone from city hall, what happened? Nothing!

The remaining peons carried on the work, and there was no noticeable difference in the functioning of the government.

It would have been a good thing if the council had made a sudden effeciency check on the city hall. They might have discovered that they have hired too many chiefs and not enough Indians.

AT THE COST of some $24,000, a bicycle path is being constructed on the west side of South Novato Boulevard from Yukon Way to Rowland Boulevard. Now we are not against bicycle paths, but construction of this one surely puts things in a different light.

An organized minority waving a flag of safety for bicyclists has achieved something that complaining motorists (including a former mayor while he was in office) have not been able to do.

Since its incorporation, the city of Novato has had the right-of-way for a four lane street on the major portion of South Novato Boulevard. The public works department has steadfastly refused to do any major work on the street, using it as a major club in an attempt to get a street bond issue passed.

SO MOTORISTS have driven the street and complained to no avail. Their gasoline tax money was drined away on other projects with less than one-tenth of the traffic — such as Vallejo Avenue.

More of their gasoline tax money now is being spent on bicycles which produce no revenue. The only benefit which the motorists will get is to see some of the clay banks cut down for the bike path and possibly have fewer bicycles to dodge in traffic.

WHAT HAS the State of California got against Highway 101 between Santa Rosa and the Oregon border?

That highway, known as the famed Redwood Highway, is one of the great tourist attractions of the state, but . . .

Last winter's slides of rocks and mud were still on the roadway just a few short days ago. In the long stretch of that highway, only one crew was cleaning up on one slide and another crew was making repairs to the road.

No one will argue that some of the older portions of the highway should be turned into freeways, but that will come in time. It is the stretches of new freeway which the state is letting go into a state of early deterioration by neglect.

Conservative Anti-Nixon Group Set

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former anti-poverty director Howard Phillips today called on President Nixon's conservative supporters to work for his impeachment and removal from office.

Phillips, a political activist with close ties to conservatives in Congress, said Nixon has repeatedly lied to his supporters by furthering liberal causes and is unworthy of their trust.

Phillips, who worked for dismantlement of the Office of Economic Opportunity while he was its director, said he planned in the next two weeks to announce formation of a group to be called Conservatives for Removal of the President.

He said the new group would work to convince conservatives in Congress and around the country that Nixon should be impeached and convicted by the Senate.

Phillips said that Nixon has betrayed conservatives who supported him in his 1972 reelection by approving legislation backed by liberals in order to gain their favor.

He referred to a number of programs, including a bill for legal services for the poor signed last week by Nixon which was bitterly opposed by conservatives in Congress.

Phillips said such actions were "not proper grounds for impeachment" but that conservatives should support his removal from office on the obstruction of justice charge.

Farr Gets 5-Day Sentence, Fine

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Reporter William Farr, central figure in one of the longest and most celebrated U.S.-press judiciary clashes, was sentenced to the maximum five days in jail and fined $500 Monday by Superior Court Judge Charles Older.

Older lamented that he could not make the sentence harsher.

The judge, passing sentence, said that "No man has the right to hold himself above the law and that is precisely what Mr. Farr is doing in this case. Mr. Farr will not be rewarded for his conduct in this court.

"In my view, the circumstances of this case warranted a much more severe sentence, were it within the power of the court to impose it," the judge said. Farr and Older have been involved for three years in a struggle that pits a right of judges — to impose gag orders to protect the impartiality of jurors — against a journalistic ethic — that a newsman must refuse to reveal the identities of those who give him information in confidence.

Farr has refused throughout that time to reveal the names of two lawyers who broke Older's gag order by giving Farr information for a story during the trial of the Charles Manson family for the Sharon Tate murders.

Older originally sent Farr to jail on an open-ended contempt sentence, ordering that he be held until he relented. The sentence could have lasted until one of the men died, or until Older left the bench, but Farr was freed in 1972 after 46 days by U.S. Supreme Court Judge William O. Douglas pending appeals.

A complex series of appeals and hearings established that Older could not impose an open-ended "coercive" contempt sentence on Farr, but was limited to the five days maximum as a "punitive" sentence.

Farr remained free on appeal.

"I am greatly relieved that my virtual life sentence has been reduced to five days," he said outside the courtroom. "I am fully prepared to go back to jail."

Farr is now a court reporter for the Los Angeles Times, but was working for the Herald-Examiner when he wrote that the Manson family had plans to kill other celebrities.

Political Files Are Burglarized

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A political consultant says burglars broke into his office and ransacked his files.

The consultant, Sanford L. Weiner, says his files contained information on several former clients, including San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto and Rep. Paul McCloskey, R-Palo Alto. There also was a file of a present client, Peter Bensinger who is running for sheriff of Chicago.

"I have to figure they were looking for something," Weiner said.

Search Fails To Turn Up His Dentures

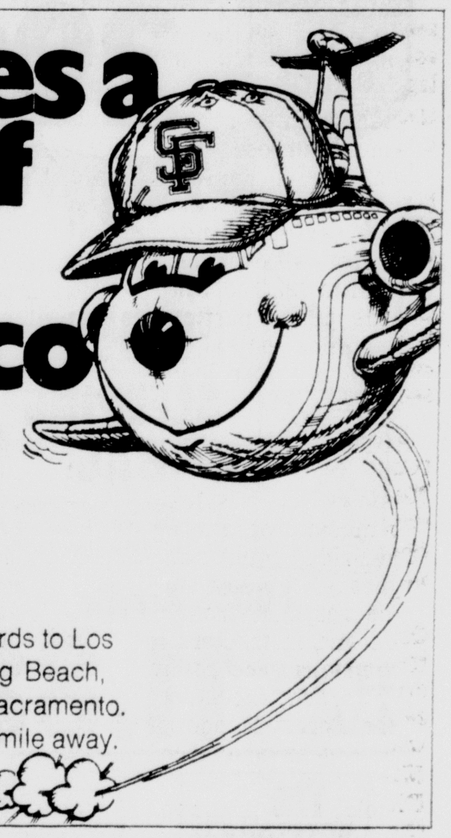

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (UPI) — Indiana State police have been thus far unsuccessfull in their search for a $900 set of false teeth accidentally tossed out the window of an auto by a litterbug.

Police say a motorist reported that he was driving along eating chicken and tossing the bones out the car window when he tossed his dentures —still imbedded in a chicken bone — out the window.

Police found the man —who was confined to a wheel chair —rolling up and down the median of the roadway Sunday searching for the missing dentures.

Trooper Allen K. Smith told his superiors he did not ticket the man for littering, or even get his identity, since he felt the fellow had enough problems as it was.

Richard M. Nixon, Please Go; By Kite Or Broomstick, Go!

WASHINGTON — My good friend Dr. Seuss wrote a book a few years ago titled "Marvin K. Mooney Will You Please Go Now!" He sent me a copy the other day and crossed out "Marvin K. Mooney" and replaced it with "Richard M. Nixon." It sounded like fun so I asked him if I could reprint it. Please read it aloud.

"RICHARD M. Nixon will you please go now!
The time has come.
The time has come.
The time is now.
Just go.
Go.
GO!
I don't care how.
You can go by foot.
You can go by cow.
Richard M. Nixon will you please go now!
YOU CAN GO on skates.
You can go on skis.
You can go in a hat.
But
Please go.
Please!
I don't care.
You can go

Buchwald On Award Panel

Art Buchwald has been selected to serve on the Nominators Committee of the Emerson College-Edward L. Bernays Foundation Award. The award will be given in February, 1975, to a nationally televised broadcast judged "the most socially significant" of 1974 by a distinguished Jury of Awards.

Nominators come from the fields of education, communications, business law and politics. Betty Friedan, author and founder of the National Organization for Women; Newton Minnow, a lawyer and a former chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, and Nelson Rockefeller, former governor of New York, are among the other nominators.

Programs nominated may be commercial or public broadcasts; they may be specials, news presentations or dramas; one or a series of programs.

The award will be given to the program that has most effectively focused public opinion on a social or political problem or event; brought about change or legislation, and could serve as a model for future programs, in the judgment of nominators and jurors.

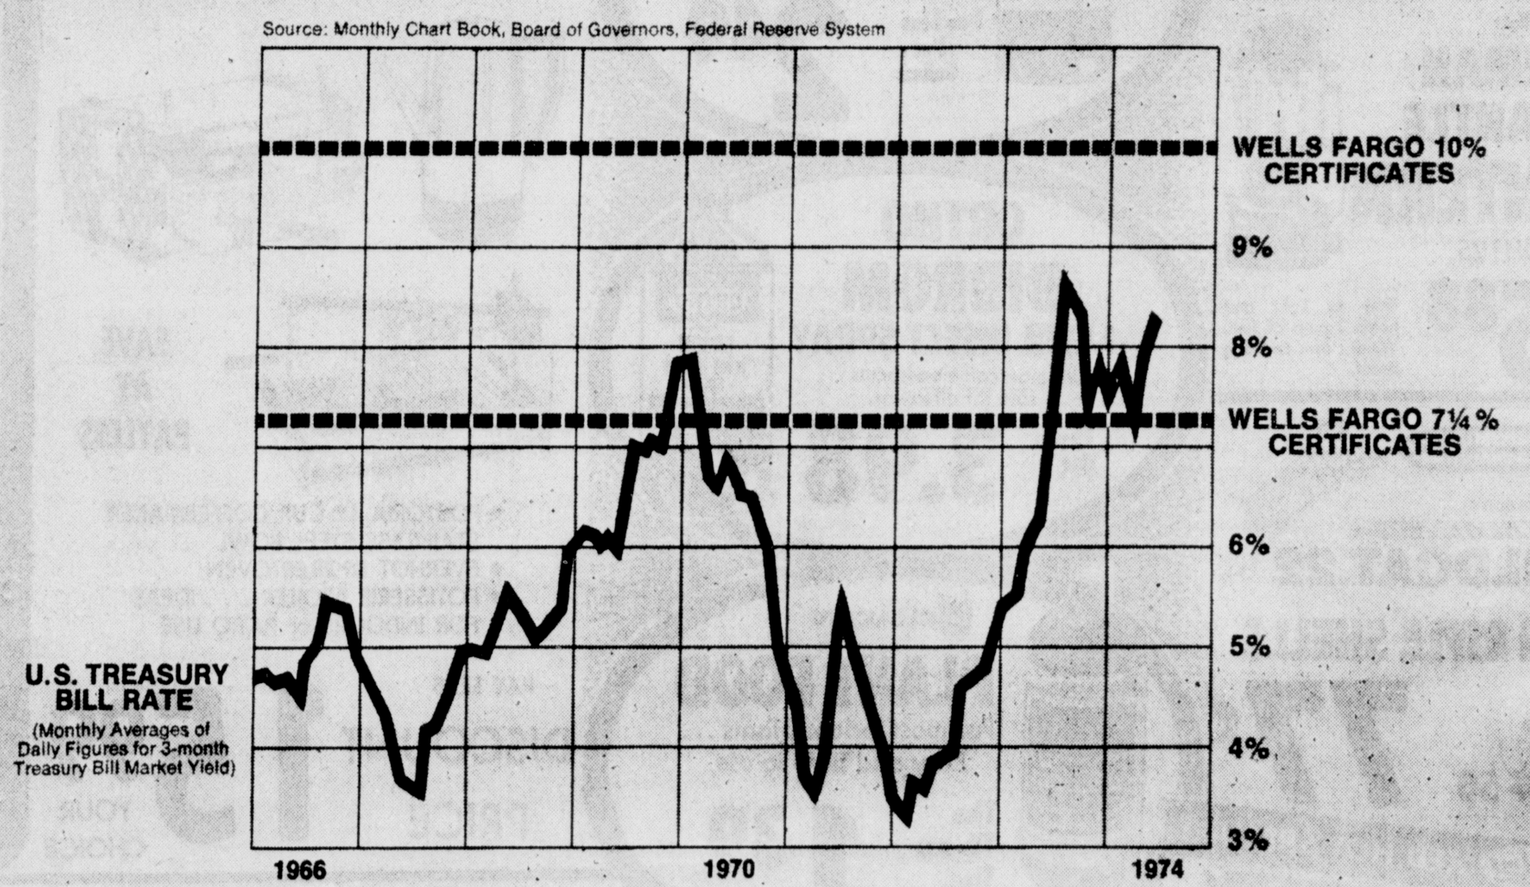

Multi-Media Exhibit Will Open Sunday

"People's Choice," a multi-media exhibit, will have a gala opening Sunday from 1 to 4 p.m. at the Terra Linda Art Gallery, 4172 Redwood Highway, San Rafael.

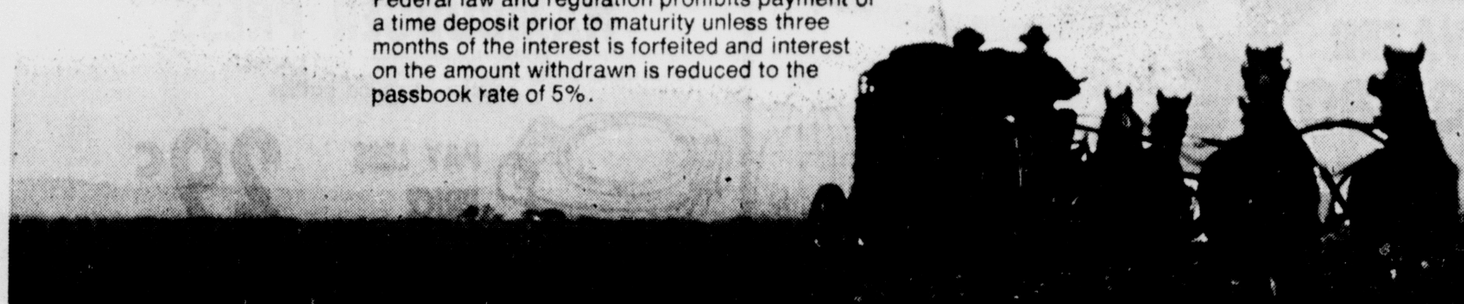

The three best entries, judged by the public, will receive awards. The exhibit will continue through Sept. 6. Gallery hours are 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Lawyer For Competitor Sues Bell For Harassment

CHICAGO (UPI) — Barbara Hirsch, an attorney who represents a competitor of Illinois Bell, says the telephone company harassed her by leaving her name out of a million telephone books and she is suing for $750,000.

In the suit, filed by attorney Julius Sagi, Miss Hirsch charges the telephone company omitted her name from its 1974 telephone directory and information listing in retaliation for her representing Private TeleCommunications, Inc., in several suits over the past few years.

Telecommunications, she said, sells and leases telephone equipment and is competitive with the Bell system in that field.

"I would put it in terms of economic retaliation," she said. "I believe I have a genuine cause of action and I hope they realize this is a serious issue."

Miss Hirsch said as soon as she called the matter to the telephone company's attention, they put her name in the second press run of the printed telephone directory and in the information listings.

"It was simply a clerical error," said Roger Johnston, a spokesman for Illinois Bell.

"This certainly was not deliberate. The person who made the error doesn't know Barbara Hirsch from you. There is just no possibility it was harassment. It was purely human error."

BARBARA HIRSCH
Suing Ma Bell

Johnston said the telephone company's rate of error in its listings is less than a tenth of a per cent.

Johnston said the error apparently occurred in March, when an order was placed for a corrected listing.

"The issue was very simple," he said. "She changed her place of business. She called June 24 to the business office to tell them the number was still incorrectly listed."

He said whoever took the call apparently pulled the name out of the listings altogether and never put the corrected listing back in.

Miss Hirsch said she had had no such dealings with the telephone company in the past year. "There have been no incidents whatsoever," she said. "I've paid my phone bills on time. There's been nothing."

Sagi, her attorney, concurred. "I don't care to try this case in the newspapers," he said, "But the answer is no. There has been no change in her telephone number or office this year."

Audubon Society Schedules Nature Walk

A nature walk will be held Saturday at the National Audubon Society sanctuary in Tiburon beginning at 7:30 a.m.

Sanctuary Mgr. Philip Schaeffer, who will lead the walk, said it will last between one and two hours.

On Sunday at 1 and 3 p.m., the nature film, "The Way Of A Trout," will be shown in the sanctuary's education center.

Yellow Cab Drivers Go On Strike

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — This city's Yellow Cab drivers went on strike early today in protest of the board of supervisors' failure to act on requested fare increases.

The board split 5-5 and then delayed action one week at the end of a special three-hour session last night.

The 1,000 drivers of the big taxicab fleet have been working without a contract since June 1, but management has said it can't improve their current pay package without a fare hike.

Other cab companies here are not involved.

San Francisco Airport was especially hard hit by the walkout since the company has the taxi franchise there and the regular Airporter bus drivers also are on strike.

Vegas Trip Turns Into Nightmare

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — Alabama Atty. Gen. William J. Baxley, considered a likely gubernatorial candidate in 1978, sounded yesterday like a man who wished he had never chosen Las Vegas for a vacation.

Baxley came home $32,000 richer from the blackjack tables, but he conceded yesterday he may have to use the money to find another job.

Baxley apparently has been stung already by public reaction to the news that he labored over the tables for three days and at one point reportedly had run his winnings to $90,000 before the casino management asked him to shift to another game.

The 33-year-old attorney general was not so lucky at baccarat and had lost his winnings down to about $32,000 when he cashed in.

Baxley said he was not a hypocrite about his gambling. "I've never tried to hide anything I did," he said.

But he conceded he already had received some unfavorable comment on his gambling for high stakes.

"The only thing I've got to say ... I've brought it on myself," he said.

Baxley said repeatedly he wished the gambling trip could be forgotten. He seemed to feel the reaction would worsen if the subject were rehashed.

The young bachelor was riding a wave of popularity before the news of his winning streak leaked out.

He escaped opposition in the Democratic primary as he seeks reelection in the November general election. And Time magazine recently listed Baxley as one of only two Alabamians among 200 nationally who could be expected to provide leadership in the future.

Baxley refused to run for governor this year, saying he never would oppose Gov. George C. Wallace. But Wallace cannot seek another term in 1978 and Baxley has been considered a frontrunner in that race.

Baxley has been a stickler for law and order and right prevailing over wrong in his current term in office. Despite the fact that gambling is legal in Nevada, his indulgence in the games of chance could be held against him in Alabama if he seeks higher office.

Impact Tax

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — A select legislative committee on growth, concerned at predictions that Florida's population will double by the 1980's, proposed that newcomers be required to pay an "impact tax" to help support the cost of providing them services.

(Wilderness World photo)

Family Tackles Mother Nature

Marin Women

Tuesday, July 30, 1974 Independent-Journal, 13

By BETH ASHLEY

We've all seen pictures of Super Family rafting through the white waters of America's wildest rivers. Laughing and waiving to the camera.

See how brown they are! How unafraid! How at-home with nature!

Such a picture started this writer's annual flight of fancy, whereby my family is to convert immediately from an insulated, comfort-ridden routine to a life where we prove our mettle in the battle against nature. Goodbye to television, clean sheets and indoor plumbing. Find me a place where we'll walk instead of ride, where people eat roots and berries instead of fried chicken from a red-and-white box.

This Marin family signed up for a weekend rafting trip on the Stanislaus River. More than a thousand other families or singles will have done so by the time summer is over.

By return mail we received a receipt for monies paid (C. $60 per adult, $48 per child) and a list of things-to-bring that rivaled any summer camp list I have ever struggled with. Gamely we hit the surplus store to buy metal cups (with belt hooks), losable forks and knives, plastic ground covers, sunhats (with tie under the chin), a respectable sleeping bag for mother. We packed suntan lotion, insect repellent, and cocktails (for mother) in unbreakable plastic containers.

Unable to cope all-at-once with the concept of wilderness, mother also had her hair fixed and spent the last packing hours trying to decide what shirt looked most fetching with which pair of slacks.

WITH A station wagon packed to the gunwales, we (mother, boy, 10, boy 13) left civilization behind and drove off to our adventure in the wilderness.

We bumped right into a crowd. On this particular Saturday morning at 8 a.m., there were already about 100 adventure-seekers on hand — with a steady stream yet to arrive at the approved gathering place for Stanislaus River-rafters, Parrott's Ferry, a few miles outside the town of Sonora.

The bronze young "god," who was to lead our expedition of 23, directed us to repack our gear in waterproof bags which he supplied. The careful packing of the night before was destroyed in five feverish minutes. To the bottom of the waterproof bags went all the articles we would truly need and would not find again until the trip was over. Then the bags were tossed into the back of a truck, followed shortly in the same random disarray by the 23 adventurers. Feeling not unlike a consignment of cattle we swayed and slid as the truck twisted its way 12 miles upriver to the put-in spot (there's no way out now, till you back to Parrott's Ferry).

Waterproof bags (and distinctly unwaterproofed people) were distributed in the rafts — three in front, two in back, boatman amidship. Five aging young men, who had left their wives and their inhibitions at home, promptly began a water fight with the bailing buckets. Gone, gone was mother's hairdo. Gone, momentarily was her disposition.

The rafts were cut loose from their rope tethers, and in moments, land-based concerns were lost in the deluge. Into the rapids we coursed, our boatmen sure-handed and slightly superior as they heard the first screams of joy and excitement, our first shocked gasps as cold water came washing into the rafts. They were quick to announce that we were heading toward such scary-named obstacles as Devil's Staircase and Widow-Maker Rock. All but our five temporary bachelors stopped cheering and held on for dear life.

THERE WAS no time to enjoy the wilderness scenery. We were bailing. We were bracing. We were asking anxious questions like: "Do we have to go through THAT?"

"If you fall in," our boatman had cautioned, "just relax, lie back in your life preserver, point your legs downstream, and coast. We'll pick you up."

Hah. When tied up at lunchtime, we watched a young woman chute past. She wasn't relaxed. She was screaming. Her legs weren't pointed downstream. They were, like the rest of her body, going round and round and frequently under.

But boatmen indeed know what they are doing. Our young man quickly untied our raft, overtook the frightened woman, dragged her aboard, and deposited her at a calm riverbank downstream, where her rafting party picked her up.

Meanwhile, we watched in amazement as our boatmen unloaded food from huge tin boxes, prepared hearty meat and cheese sandwiches, lemonade and a fresh fruit salad.

They did everything so easily: our confidence came seeping back. (We wer told, too, that the worst of the rapids was behind us.)

IN THE AFTERNOON there was a stopover to swim in a tributary of the Stanislaus, to explore caves and waterfalls, to see Indian grounds and the leavings of an abandoned mining operation. There were a few peaceful stretches of water, where we could enjoy the spectacular scenery of the canyon walls.

At dinnertime, around a campfire where steaks and pilaf and shortcake was being cooked, there was much discussion of the effort to stave off the proposed Melones Dam downriver, which would drown our route and 100 feet of the canyon walls in stored water. (a yes-or-no measure will be on the ballot in November.)

At dinnertime, too, the cocktails came out, and a considerably mellowed group, all ages and backgrounds, began to sing, swap stories and explore the wooded slope.

Our camp spot, unmarked, but acknowledged by other rafters as our territory, was scrupulously clean of refuse despite having been used at least twice a week during the season. We were initiated into the use of the portable toilet, unloaded from one of the rafts and restashed aboard the next morning. Food scraps, too, went back on board, in metal containers. Even cigaret butts had to be carried out with us.

A night under the stars, a hearty breakfast in the morning, and we were back on the river.

By now we were more aware of other river traffic — and there was plenty. A few one-man rafts went by. Adventuresome souls in wet suits, lying on or straddling inflated mats, zipped by in great numbers. Occasionally, on calmer stretches, a swimmer attempted a quick flight downstream. There were paddleboats galore — huge rafts where eight or more oarsmen straddled the side and, amateur or not, tried to navigate the white water. Rafting parties like our own went by,their boats bearing such names as Adventures Unlimited, Wilderness World, American River Touring Association.

AMONG SEEKERS of the rough life, we were definitely in the luxury class, with our own boatmen and catered meals.

We learned at lunchtime we were only two miles from "home" at Parrott's Ferry. Faces fell. By now it was fun; by now we knew we would survive and were lusting after more hazardous waters. But after a few serene stretches (not to be despised) and a drenching run through Chicken Falls, we were back at our starting point.

What's the lesson?

A river trip is fun. A river trip can be hazardous, particularly in early June when the rivers are high.

But licensed boat operators know their rivers, know the ways of the "wilderness", and offer a weekend (or more) that's truly a departure from city life.

AT SONOMA STATE

Education Will Be Exciting

By KAREN PETERSON

Sonoma State College has an unusual school spirit. It may not be visible to those who rate spirit with school songs and cheerleaders, but it's the type of enthusiasm that the college's new president understands very well.

"People love this place," said Dr. Marjorie Downing Wagner, there's "great optimism and affection for this institution."

In many respects, this smiling, open woman is a departure from the picture of the isolated college president. She is a woman who rates the words "emotion" and "individualism" high in her working vocabulary, and she is an administrator who won't sit in a spacious office making decisions for a student body with which she isn't in touch.

She is the first woman ever to head a public, four-year college in California, a fact she feels will encourage other women educators. It may also be possible that she is the first woman president of a public college or university in the country.

She has been an educator for 32 years and believes in honest rapport between students and faculty. She also supports her own parable that "what I learn is what I want to learn affected by how I feel."

Dr. Wagner wants to be a "living part of the institution," and she is already searching for that open "back door" so students can come and go freely with complaints, suggestions and hints for a closer-knit, responsive college environment.

Although few of the 5,500 student population is on campus now, the ones Dr. Wagner has talked to are those she "is most interested in." "The students are very independent," she judged, and when they're independent, they're "highly motivated, open to new ideas, interested in consultation," and she stressed, "not timid."

While she admits she hasn't been there long enough to assess the mood of the campus (she arrived July 1), Dr. Wagner is impressed by a point of view that she sees as a direct spinoff from the college's humanistic psychology department.

It focuses on "individualized, humane goals. . .methods that are essential." That's the thing "that has permeated the campus," said the 57-year-old former English professor and acting president of Scripps College in Claremont.

"People look into your eyes...they'rewarm, open. . .this is a really important thing in this mechanized, technological civilization; an extraordinary thing," she said with excitement.

She is not a newcomer to a school where the student body has a reputation for independence. As a professor in an experimental college within Brooklyn College, Dr. Wagner said she was involved in an "educational situation that was innovative and experimental, where all the students were involved."

"That's why I'm here," she emphasized, "Students have to feel, they have to want to learn." Her enthusiasm for innovative trends in education has led to adamant support of New College in Sausalito where she has just agreed to be a member of the Board of Regents.

A "city person" whose interests are opera, the arts and music, Dr. Wagner, who will live in Santa Rosa, is still sensitive to a major concern at Sonoma State, its rural atmosphere. That, she hopes, will not be changed. "There's much to be said about the architecture," she added, saying that new buildings on campus will be "low profile" and "much more in keeping with the setting."

While the volunteer army and social attitudes have added to a decrease in college enrollments around the country, Sonoma State is keeping a steady growth pattern. The college will grow but at a slower rate, said Dr. Wagner, pointing to preliminary projections of between 6,000 and 8,000 students.

She is slightly amused at the publicity surrounding her appointment, laughing at the expectations of people waiting to see what a woman president will look like.

Yet she is sensitive to women's needs. "As a woman, I am sensitive to the priorities women have," she said, and one of these priorities is child care. A child care facility, she added, will be included in the new College Union building.

A woman has to give up everything to care for her child, said Dr. Wagner, the mother of three teen-agers. There has to be some sort of place, "a supportive place" for the child, she said, that has both education and health programs.

"Women have always been second," said Dr. Wagner of career opportunities, although she believes Sonoma State is one of the few places where a woman could be appointed president.

"We need a woman chancellor sometime," she said at first with hesitancy, adding, "There's no reason why not."

There is not the proportion of women administrators in our schools that there should be, she continued. "When you get into the top (areas of management and education) you find so few women."

"There's no question of the fact that men are still suspicious of women," she said. "It's just plain there.

"I've certainly encountered, and am certain to encounter, discrimination in some form," she added. "People are surprised that women can be as good in a job as a man. They're always under a test. . .(women) have to be twice as good."

Dr. Wagner has seen three decades of students during her teaching career. While each generation of students has had its merits, the students and atmosphere of colleges today excite her.

"Students are probably less authoritarian, less mindlessly respectful of authority. They question authority. . .they have a greater sense of responsibility," she said. The idea of a "four-year ivory tower is way outdated. . ."

As president, Dr. Wagner sees her job as making the college responsive to both the community, the state and the student.

At present, she is involved in two issues confronting the college. The audit on the financial aides office is still being conducted after last year's discovery that the college had given out close to a million dollars to students who did not meet financial requirements. While this is going on, the school will still receive funding for students in need, said Dr. Wagner. No decision on how to pay back the money can be made until the audit is complete, she stresses.

The school has also dropped out of Western Conference athletic competition because of lack of funds. Dr. Wagner, who announced this withdrawal last week, said they are looking into the possibility of staying in without a football team, one of the eight sports required in conference rules. The school has withdrawn for a year, she said, while a study is being conducted on ways to finance inter-collegiate competition.

"All institutions are slow to move," said Dr. Wagner, of the future, "(We) have to be sure education is the central concern (and that it is) kept alive and responsive."

Sonoma State won't get "hardening of the arteries," she vowed, there will be a "continuing process to reassess the goals" of Sonoma and to be sure that "changes are not capricious."

"STUDENTS HAVE TO feel, they have to want to learn," said Sonoma State College's new president, Dr. Marjorie Downing Wagner. After spending 32 years as a teacher, her goal is to strengthen the atmosphere of individualism that has made Sonoma State one of the most popular colleges in California.

ON THE AGENDA

Welcome Wagon Of Marin Will Hold Baby Shower Tomorrow

Welcome Wagon of Marin will have a baby shower tomorrow at 2 p.m. in room 135 at the Holiday Inn in San Rafael.

The shower is free to all expectant mothers in Marin, according to the hostess, Francis Criesco.

Speakers at the shower will be Barbara Cahill of the Education for Childbirth Program, who will discuss prenatal care; Jan Roberts of Woman's Way, who will disucss prenatal care; women; and a representative from a figure salon demonstrating exercises after childbirth.

Reservations can be made by calling the Welcome Wagon office.

FALL FASHIONS will be displayed at a luncheon and fashion show during the national convention of the Navy League in San Francisco.

The fashion luncheon, which will honor Mrs. Ernest A. Carrere Jr. of New Orleans, La., wife of the national president of the Navy League, will begin at 12:30 p.m. Friday at the Stanford Court Hotel in San Francisco.

Judge Agnes O'Brien Smith of San Francisco is fashion show chairman. Marin women assisting on the committee are Mmes. Robert R. Laughead of Mill Valley, William Secor of Larkspur, Ray Bouret of Novato, John Hoefer of Belvedere and Vincent McGarry of Greenbrae.

SAN RAFAEL Assembly 195, International Order of Rainbow for Girls, will initiate new members at a meeting Thursday at 7 p.m. at the Masonic Hall in San Rafael.

Survey Results On Women's Status Being Received

Results of a survey by an ad hoc committee researching the need for a commission on the status of women in Sonoma County are beginning to come in, reports Ann Byrd, chairman of the committee.

Those areas most frequently checked for action include educational opportunities, housing for single women, special needs of the elderly, concerns a minority women, rape and other crimes against women, attitudes of labor unions and full participation of women in unions, job training and counseling, credit problems and women prisoners.

Also checked were employment opportunities for all women regardless of age; specialized counseling and information service for women in the legal, medical, sexual, insure and credit areas; transportation needs which are unique to housewives and mothers, political awareness and participation in the political system, and child care.

GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

Her Birth Control Pills Start A Bitter Battle Over Freedom

RAP:
I'm nearly 20, living in my own apartment and self-supporting. My mother came over to help me redecorate and found my birth control pills in the bathroom.

She went berserk — even though she knows Jim and I have been planning marriage for six months. (She's a head-in-the-sand type.)

She and Dad insist I must come home to live and stop seeing Jim. (Though Dad is a little sheepish, he goes along with Mom.) Of course I won't, but how do I avoid a battle? — MY OWN WOMAN

MOW:
By calmly announcing, "I'm my own woman!" A battle, like a match, burns out if it can't ignite a blaze. — SUE

DEAR MOW:
But it can burn strong enough to leave scars, so be gentle. They'll simmer down when they realize you respect their feelings, even though you can't share them. — HELEN

DEAR HELEN AND SUE:
My dad and his girlfriend are thinking of marriage. That's no problem. She is super sweet and nice and would do anything for me and my brothers.

My problem is my boyfriend's Mom. If they got married, it would mean we'd live together as brother and sister. Should I arrange to live with my aunt? — W.T.L.

DEAR W.:
Why deprive yourself of a great new mother? (Who will also act as a pretty good chaperone.) — SUE

DEAR W.:
. . .And if the romance cools, better you discover that now than after marriage. If it doesn't? Leave that problem to your parents! — HELEN

DEAR RAP:
My girlfriend still has her decorated Christmas tree standing in her apartment. She says she's going to leave it there until she gets a boyfriend as nice as the one who helped her decorate it. So far, three guys haven't passed the test. This is because she keeps hoping the first fellow will come back.

It's getting so dusty you can hardly see that the lights are on. Your opinions, please? — NOT THAT KOOKY

DEAR NTK:
If it isn't a plastic tree, someone should notify the fire department. Christmas lights on tinder dry branches may burn down the apartment building before they heat an old romance. Remember that old story about a woman who kept a lantern burning in her window for 50 years? Can't remember whether her lover ever came back or not, but she sure wasted a lot of oil!

Why doesn't your girlfriend store away her memories with the Christmas tree ornaments and get started on some new memories? — SUE AND HELEN

Towels Add Color To The Bathroom

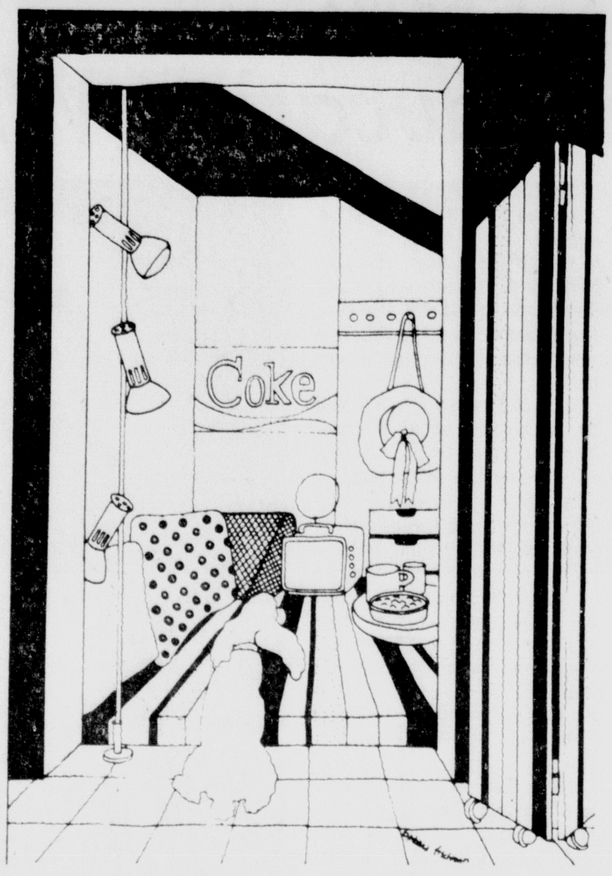

Towels are strong, sturdy standbys that go through laundry after laundry coming out bright and soft and pretty. In fact, today towels are so pretty they can be used to transform a bathroom into something special.

Pick towel patterns and colors to please and build bathroom decor around them. Of course, towels will still be used for drying. But how about turning them into curtains, toilet seat, hamper and wastebasket covers? Make covers so that they attach with snaps or zippers and they will be easy to remove for washing.

Even a plain wall can be made more attractive by framing a towel. This can even be used as a background for interesting bric-a-brac.

Scrap Potholders

Make fanciful potholders from scraps of washable material and padding. Simply follow this basic procedure: 1. Draw patterns on paper or lightweight cardboard — an apple, pear or butterfly for example; 2. Cut around two pieces of fabric placed right sides together; 3. Cut one pattern of padding, leaving no seam allowance; 4. With right sides together stitch, leaving an opening for inserting padding; and 5. Turn, stuff and close seam.

DESIGN FOR LIVING

Hideaway Needs But Little Space

By EMILY MALINO
(Distributed by United Feature Syndicate)

Ever since there were children, there were hideaways. Tree houses, backyard tents and tiny garrets all seemed to meet the need of young children for places of their own.

The development of the family room in this country is an answer to a grown-up need for a family hideaway, but these spaces are often too large to satisfy a small child. I remember having a marvelous secret place as a child, in a low mulberry tree whose branches drooped to the ground, creating a hideaway perfectly in scale with a 9-year-old as well as a source of delectable berries if you beat the birds at their own game.

And my daughter, Betsy, used an old cupboard as a hideaway, when she was 3. It was a cozy spot where she could suck her thumb alone, undistracted (and often undiscovered) by siblings or questioning authority figures.

Even in the average small home it's possible to find a special place for young children. An unused closet can easily be converted; remove the doors, and use a portable screen for a sense of privacy. Once you've carpeted the floor and hung a light or two, let your kids take over and finish the accessorizing.

I designed a kid's corner in a new house, where there was a sizable space under the stairs. This was originally designed as a closet for the family room, which later became unnecessary, when a storage wall was added.

THE CONVERSION was easy. I took the doors and hardware off, opening the closet to the room, painting the insides in bright white and an accent color to emphasize the diagonal ceiling.

For the floor I covered three large foam pads, 3 inches thick, cut to fit the entire closet floor, wall to wall. These I covered in a bold cotton stripe with zippers; the pattern crosses the narrow dimension of the closet, giving it more visual width. It is inviting and has the built-in pleasure of a space where no shoes are allowed.

Just for privacy, I designed a screen with three hinged frames made of one-by-twos. The frames are covered on both sides with the same washable cotton fabric I used on the floor, but they are applied to the frames with velcro, that miracle closer. The whole screen is on casters so it can easily be moved into a strategic cover-up spot when an important party caucus is under way under the stairs.

A tension-pole lamp inside the former closet can be adjusted to illuminate even the most acute angle of this strange new room — pillows of bright patterns.

A hook strip for handy hangups and a changing poster display help convert this tiny leftover into a happy hideaway for two very young ladies, where they can entertain their diminutive friends in the smallest of rooms, scaled to a child's fun and pleasure.

Childbirth Group Will Sponsor Eight Classes

The Education for Childbirth Program will sponsor a series of eight weekly classes for expectant parents beginning Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the physical therapy office of Gunhild Brown in Greenbrae.

Classes will cover exercises to help the expectant mother to be more comfortable during pregnancy, relaxing ahd breathing techniques, posture training and exercises for post natal recovery, according to the instructor, registered physical therapist Margaret Farley.

Instruction will also be given to increase the understanding of the process of pregnancy, labor and birth. Films on childbirth will be shown.

Fathers are encouraged to attend classes for emphasis on the support role played by them. Expectant parents should enroll early in pregnancy; however, enrollment is accepted anytime during the prenatal period.

The program is based mainly on the teachings of Grantley Dick-Read and Mable Lum Fitzhugh, and other popular methods of childbirth training are included.

White For Summer

White is synonymous with summer this year. It's being seen everywhere from early morning to evening in sportswear, dress and party fashions. White looks crisp, bright and lighthearted. To maintain that special sparkle, be sure to wash these garments after each wearing, when it is easier to get them bright white again.

MRS. AND MRS. PAUL A. REEVES

(Photo by Peters Studio)

Suzanne Elyce La Noue and Paul Andrew Reeves, both of San Rafael, were married July 20 at St. Anselm's Catholic Church in San Anselmo.

A reception followed in the garden of the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Donald La Noue, in San Rafael.

Laura Martin of San Rafael was maid of honor. The bridegroom had two best men, Steven Brando and Charles Okey, both of San Rafael.

Guests were ushered to their seats by the bride's brother, John Robert La Noue; the bridegroom's brother, Timothy Reeves; and Russell Dotson, all of San Rafael; and Douglas Beyer of Novato.

Following a wedding trip to Disneyland the couple will live in Novato.

Suzanne was graduated from San Rafael High School and attended College of Marin. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McKean of San Francisco and Mrs. Maurice La Noue of Calumet City, Ill.

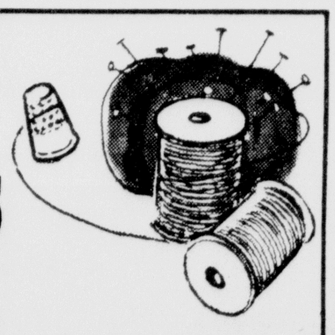

Paul is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Reeves of San Rafael. He is a graduate of Terra Linda High School and attended College of Marin and Indian Valley Colleges. The bridegroom is employed by Fairchild Semiconductor. Joanne and Marin Reeves of San Rafael are his sisters, and he is the grandson of Mrs. John Dillon and Mrs. Andrew Reeves, both of Toronto, Ontario, Canada.

Care Stretches Clothing Life

Growing, active children seem to upset even the most well-planned clothes budget. However, some simple and easy clothes-care rules for parent and child can help to lengthen the life of clothes and to stretch the wardrobe budget.

Never store clothes which are not clean. Teach children to put away their garments properly after wear and to keep a sharp eye out for small mending jobs, such as loose buttons and tears, which should be repaired immediately.

AN HONORARY VOYAGEUR

Georgia Mayor Fined In Shooting

MACON, Ga. (UPI) — A federal judge has ruled Mayor Ronnie Thompson's "shoot to kill" order for police contributed to a young man's wounds and ordered Thompson to join a policeman in paying $50,000 to the boy who was shot.

U.S. District Judge Wilbur Owens yesterday ordered Thompson and patrolman Roger Hall to pay $25,000 each as the result of the wounding of 12-year-old Quinton David Palmer, Feb. 18, 1973.

The judge directed the money be paid individually by Thompson, a candidate for governor, and Hall, and that it not be paid from the city treasury.

Owens said Thompson's order instructed police to "shoot first and ask questions later" while investigating robberies and burglaries if there were the "slightest indications" the officer would be harmed. He said Thompson had abused his authority as head of the fire and police departments.

Hall testified at a hearing April 11 that he felt he was firing at the youth in self defense. He said he and another policeman answered a call to where some boys were reportedly shooting birds and it appeared at one time as if Palmer was turning toward him with a rifle.

The weapon later was identified as a pellet gun and Owens ruled physical evidence demonstrated Palmer was "facing away from the officer" when he was struck in the leg by a shot fired by Hall.

Thompson said the case would be appealed to the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals. He accused the judge of trying to adversely affect his campaign for governor of Georgia.

Consuls To Meet

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Seventeen Mexican consuls based in five American states will meet at Los Angeles in mid-August to discuss a controversy over illegal migrant workers, the government announced last night.

FIRE CALLS

YESTERDAY:

12:56 p.m., Novato — Grass fire at 40 Stirrup Lane burned one acre and did $400 damage to fence posts and shrubbery at Ronald P. Di Beasio and Joseph Sanchez residence; probably caused by children playing with matches.

1:20 p.m., Corte Madera — Camping stove fire at Robert F. Brand residence at 33 Lakeside Drive; caused by loose butane tank connection on stove; minor damage to stove.

1:15 p.m., Santa Venetia — Two simultaneous fires on island at end of Meadow Way; one burned three quarters of an acre of brush and the other one half-acre; cause for both fires unknown; Marin County Fire Department responded.

2:06 p.m., Larkspur — Grass fire on divider strip between Highway 101 and the frontage road near the Lucky Drive exit burned 1,500-square-foot area; cause unknown.

2:14 p.m., Mill Valley — Brush fire at City of Mill Valley corporation yard dump on Sycamore Avenue extension burned 5,000-square-foot area; no damage; possibly set by juveniles playing with matches.

2:40 p.m., Novato — Grass fire burned eight acres of brush and trees at Richard Davis and Fred Colemen properties at 1650-1676 Indian Valley Road; caused by burning cigarette; Marin County Fire Department assisted.

3:01 p.m., Forest Knolls — Car belonging to Barbara Sullivan of Lagunitas caught fire on Montezuma Avenue; $200 damage to interior of vehicle; cause unknown; Marin County Fire Department responded.

3:23 p.m., Petaluma — Report of smoke at Hunt-Behrens Feed Company, 30 Lakeville Street, turned out to be false alarm; caused by malfunctioning equipment.

5:50 p.m., Fairfax — Report of smoke at L. Bigelow home at 83 Live Oak Avenue turned out to be smoke bomb set underneath building; no damage.

8:44 p.m., Santa Venetia — Grass fire burned 200-square-foot area at 631 North San Pedro Road in Santa Venetia; cause unknown; Marin County Fire Department responded.

8:48 p.m., Oak Manor — Stove fire at Barry Dancher residence at 163 Oak Manor Drive; cause unknown; $100 damage to hood of stove and cabinet; Marin County Fire Department responded.

8:54 p.m., Marinwood — Report of smoke at intersection of Lucas Valley Road and Highway 101; firemen found nothing.

10:30 p.m., Santa Venetia — Grass fire burned 600-square-foot area off Meadow Way; Marin County Fire Department responded.

TODAY:

First Aid Course Will Be Presented

The Marin Red Cross Chapter will give instruction Tuesdays from 7 p.m. to 11 p.m. from August 20 through Nov. 26 in advanced first aid and emergency care, including cardiopulmonary resuscitation.

The course, to be held at United Ambulance at 1314 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, will be taught by Andre Yaffe of Tiburon.

Woman Is Found Near Angel Island

The body of a San Mateo woman was found last night by the Coast Guard in waters one half mile west of Angel Island and taken to the San Francisco coroner's office.

Her car was subsequently found parked in the east parking lot at the San Francisco end of the Golden Gate Bridge by her son, who had come to San Francisco "on a hunch" because his mother recently had been despondent about her ill health, according to coroner's clerk Nell W. Twomey.

She was identified today as Dorothy May Lamerdin, 55, of 3429 Monterey Street, San Mateo. Identification was made by her son, Kenneth Lamerdin of Pacifica.

Her body appeared to have been in the water a very short time, according to Mr. Twomey, but it was not known how long she had been missing from home.

$10 Million For 'Godfather' Rights

NEW YORK (UPI) — NBC will show "The Godfather," on two nights this November, and has agreed to pay Paramount Pictures a record $10 million for the privilege, it was announced yeserday.

NBC did not disclose the two air dates for the highly successful film about the Mafia. The film stars Marlon Brando, who won an Academy Award for his performance as the Godfather, as well as Al Pucino and James Caan.

Commission Votes On Open Space

The Novato planning commission last night approved three general classifications for the 477 acres of open space land within the city.

The first classification is for land which, for protection of the public or protection of the land itself, is closed to the public.

The next type of open space is land suitable for such activities as hiking and horseback riding.

The third type of open space is land selected for improvements for specific recreational activities.

These recommendations now go to the Novato City Council for final approval as they were approved last week by the Novato Parks and Recreation Advisory Commission.

In its only other action, the commission set Aug. 12 for a hearing on amendments to the zoning ordinance and Aug. 19 for a special meeting on the sign ordinance.

Visa Expires For New Bride

MOSCOW (UPI) — Diane Nemec Ignashev, 22, won a three-month battle against Soviet red tape to marry her Russian fiance, but yesterday had to leave him behind because her visa expired.

But, said Mrs. Ignashev, daughter of a former Chicago policeman, "We hope we can get together as soon as possible."

She planned to spend a few days with friends in London before flying on to Chicago.

Mrs. Ignashev, who is four months pregnant, said she would initiate emigration procedures for her husband, Sergei, 36, a librarian and translator.

Mrs. Ignashev came to the Soviet Union two years ago to work for an American diplomat. She later got a job with the English-language Moscow News as a translator but was fired after announcing her marriage plans in April.

Scout Council Given Deadline

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — The Boy Scouts of America has until Friday to prepare an explanation for its alleged discrimination against black scouts in troops sponsored by Mormon churches.

The show-cause hearing was scheduled yesterday by U.S. District Court Judge Willis W. Ritter.

Quake In India

NEW DELHI (UPI) — A severe earthquake rumbled across the Indian subcontinent today, sending tremors from New Delhi to the rugged Hindukush mountains between Pakistan and Afghanistan.

New Train Corridor Announced

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Penn Central Transportation Co. has established a Northeast Corridor Region to operate commuter lines in the Philadelphia, North Jersey, Boston and Baltimore-Washington areas and passenger service in the Washington-Boston corridor, it was announced yesterday.

Albert M. Schofield, senior vice president-operations, said the new region also will control all freight train operations on the main lines and branches on which passenger trains operate.

"The Northeast Corridor Region, headquartered at Philadelphia, is passenger oriented and autonomous in its control of train operations and maintenance functions," Schofield said.

"It was set up to improve our service and train performance, both for Amtrak and the commuter agencies for which we operate suburban lines."

Jay M. Gilmore has been appointed general manager of the new region, the eighth in the Penn Central rail system.

Judge Asked To Approve Fraud Case Settlement

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — A federal judge was asked yesterday to approve a $475,000 out-of-court settlement of a civil suit charging former Gov. William W. Scranton and four others with fraud in a 1969 corporate stock offering.

U.S. District Judge John Morgan Davis took the proposal under advisement to study numerous documents submitted by counsel for the class of 1,000 persons.

The five defendants were among 18 persons and four firms originally named in the four-year-old suit.

If approved, the settlement would boost the total of out-of-court agreements in the case to $540,000. Theodore Mann, counsel for the plaintiffs, also filed a petition, seeking $180,000 in fees, or one third of what the plaintiffs hope to recover in the case. He also sought reimbursement of more than $20,000 in costs.

The settlement submitted to Judge Davis involved Scranton, Public Utility Commission Chairman George I. Bloom; State House Republican Whip Matthew Ryan; Craig Truax, House Republican aide and former GOP state chairman; and Vance F. Rigling, vice president of United Municipal Incinerator Corp., the firm cited in the allegedly fraudulent stock offering.

The proposed settlement stemmed from a suit filed by investors in UMIC which was incorporated in 1969. They claimed the firm organized to operate municipal trash disposal systems across the state, but was doomed to fail on the basis of a fraudulent prospectus accompanying its stock offering.

UMIC declared bankruptcy in February, 1972, after lending $3.6 million to three unrelated firms which also failed, the plaintiffs said. The suit charged the prospectus was fraudulent because it failed to reveal the transactions with the three firms.

The proposal submitted to Judge Davis includes the payment of $440,000 in cash or securities with the remaining $35,000 to be paid over a period of three years.

Union Oil Profits Almost Double

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Union Oil Co. made almost twice as much money in the first half of this year as it did in the same period last year.

The company announced yesterday its profits had increased 94.5 per cent from $40.2 million to $79.6 million. Earnings per share increased from $2.34 to $4.82.

President Fred Hartley said increased international activity and the rise in crude oil prices were the main factors in the increase.

Shot Youth Remains 'Critical'

SAN JOSE (AP) — A 19-year-old yokth remained in "extremely critical condition" today, eight days after being shot by an attacker firing from a car driving alongside the victim's automobile.

San Jose police said the grave condition of Elbert E. Head, former Petaluma resident, had precluded attempting to extract a bullet from his brain for ballistics identification of the weapon.

Police said Head was driving with four young women companions on an East San Jose street when the attack occurred July 22.

After Head was shot the car went out of control and crashed into a light pole and stopped. The four passengers escaped injury.

Police said witnesses reported the shot was fired into Head's car by a young man about 19 years old and accompanied by a younger woman.

Officers said no clue had been developed on identity of the attacker and no clear motive for the shooting had been established.

Head is the son of Jerry Head, former Petaluma resident now living in Guam. He had come to California to enroll in college next fall.

Young Head grew up in Petaluma, attending local schools, including Petaluma and San Antonio high schools. He left the latter school when he was 18, an official said, and went to Guam.

The father has flown from Guam to be by his son's bedside at Alexian Brothers Hospital.

San Rafael Girl Molested In Park

An 11-year-old Marin City girl was molested in a San Rafael playground Sunday afternoon, police reported today.

San Rafael police said the girl was playing at Davidson School about 3 p.m. Sunday when molested by a man described as about 40, five feet, eight inches tall, weighting about 180 pounds. He wore a white shirt with brown stripes and brown trousers, police said.

U.S. Comes To Aid Of Nation Invaded For Oil In War Game

FT. POLK, La. (UPI) — Twelve thousand soldiers and 100 jet fighters covered an area of Central Louisiana 110 miles by 90 miles today in a war games maneuver designed to show how the United States might come to the aid of a country invaded for its oil reserves.

The United States Readiness Command initiated the exercise, known as Brave Shield IX, yesterday when five special forces teams of a dozen men each from Ft. Bragg, N.C., parachuted under cover of darkness to the Peason Ridge Area of Ft. Polk.

"They're out there in those piney woods finding bases to work from," Sgt. Maj. Bill Curry said. "You can get 25 feet away from somebody out there and you can't see or hear them."

Curry said in Brave Shield, Ft. Polk is situated in the central region of the mythical country of Alexandria on the continent of Noran.

Midland, a belligerent nation to the west, he said, "has long coveted the petroleum resources of Alexandria and relations between the two countries have deteriorated to the point that Midland has mounted a military offensive to obtain the oil."

The United States supports Alexandria, Curry said, and has a bilateral defense treaty with the besieged mythical country.

According to the scenario, Midland attacked Alexandria June 24 and for a time succeeded in containing the attack and was preparing a counteroffensive.

However, Midland received help from third-country mercenaries and has regained the initiative and Alexandria can no longer hold out. Under treaty commentments, said Curry, Alexandria requests aid from the United States.

Woodcock Denies Colson's Story On Checking Hoffa

DETROIT (UPI) — United Auto Workers Union President Leonard Woodcock yesterday denied a statement by former White House aide Charles Colson that he asked restrictions be placed on the union activities of James Hoffa when he was freed from prison by President Nixon.

"It's absurd on its face," Woodcock said in a news conference.

Woodcock said the extent of his involvement with the release of the former Teamsters president from a federal penitentiary was to ask administration officials to consider a commutation for Hoffa.

Hoffa was serving a 13-year sentence for mail fraud and jury tampering.

Colson stated in a recent television interview that it was the suggestion of Woodcock and George Meany, AFL-CIO president, that Hoffa be barred from union activities until 1980 as a condition of his release from prison in December, 1971.

"For Mr. Colson to say this, leads me with a certain lack of charity to conclude that inside the new Colson the old Colson is still lurking about," Woodcock said.

Nun Is Helped In Congress Bid

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Sister Mary Anne Guthrie got some help yesterday in her bid to become the first Catholic nun to sit in Congress when one of her five opponents in the Democratic primary withdrew.

"We're giving her everything," Flanagan said. "I even have a breakfast scheduled and paid for that I am giving to her."

Incumbent Republican Rep. Dan Kuykendall of Memphis has three opponents in the GOP primary. The election is Thursday.

Annual Fuchsia Show Scheduled

The Marin County branch of the American Fuchsia Society will hold its annual fuchsia show Sunday from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Livermore Room at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross.

Robert Castro, an Oakland hybridist, will show his latest varieties and Claude Robison of Kentfield and Helen Cella of Petaluma will display fuchsia lore.

There will also be displays of fuchsia plants, blooms and arrangements and sale of boutique, junktique items and plants.

FIX YOUR OWN BIKE

Gears Let You Go Most Anywhere

Front derailleur

Rear derailleur

By DAVID F. SALISBURY
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

(second of seven articles)

Not too long ago, bikes had only one gear. But with 10 speeds the modern biker can go almost anywhere. Even the ruggedness of the Canadian Rockies cannot withstand a determined onslaught.

Unlike a three-speed, with its gears buried in the rear hub, 10-speed gear changers are out in the open, which makes them simple to adjust and repair. They are called by the French name, "derailleur," because they derail the chain to move it from one sprocket to another.

In principle, both front and rear derailleurs do the same job. But because the rear one selects among five gears and also has the task of keeping the chain taut, it is more complicated.

The best way to understand how derailleurs work is to watch them in action. Block up the real wheel of your bike so it spins freely. Shift through the gears while turning the pedals.

The front shifter is a cage around the chain with flat plates on either side. These are curved to push the chain smoothly from one sprocket to another.

The rear derailleur is basically a box with two sides missing and pivots at each of four corners. This is used because as it moves it keeps the jockey wheels lined up with the gears so the chain will not bind.

Better derailleurs have two adjustment screws. (Others have only one.) They limit the distance the cage can travel. Most derailleur problems come from it slipping out of adjustment or from weakened springs. Only when these are not corrected do bigger problems develop.

The rear gearshift has three springs (see illustration). The traversing spring pushes the derailleru out as the cable is loosened. The others keep the chain in tension.

Here are a few common problems:

Shifts beyond the small sprocket. Caused by slipping adjustment screw. Center the cage over the sprocket. Tighten the right limit screw until it becomes difficult to turn. Shift back and forth, making sure the cage does not rub when the chain is on the inside back sprocket.

Does not shift onto small sprocket. There are two possible problems here. It may be that the adjustment screw is too tight. Loosen a turn at a time. The other possibility is that the control cable is too tight. In this case, shift chain on the sprocket. Loosen anchor bolt. Push gearshift lever as far forward as possible.

Shifts beyond large sprocket. Tighten adjustment screw.

Does not shift onto large sprocket. Again, two possibilities. First check adjustment. Control cable may be loose. Follow the same steps as above for a too-tight cable. Otherwise, the derailleur may have twisted on the frame: The sides of the chain guide will not be parallel to the chain wheels. Loosen bolts holding it to frame, reposition, tighten bolts.

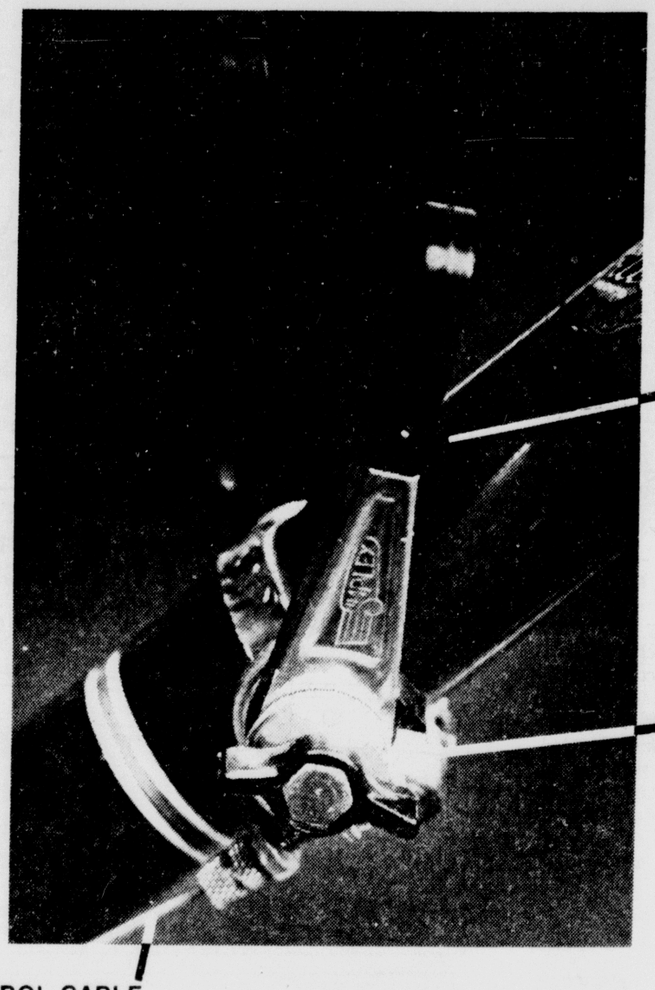

Shifts beyond small or large sprockets. Either an adjustment problem (and so should be handled similarly to front derailleur) or the derailleur may be bent. Check alignment between the jockey wheels and gear cluster. In every gear the wheels should line up with the sprockets. If not, the derailleur must be bent back into position. Gently.

Chain does not stay on small sprockets. Usually caused by faulty control cable tension adjustment at the base of the levers you shift with. You will find either a wing nut or a screw there; try alternately tightening and loosening it. If the adjustment loosens as you move the lever, then the problem should be the washer that separates the two. This should have a tab that fits into a slot to keep it from turning with the lever. Loosen tension screw. Make sure the tab is in place. Tighten back up.

Slips in high gear under pressure. Check the gear cluster. The teeth may be worn, the cluster bent, or the threads that hold it onto the wheel stripped. Probably should replace the cluster. Can also happen when the derailleur is not taking up chain slack correctly. If derailleur pivots stiffly, the pivot bolt may be too tight. If there is no tension, the spring must be tightened or replaced.

NEXT—Tires.

Painter Will Demonstrate Fresco Art

Bernard Baruch Zakhein, the artist whose frescoes cover the inner walls of Coit Tower in San Francisco, will demonstrate the ancient painting technique Aug. 11 at the Evolution Art Institute's second annual midsummer day celebration.

The institute, located on an old farm at 6030 Roblar Road, about five miles northeast of Petaluma, is an art school where used material is recycled into art and where skills and crafts of bygone days are kept alive, according to spokesman Greer Upton.

The midsummer day celebration, she said, is a benefit for the school which includes films of its programs and a lunch featuring organically-grown turkey and vegetables raised at the institute.

The celebration is tentatively set to begin at 10 a.m., with lunch at 2 p.m.

Tiburon Planners To Discuss Report

The Tiburon Planning Commission will continue its hearing on the environmental impact report on a downtown development proposal from Sequoia Pacific of Santa Ana tomorrow at 8 p.m. at city hall.

The development would lie on 36 acres of land owned by Southern Pacific Railroad and would include an inn-conference center, offices, shops, marina, parking garages and several housing complexes.

Group Is Organizing To Save Mill Valley

A group of Mill Valley residents is starting a Save Mill Valley Association "to stop the deterioration of downtown Mill Valley into a tourist attraction and bar town," according to organizer William Rouverol.

Rouverol, of 52 Lovell Avenue, said the group's first meeting will be tomorrow at 7:15 p.m. at the Mill Valley Library.

He and a dozen volunteers this week will pass out 4,000 handbills about the meeting to residents.

Rouverol said one objective of the group would be to end live entertainment at downtown bars.

Most participants so far, like Rouverol, are residents of homes and apartments near the downtown area.

A statement released by Rouverol said, "the unique quiet charm and small town character of the Mill Valley area are being threatened by on-going commercialization directed toward drawing tourists to the town for quick profits for the backers of bars, night clubs, restaurants and luxury item shops."

Doctor Requests Permit For Fill

Dr. C. J. Peetz, co-owner of the Madera Pet Hospital at 5796 Paradise Drive in Corte Madera, has applied to the Army Corps of Engineers for a permit to fill a ponding area behind the hospital.

Dr. Peetz stated in his permit application that the proposed fill site, approximately a quarter-acre, is an artificial drainage pond remaining from a somewhat larger area formerly used by the Town of Corte Madera for water storage.

He has already received a permit for the proposed fill from the town.

Persons who feel that they would be adversely affected by the issuance of a permit for the proposed fill may request a public hearing or submit their comments in writing by Aug. 21 to the Army Corps of Engineers, 100 McAllister Street, San Francisco.

Sanitary District Budget Up

The Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District board last night approved its 1974-75 budget of $286,334, up about $42,000 from last year.

The new budget will be financed with the same tax rate as last year — 16 cents per $100 assessed valuation, according to board secretary Edwin S. Long.

Long said the increases in spending were due to the need to hire another employee and to a requirement that more expensive chemicals be used in sewage treatment.

Budget categories include $177,350 for operating expenses, $34,996 for administration, $47,788 for bond interest and principal and $26,200 for capital outlay.

Lawyer's Contempt Sentence Overturned

Novato attorney Robert D. Carrow's conviction on two counts of contempt of court for remarks made during the Ruchell Magee trial a year ago has been overturned.

The three-judge State Court of Appeals reversed the conviction Friday, sparing Carrow a 10-day jail sentence and a $1,000 fine.

Superior Court Judge Martin Colvin had held Carrow in contempt for remarks made during the kidnap and murder trial of Magee in February and March of 1973.

While cross-examining a witness, Carrow said, "your honor, I submit this trial is becoming a 'joke.'" And during closing arguments, Carrow twice mentioned the penalty for kidnapping in apparent violation of a court order.

The appeals court ruled Carrow's first remark may have been "ill-chosen" but was not an expression of disrespect for the judge.

In the second case, there was not enough evidence to show Carrow knew he was not permitted to mention Magee's possible punishment, the appeals court ruled.

Firemen Plan Fewer Blazes At Hamilton

Hamilton Air Force Base, which has been setting more than 100 fires a year to the tune of complaints from homeowners around it, yesterday cut the number to about 15 a year.

The latest round of angry telephone calls to the base came yesterday as the last of six surplus buildings was gutted by firemen brushing up on their art.

No further buildings have been declared surplus, thus no more such practice sessions by firemen are scheduled, a spokesman said.

Crash training on the flight line, however, will continue, with about four fires each quarter throughout the year. These practice fires, required by Air Force regulation, last 30 to 45 seconds and are concentrated in a two-week period each three months, the spokesman said.

Up to 1,000 gallons of fuel are burned in each of these fires, he added.

Each of the six surplus buildings burned over the past two years was ignited 25 to 30 times. Fire departments from throughout Marin participated in the training sessions. The surplus buildings were one and two-story wooden World War II "temporary" structures.

All of the burns were approved by the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District, which timed them for low-pollution days, the base spokesman stressed.

Bus-Truck Crash Toll Reaches 74

BELEM, Brazil (UPI) — The death toll rose to 74 yesterday from a headon collision between a bus and a truck about 250 miles south of the city of Belem, capital of the state of Para, police said.

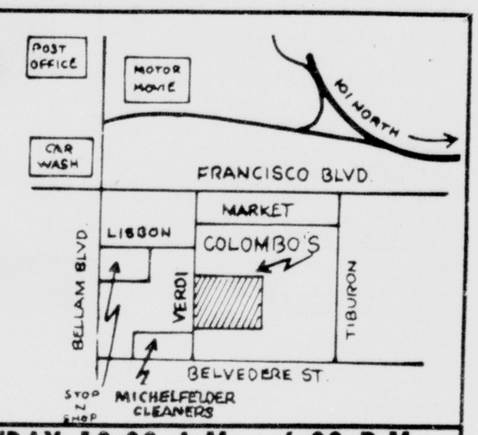

Police said the bus, which was carrying approximately 80 passengers, was traveling between the cities of Marabah and Belem when it collided with a truck laden with timber logs.

Marin Residents Are Art Winners

Two Marin residents have been named winners in the annual State Fair Art Show competition for the 121st California State Fair which will be held in Sacramento Aug. 23 through Sept. 8.

The winners are Betty Jo Norton of Larkspur, honorable mention in the paintings division, and Nelcy Tarics of San Rafael, honorable mention in the prints division.

Groppi Leads Protest Of Eagles Club

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — The Rev. James E. Groppi is marching again.

The controversial priest, who made national headlines in his civil rights battles in the late 1960s, and eigtt others picketed last night in front of the Eagles Club here where the 76th annual convention of the national Fraternal Order of Eagles is being held.

"There are no blacks in this club and we don't agree with that policy of letting local chapters have exclusionary clauses," Groppi told newsmen as he marched.

In 1966, Groppi and the Youth Council of the Milwaukee Branch of the NAACP began a series of marches to protest the club's ban against white members. It wasn't until 1970 that the national group decided to leave to local clubs the option of whether to admit nonwhites.

Groppi also said he was irritated that Cardinal Terence Cooke of New York City was scheduled to speak at the Eagles convention here.

"He's sanctioning this policy by his presence here," Groppi said.

Alaska To Set Up Point System

JUNEAU (AP) — Commercial fishermen would be able to get into Alaska in much the same way as soldiers got out of the U.S. Army during World War II, under a point system proposed by the state.

A commission created to limit entry into the state's fisheries has devised an intricate formula designed to bring the number of boats into line with the size of depleted stocks.

Fishermen from Washington, Oregon and California would be treated the same as Alaskan anglers under the proposed formula. It is due for a series of public hearings before it takes effect on Jan. 1.

The moon is approaching its full phase. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Jupiter and Saturn. The evening star is Mars.

Automobile pioneer Henry Ford was born July 30, 1863.

On this day in history:

In 1937, the American Federation of Radio Artists was organized as a unit of the AFL.

In 1942, President Franklin D. Roosevelt signed a bill creating a female branch of the U.S. Navy. The women sailors, not assigned to combat duty, were called "WAVES."

In 1967, reports from behind the "Bamboo Curtain" told of a mass purge of the Red Chinese army.

In 1971, Apollo 15 astronauts David Scott and James Irwin landed on the moon for a second U.S. lunar exploration.

A thought for the day: British statesman John Morley said, "You have not converted a man because you have silenced him."

South Strays From Cards And Finds Himself In Deep Trouble

When you want to locate a key card, it may help to glance winningly at an opponent and murmur, "A beautiful girl like you really ought to have the king of clubs." This won't help if your wife is your partner or if both opponents happen to be tough curmudgeons of the male persuasion. Logic may then work better than flattery.

TAKE A LOOK

East won the first trick with the king of diamonds and returned a trump. South drew trumps with the ace and queen and then wondered whether to lead a heart or a club from dummy.

Since East was a rather attractive young lady, South tried the winning glance and the murmur. East batted her eyelashes and simpered, whereupon South led a low club from dummy.

Alas — women were ever deceivers. The queen of clubs lost to the king, and back came a club. Now South was sure to lose two clubs, a heart, and a diamond. Down one.

LOGIC WORKS

Now try logic. Assume that East has one of the missing kings. If you try clubs first and your guess is wrong, you may go down.

Think of trying the hearts first. If East has the king of hearts, your guess will be right, and you will make the game easily.

Next suppose the worst. You lead a low heart from dummy and it turns out that you have guessed wrong for West captures your queen with the king of hearts. You are still in good shape since you can still get back to dummy and lead a club toward the queen.

If you try hearts first, you are safe no matter which king East has. If you try clubs first, you may go down. The brain is mightier than the simper.

You hold:
♠ - Q 8 7 5 4
♥ - A 7 6 4
♦ - 8
♣ - A 10 6

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid three spades.

A jump to four spades would show not more than nine points in high cards. In this case you have 10 of the juiciest possible points — two aces and the queen of trumps. You might easily miss a cold slam by making the shutout bid of four spades.

Nixon TV Rehearsal Revealed

By JAY SHARBUTT

NEW YORK (AP) — The White House denied in June reports President Nixon had rejected a proposed long-range financing bill for public broadcasting. But a key advisor who sent him the bill says Nixon did turn it down, if only temporarily.

He's Dr. Clay T. Whitehead, who was instrumental in persuading Nixon, through Gen. Alexander Haig Jr., the President's top aide, to send the measure intact to Congress this month.

But Whitehead, chief of the White Office of Telecommunications Policy for nearly four years, admits he was startled when he learned of Nixon's initial decision.

He said it consisted only of "a short notification that he had not approved the bill. It didn't make any sense in view of the previous involvement he's had in the public broadcasting matter."

He referred to administration efforts to decentralize public broadcasting and emphasize more of a "grass-roots" approach.

The bill, aimed at insulating public broadcasters from undue government pressure and the vagaries of annual funding, would provide up to $440 million over a five-year period, but on a matching basis of $1 for every $2.50 the broadcasters raised from nonfederal sources.

Whitehead said its initial rejection was puzzling because it previously had support from Nixon, who "knew what we were doing, why we were doing it and that public broadcasting had changed markedly . . .

"The bill we were able to work out with them public broadcasters reflected a lot of his concerns and would have reduced the anger that this could turn into a government-funded television network."

He said it made certain that local stations had a strong role in national public broadcasting and that it generally "was very consistent with the 'New Federalism' approach Mr. Nixon has advocated for so many years."

Whitehead, who said Nixon's initial decision came without elaboration, said he argued the case for the bill with Haig, but not with the President personally.

He said he later received a White House memo that said, "The President has approved your proposal." He said it also was without elaboration, but that he hasn't tried to learn the whys of the reversal.

He said that now that White House debate on the bill has ended, he thinks the measure stands a good chance of passage, even though it has unique provisions Congress rarely sees in a financing bill.

It combines both authorization for spending and appropriation of the funds in the same document, he said. The two steps usually are voted on separately by the Congress.

California Oil Searches Increase

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — With the price of gasoline skyrocketing, the number of exploratory natural gas and oil wells in California has nearly doubled in the last year, a state official said today.

John Matthews, head of the state's Division of Oil and Gas, said the number of wells has risen from 650 a year ago to 1,250.

"There are people out there looking for more oil," Matthews said, adding that additional production in natural gas and oil will tend to decrease California's dependence on foreign oil supplies and possibly result in lower gasoline prices.

He said the new drillings—being financed by both independent and large oil companies—are "occurring mostly on private land."

The wells are being sunk mostly in the southern San Joaquin Valley in the Bakersfield-Taft area, Matthews said.

Matthews said the lower gasoline prices could result because domestic crude oil is cheaper than foreign oil—and the savings could be passed on to the consumer.

All new crude oil production in California will alleviate gasoline, diesel, and household heating oil shortages that the division is predicting.

The division put out a report in early 1973 which pointed out the demand for gasoline and diesel fuel will exceed the refining capacity and supply in 1975.

"We're sticking with this prediction," Matthews said. "It was made before the Arab oil embargo and did not take that factor into consideration."

Matthews said although there was a decrease in the amount of gasoline used by California motorists following shortages during the early months of this year, it now appears that traffic on highways is again increasing.

He said the number of tolls being paid on Bay Area bridges is up again.

Also, he warned, oil refineries will begin their annual shift next month from gasoline to household heating fuels to begin stockpiling for the cold winter months.

Author Erich Kaestner Dies At 75

MUNICH (UPI) — Erich Kaestner, the satirist, social critic and author, whose "Emil and the Detectives" was translated into 27 languages, died early today in a Munich hospital. He was 75.

Kaestner won world fame with his children's tale about the boy Emil who on his first trip to a big city, traps a thief with the help of new friends. The book published in 1930 and illustrated by cartoonist Walter Trier, was produced on the stage and filmed the following year.

A liberal humanist, Kiestner attacked and angered the Nazi movement in the early 1930's and told an interviewer he was tempted to go into exile like so many friends when Adolf Hitler came into power in 1933.

But he chose "the inner emigration" and remained in Germany as an eyewitness soon branded "undesirable and politically unreliable" by the Nazi authorities, Kaestner stood among the crowd on May 10, 1933 and witnessed the burning of his books.

Time and again the Nazis tried to enlist Kaestner for propaganda purposes, but he refused and twice, in 1934 and 1937, he was detained by the Gestapo.

After the war Kaestner settled in Munich, living in a small house outside the city.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Slick Pro, All-American Team To Sell Book On TV

By FRANK S. SWERTLOW

Not only do countless commercials float across the screen, but there is also an endless line of celebrities who plug records, films and, of course, themselves.

One of the classier groups of TV salesmen are authors. They may range from the likes of Norman Mailer and Truman Capote to lesser known entities who have a current or controversial subject.

Two of these pitchmen who may be appearing on your screen during the next few months are Harry Lorayne and Jerry Lucas. They are selling "The Memory Book,' a guide for better memory.

They are an odd couple. Lucas was once a professional basketball player and an All American at Ohio State. In salesmanship that means credibility. All Americans don't lie or cheat. You can trust them.

Lorayne, on the other hand, is a smooth and polished entertainer, but, perhaps, a bit too theatrical, especially in his rapid fire, machine gun way of speaking. Fast talkers may make citizens west of the Hudson River uneasy.

JERRY LUCAS
TV book hawker

"We have a chemistry," said Lorayne, who has been in the memory business for 28 years. "We work well together.

"I'm urbane and Jerry is a Midwesterner. When he speaks, he reaches different people. When I speak, I reach people who believe me. Jerry has name value —he's an All American —that's why I took him in."

During Lorayne's years as a solo performer, he chatted with Jack Paar, Mike Douglas, Johnny Carson, Ed Sullivan and Merv Griffin. He also toured the smaller shows.

At first he was promoting himself, as a sort of "Mr. Memory," then he turned to writing and was on the bestseller charts with a series of books on memory.

Lucas met Lorayne for the first time after he was traded to New York. Their first meeting lasted for 18 hours and they later decided on a partnership when Lucas retired.

Before or afterwards, the five-foot, six-inch Lorayne and the six-foot, eight-inch Lucas discuss the philosophy of memory.

Reagan Will Support Anti-Election Suit

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan says he supports a lawsuit filed by a San Francisco supervisor to halt a special Assembly election in which the winner would serve only three weeks at a time when the Legislature is out of session.

The governor made his statement after Kopp won a temporary restraining order from Superior Court Judge Clayton Horn that blocked further preparations for the election Oct. 8.

Reagan said he will ask Attorney General Evelle Younger to support the suit.

JUNIOR THEATER OFFERING

Concert Of Mainstream American Music Planned

By FRED STREBEIGH

The mainstream is a rich, muddy melange of tributary waters, carrying the themes and styles of other times and places, according to Michael Smith, musicologist and composer.

The 30-year-old Smith has been researching that music, preparing the script for a concert Saturday at 7:30 p.m. Entitled "American Music Retrospective," the unusual concert, to be narrated by Scott Beach, will be a highlight of Forest Meadows Center of the Arts 10-day conclave of concerts, lectures and practice sessions through Aug. 11. Dominican College in San Rafael has made its outdoor amphitheater available for this and the other musical events.

Smith said the program will trace the mainstream of American music from Colonial times to the present, paying all respect to the reflection first of European music and later of the West Indies, Negro spirituals and Appalachian bluegrass music.

It will include excerpts from the bastardized form of "ballad opera" of the 1790s, from Scott Joplin's "whorehouse music" rags of the 1890s, to George Gershwin's folk opera "Porgy and Bess" written in 1935, Smith said.

MICHAEL SMITH
Writing concert narrative

Each of these forms was anathema to "high brows" or musical purists of its time, Smith said, "but time has allowed us to stop being snobs about certain kinds of music."

Smith said some of the performances will be staged so as to give the Forest Meadows audience a feeling for how they were originally performed.

Samuel Arnold's 1791 ballad opera "The Aggreable Surprise" will be performed like a "play within a play," Smith said, with an audience on stage in period dress eating, drinking, and carrying on as was the custom of the period.

Another form of eclectic music, Smith said, was the piano rags of Scott Joplin which, including "The Entertainer," were disdained in 1890s America as "whorehouse music because black people created and played it in the red light districts."

While highbrows here sniffed at it, Smith said, it was becoming popular in Europe and being reimported, until its combination of African rhythms and European harmonies finally gained legitimacy as 1920s "jazz."

Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess," Smith said, has suffered a similar problem because of the efforts of its Brooklyn-born composer to draw on characters and music foreign to him — that of the tenements of the Black South.

Because the characters of the 1935 play, which was popular at that time, are embarrassing stereotypes, Smith said it has been relegated largely to Europe as Joplin's piano rags had been "because white people in this country were so uptight about it."

The theme of the retrospective, Smith said, is that the American musical tradition may be muddy, but it is nothing to be embarrassed about.

The concert will also include a string quartet, reputedly written by Benjamin Franklin, a selection of Stephen Foster songs, and the hoedown scene from Aaron Copland's "The Tender Land."

The concert will be at 7:30 p.m. outdoors in the Forest Meadows Amphitheater at Dominican College. Information may be obtained from the Forest Meadows Center.

Suspect Held In Fires Fatal To Priest, 67

NEW YORK (UPI) — A 56-year-old man, released from police custody in Washington less than two weeks ago, was arrested early today on charges of setting a church fire that killed a priest last night.

The suspect, Gordon Earl Marais, also was accused of setting minor blazes at two other Manhattan churches. According to police, he was crouching near a fourth church on West 42nd Street when he was arrested about 4:15 a.m.

Police believe Marais is the man who telephoned United Press International and the New York Daily News last night and early this morning, identifying himself as "Zodiac" and vowing to set churches ablaze in a personal vendetta on the Roman Catholic Church.

Two of the fires were at Roman Catholic Churches and the third was at an Episcopal Church.

Marais, a thin, short man with graying hair, was taken into custody by Secret Service agents in Washington on July 19 after threatening to break into an unidentified foreign embassy. Federal sources said he was turned over to local District of Columbia metropolitan police. He reportedly also was wanted on an unspecified charge in California.

The Rev. Thomas Smith, 67, died of apparent smoke inhalation in the first blaze, a three-alarm fire which broke out at 9:51 p.m. in the century-old rectory of St. Vincent Ferrer Church at 65th Street and Lexington Avenue. Another priest and a firefighter were treated at a local hospital and released. Another 20 priests and friars were rescued.

Some 10 minutes after the fire was reported, an unidentified caller phoned UPI claiming responsibility for setting the blaze, and saying that he was "unleashing a tirade against the Catholic church."

The man said he was the "Zodiac" killer.

Federal sources doubted if the suspect had any connection with the West Coast "Zodiac" case in which some 10 persons were murdered by a man who had sporadic contact with the media.

In the second blaze last night, a man telephoned the Daily News at about 11:30 p.m., saying "This is Zodiac" and announcing he had set a small rubbish fire in the doorway of the Church of the Ascension Episcopal at Fifth Avenue and 10th Street, in Greenwich village. Three minutes later, a small fire on the steps of the church was reported.

At 3:55 a.m., a third fire was discovered smoldering on the roof of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, 145 W. 46th St. Minutes later, a Daily News reporter received another call from the man warning that another blaze would be set.

A radio alarm for Marais based on a description provided by the FBI was broadcast and two patrolmen spotted the suspect and placed him under arrest about 4:14 a.m.

Police said Marais' finger tips were taped in an apparent effort to avoid leaving fingerprints.

Marais two weeks ago told a UPI reporter he stole a Greyhound bus in Washington, D.C., and drove it to the New Jersey side of the Holland Tunnel, where he abandoned it with brake trouble. Greyhound officials and police confirmed that the bus had been stolen.

Marais said he was a jewel importer working out of Carteret, N.J.

Nominations For Emmys Announced

BEVERLY HILLS (AP) — ABC has been nominated for 28 Emmys for religious and children's programming and news and documentary writers, directors and creative crafts. CBS got 18 nominations and NBC seven.

Of the 64 nominations announced yesterday, nine went to public broadcasting and two to syndicated programming.

Robert F. Lewine, president of the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences, said nominees for news and documentary programs and broadcasters would be announced Aug. 19. Winners will be named Sept. 4 on a nationally televised program from ABC's New York studios.

A filmed segment of the shoot-out in south-central Los Angeles between six members of the Symbionese Liberation Army and authorities, which was broadcast on the "CBS Evening News" the night after the May 17 gunbattle, was nominated for "best cinematography in a regularly scheduled news program" and for film editing. But live coverage of the shootout by KNXT-TV of Los Angeles was not included in the academy's final nominations.

Two popular CBS children's series, "The Electric Company" and "Sesame Street," got four and three nominations respectively.

Maternity Leave Ruling Is Made

DETROIT (AP) — Female employees forced to take maternity leave are entitled to unemployment compensation benefits, a federal judge has ruled.

U.S. District Judge Charles Joiner declared unlawful yesterday the practice of denying benefits under the Michigan Employment Security Act to women workers forced off their jobs solely because of mandatory maternity leave policies or similar clauses in their contracts.

In ruling on the class action suit filed by the United Auto Workers, Joiner ordered the MESC to reopen claims of all employees who have been denied jobless benefits from and after April 5, 1972.

Bank's Sign Is Really Hot Stuff

RADFORD, Va. (AP) — It was hot, but was it really all that hot?

People in the habit of glancing up at the First Merchants National Bank gasped for air when they read at 11:10 a.m. yesterday that the mercury had soared to 195 degrees.

The real temperature was only 95 degrees, but a malfunctioning sign had added 100 degrees to the reading on the bank.

By 4 p.m., however, it had cooled down to 192.

Benefit Planned By Cancer Society

The Marin chapter of the American Cancer Society will hold a benefit dinner-dance Sunday from 5 p.m. to 10 p.m. at Deer Park Villa in Fairfax.

In addition to live dance music, Madame Tanya of the Old West Arcade, San Anselmo, will perform palm and tarot card readings. Tickets can be obtained from the American Cancer Society office in San Rafael.

Laser Cuts Tonsils Out Painlessly

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Laser beams are taking the pain out of throat operations, according to an assistant Tulane University medical professor.

Dr. Roland J. French told the 79th annual National Medical Association meeting yesterday he performed more than 50 operations using a laser beam rather than a scapel.

"It was surprising that none of the patients had dysphagia (difficulty in swallowing) after surgery," said French, who was the pioneer in using laser beams in tonsillectomies.

"None of the patients required narcotics for analgesia. Some of the patients experienced no pain, others only mild discomfort.

"The laser does not damage cells adjacent to the target. The operation is rapid because there is little need for hemostatic measures. If a vessel does bleed, it can often be controlled by exposure to the laser beam."

French said his patients ranged between 3 and 42 years old and it was the older patients who were "startling, since the postoperative course of the adult who has had a tonsillectomy is usually marked by excruciating pain and dysphagia.

"We feel that this procedure represents an improvement in tonsil surgery," he said.

UC Scientists Accorded Honor

BERKELEY (UPI) — Fourteen faculty scientists at the University of California have been elected to membership in the National Academy of Sciences.

Arts And Crafts Fair Scheduled

An arts and crafts fair, sponsored by the Environmental Action Committee of West Marin, will be held Aug. 10 and Aug. 11 from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on the Inverness Fire House green.

Local artists and craftsmen will sell their wares, there will be music by wandering minstrels, dramatic skits by the Dance Palace Players of Point Reyes Station and Flamenco dancing by the "El Cuadro Troupe." Food will also be available.

They Came To See The Men On Skis

As is the case in most other sports, women's purses in water skiing are smaller than purses for men. And regardless of what the women's lib people say, this should be so.

The point was proven last weekend at Berkeley Aquatic Park where the fifth annual California International Cup water ski tournament was held.

The tournament was changed this year. Instead of men's and women's events being mixed both Saturday and Sunday, the women's events were held Saturday and the men's Sunday. A small turnout of 2,000 showed up for the women's events. Three times this number attended the men's events on Sunday.

THE $15,000 PRIZE money was split so that first place in men's events was worth $1,000, second $600, third $400, fourth $300 and fifth $200. First place for women was good for $600, second $400 and third $200. Overall winner in men, which turned out to be Wayne Grimditch of Hillsborough, Fla., got an additional $1,000 and women's overall winner — Maria V. Carrasco of Caracas, Venezuela, picked up an additional $600.

The fact is: more people attend the men's events because they jump farther and their slalom skiing is more spectacular. Since more fans attend the men's events, the larger purses are justifiable.

MEMBERS OF THE Ladies Professional Golf Association have been fighting for larger purses but the same holds true. . .until the women draw as large a crowd as men, purses should not be equal. That hold true whether the sport is tennis, golf or water skiing.

Jaap Suyderhoud of San Anselmo, chairman of the Cal Cup tournament committee, had more to smile about Sunday when the stands were full and the island area was crammed with viewers.

The biggest surpirse Saturday was when Liz Allen Shetter of Winter Park, Fla., didn't defend her overall championship after taking first place in slalom and jump. Liz scored only 2,860 points in tricks, the final event of the day, and world tricks champ Carrasco scored a whopping 4,780. The difference was so great it made up the slack of Carrasco's sixth place in slalom and eighth place in jump.

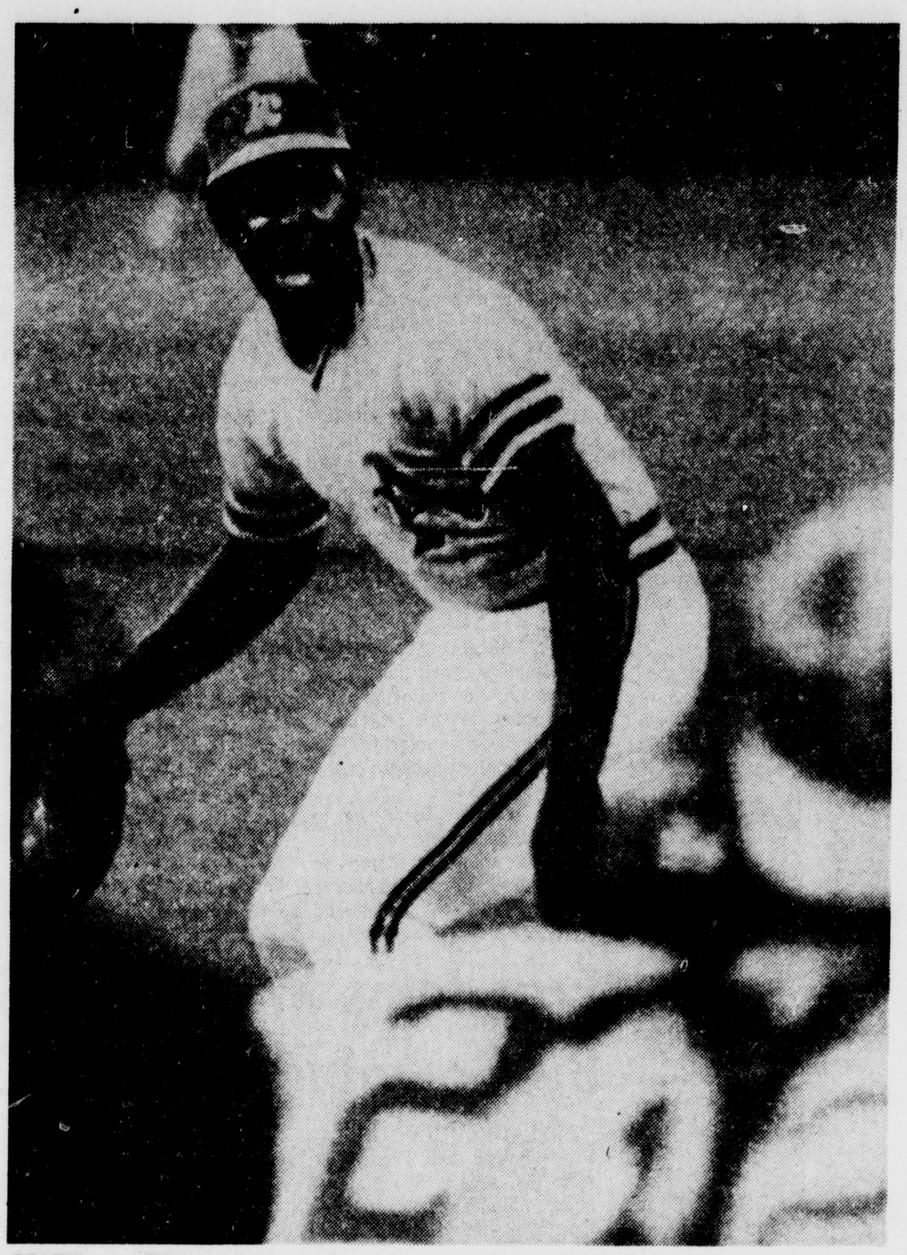

THE ONLY PERSON who wasn't surprised by the sudden overall victory of the Venezuelan was Liz herself. "No, I wasn't surprised," said Liz, eight-time Masters champion. "I was like a novice compared to her. Her win just shows what a good tricks skier she is. And she'll stay that way a long time."

Sunday, Russ Stiffler proved to be too good a mathematician. After his tricks run, it was announced over the loudspeaker that he had broken his own world record by scoring 5,750 points. He climbed up to the scorer's desk and recounted the points. He found a trick which was counted twice and pointed out the 40-point error to the judges. The total points, on the recount, were enough to tie his record. "Maybe next time," said Russ.

Vets Aren't In Prothro's Plans

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Coach Tommy Prothro says that the four San Diego Charger yeterans in camp probably won't play in Saturday night's exhibition opener here against the San Francisco 49ers.

Prothro indicated he would take a long look at quarterback Jesse Freitas, sixth round pick from San Diego State who has looked sharp in drills. Freitas' father was a member of the original 49ers in 1946-47.

OUCH — There was only one thing that A's pitcher Vida Blue could have been saying: ouch! Chicago batter Buddy Bradford had just sent a liner crashing into Blue's left foot during the first inning last night at the Oakland Coliseum. Blue had to leave the game in the third inning because of swelling on the foot. (UPI Telephoto)

A'S NORTH EXPLAINS

'When We Play Team We Have To Beat, We Do'

OAKLAND (AP) — Oakland centerfielder Bill North can explain why the A's are leading the American League West by 8½ games: "When we play a team we have to beat, we do it."

North drove in four runs to help the A's defeat the Chicago White Sox 11-9 last night to sweep a three-game series.

But a near capacity crowd of 44,279 fans, taking advantage of a half-price offer, figured it wasn't Oakland's night when the A's made four errors in the third inning to fall behind 4-0.

"We gave them seven outs in that inning, and they only scored two runs," said Oakland manager Alvin Dark. "Our pitchers held them, and then we got back enough runs to win."

The White Sox started the series in second place, six games behind the A's. Now they're in fourth place, nine games back.

"That was a big one for both teams," said Chicago outfielder Ken Henderson. "We had to win one of the three games. Now we need help from some other teams to catch the A's."

The A's scored four runs in the seventh inning and got three more in the eighth to give Paul Lindblad his fourth victory of the season. Six Oakland runs came off Chicago's best reliever, Terry Forster, now 5-7.

"They're a tough team, but we helped them by not scoring more runs when they gave us a chance," said Chicago manager Chuck Tanner. "They deserve the credit because they did it against our two best pitchers."

The White Sox, who collected 16 hits, scored four runs in the ninth to make the game close. Ed Herrmann's bases-loaded double scored three runs off Rollie Fingers in the ninth, but pinch hitter Tony Muser flied out to end the game.

Oakland will take on the Texas Rangers tonight with rookie Glenn Abbott, 3-1, pitching against Jim Bibby, 14-12, of the Rangers.

Strikers Focus On Talks With Owners

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Striking National Football League players will focus their attention on Washington today, hoping they can soon drop their picket signs and get down to the business of playing football.

For the first time in 11 days, representatives of the Players Association will meet with management in hopes of ending the 30-day-old strike which has left more than 1,000 veterans outside the training camps and has reduced most clubs to rosters of unknowns.

Chief Federal Mediator W. J. Usery Jr. was to meet with the bargainers from the NFL Owners Management Council at 10 a.m. EDT today and then with both the owners and players at 2 p.m.

Usery, the government's chief labor mediator, met for 90 minutes with a bargaining team from the Players Association Monday and was optimistic that a settlement might be reached.

"I'd be very hopeful that both sides are ready now to enter into serious bargaining," he said. "There comes a time in every strike to get it over with and I hope on this strike that time is soon."

Bill Curry, the Houston center who is president of the players union, also thought progress might be made in the new round of talks with Usery.

"We sincerely believe that at this time an agreement can be reached," he said.

Ed Garvey, executive director of the player's union, said the union's demands would be scaled down somewhat to help negotiations but he indicated that the controversial "freedom demands" would be modified but not abandoned.

These focus on players' insistence of having some say on which team they play with once a contract expires and veto power for veterans over trades.

Veterans, most of them second-line players, continued to drift into camps as the strike neared the one-month mark. At last report, there were 236 players classified as veterans in the camps while over 1,200 were honoring the picket lines. Of the 236, less than 60 were considered starters.

In Detroit, the Lions named Rick Forzano, former head coach at Navy, to replace the late Don McCafferty as interim coach. McCafferty died of a heart attack at the age of 53 Monday while working in his garden.

The players' weakest spot has been Cincinnati, where guard John Shinners yesterday became the 26th veteran to report.

"The dumb ones are going in now," said Player Rep Pat Matson. "They're giving the flimsiest excuses for reporting, saying they need to get into shape when they're already in shape. Going in now just gives the owners an edge in the negotiations. They're going to be harder to talk to because some players keep coming in.

"I'm angry. I'm frustrated — a bit of both. I made a commitment. I intend to see it through and I think the others should too."

Marinwood-Lucas Valley Wins; Novato Eliminated

Bad First Is Offset By Costa

CUPERTINO — Marinwood-Lucas Valley survived a disastrous first inning and went on to a 3-2, opening-round victory over Carmichael in the Division II Senior Little League baseball tournament at Monta Vista High School.

After surrendering two runs on three errors in the opening frame, the Marin team settled down behind the one-hit pitching of Tony Costa. Rocky Loberg belted a bases-loaded double in the fifth inning for all Marinwood's runs.

Marinwood-Lucas Valley's second round game will be Thursday night against the winner of tonight's Gilroy-Lincoln Glen contest.

Antioch Wins On Home Run

CONCORD — Novato National's Little League all-stars were the victims of one-hit pitching and a solo home run as they lost to Antioch West, 1-0 last night in the opening round of the Section 2 tournament.

Novato pitcher Marlan Warren got his team's only hit, a single, off Antioch ace Darren Dobson, but served up a home run pitch to Lance Snider in the fourth inning.

The loss eliminated Novato from further play in the all-star tournament schedule that leads next month to the Little League World Series in Williamsport.

Halicki Is Ex-Mets' Supporter

HOUSTON (UPI) — What would Ed Halicki's old buddies think? A die-hard New York Met fan actually winning a ballgame.

As hard as that is to believe, especially to the raw-boned San Francisco Giant right-hander from Kearney ("that's outside Newark"), N.J., it's true. Yes, Halicki, after five starts with the Giants, broke the Mets' 1960's spirit last night by scattering 10 Houston Astros hits for a 7-2 victory.

"Yeah, I really am a Met fan — or I was until I became a Giant three years ago," the soft-spoken, 23-year-old Halicki said while savoring his first major league win with a complete game. "I used to drive with a bunch of guys to Shea Stadium all the time."

With more performances like last night they may turn out in the City by the Bay to see the 6-foot-7, 220-pounder tease hitters with his slider and then blow the fast one by them.

Giant Manager Wes Westrum, looking for help 19 ½ games out of first and heading for Atlanta, hopes so.

"He could just as easily be 3-1 with us," Westrum said as he compared him to Atlanta's Ron Reed.

"He's got a good fastball, a good slider, a fair curve and good competitiveness. He doesn't let up when he gets behind the hitter," Westrum said.

It took a little faith, Westrum admitted, to go with the youngster when he got in deep trouble in the fifth. Leading 6-1 and giving up four straight singles,

Top Seed Upset In Mill Valley

The 16th annual Marin County Junior Hardcourt tennis tournament, with a field exceeding 400 players from throughout Northern California, got underway yesterday at the Mill Valley Tennis Club.

Only one major upset was recorded as preliminary and first round singles were held in all age groups. Patrick Loo of San Francisco, unseeded in Boys 14, stunned top seed Dennis Sandkulla of San Bruno in the first round after dispatching Bob Thompson of San Anselmo in the prelims. Loo took Sandkulla in straight sets, 6-3, 6-4.

A lesser upset also occurred in Boys 14 as Jim O'Connor of Tiburon, after winning his preliminary match, dumped fifth-seeded Craig Gee of San Leandro, 6-1, 6-4.

The top three seeds in Boys 18, Doug Carlisle of San Rafael, Roddy Goldberg of Palo Alto

FISH AND GAME

By AL GIDDINGS

Advertising At Fraser's Wedding

Keith Fraser never misses an angle.

I was a witness Sunday when Jeanne Mary Roche of Fraser exchanged vows. During the picture taking which followed, Fraser of Loch Lomond Live Bait Barge showed the unexpected. He put his thumbs under his suspenders and his jacket opened.

Pasted to the inside of his jacket was a large emblem. It was the shop slogan "The Lord of the Sea." There's a rumor too that Keith and his bride are spending their honeymoon over on Red Rock Island, just living off the fat of the land.

I CHECKED the derby entrants Sunday evening after the wedding. I guess with the Lord of the Sea all tied up, the fish decided to stop biting.

Only a few small fish were landed around the bay. It looks like Kevin Little has won the derby. Some big catches were made off Pacifica by the party boats there.

My neighbors, Pete Sutton and his wife Laura came by for the information on salmon fishing. After their trip, Sunday, they called me to say the total take for their party boat with 17 passengers was just six salmon. Pete caught two of them so he figured the trip as "good." They fished out between "C" Buoy and Point Reyes where last week some big fish were taken. The weekend fishermen always seem to have tough going.

WITH DEER season and the camping season here, please note: Kyle Griggs, a University of California Lawrence Laboratory scientist, has found that about 400 micrograms of beryllium is released from lantern mantles during the first 15 minutes of burning.

Prolonged inhalation of beryllium can damage the lungs, heart, liver and kidneys and may increase the risk of cancer.

Griggs suggests that lanterns be lighted in the open and be allowed to burn for five minutes before being taken into a tent or trailer.

Incidentally, beryllium is added to harden the mantle after the initial lighting.

UP IN SISKIYOU County there's been a flare-up between the herons and the vultures in the Siskiyou Cemetery.

Neighbors for years since Interstate 5 Highway construction eliminated a nearby blue heron rookery, the herons and turkey vultures had tolerated each other in the same pine trees on the grounds of the Henley-Hornbrook Cemetery in Siskiyou County until recently.

But suddenly the vultures came flapping around and the next thing the victims knew their progeny were falling 75 feet to splatter on the ground.

Cemetery caretaker Harold Reeve told Department of Fish and Game personnel that he has found 20 young herons dead at the bases of the trees and that neighbors have reported seeing vultures flapping close to heron nests, forcing the young herons to fall to their deaths.

"I think," Reeve said, "the problem may be there are more herons this year than we've ever had here and they're competing with the buzzards for space in the trees."

THE SUCCESSFUL waterfowl hunting program on the Klamath Basin National Wildlife Refuges will be continued this season, according to R. Kahler Martinson, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service regional director.

This year, the Modoc National Wildlife Refuge at Alturas will be added to the federal reservation system.

Persons planning to hunt either of the first two weekends of the 1974-75 waterfowl season will again be required to have entry permits in their possession to gain entrance to Tule Lake, Lower Klamath or Modoc refuges.

Hunters will be able to hunt only one area per weekend. Permits entitle hunters to both Saturday and Sunday hunting.

Opening dates for reservation telephones have been announced. Switchboards will open at midnight Aug. 10 for issuance of Tule Lake marsh unit permits. Calls will be accepted from 6 a.m., Aug. 11, for reservations for Tule Lake field, Lower Klamath and Modoc refuges. Calls will be accepted until the zones are filled or Sept. 30 when the switchboard will permanently close.

One caller may reserve up to four permits by providing the name, address (including zip code) and 1974 hunting license number of each person planning to hunt.

Marinites Win Great Race

The Great Race, not a movie but a relay race for runners, boaters and bicyclists, was held in Sacramento last Saturday, and a Tiburon man and his son came home winners.

Sponsored by Eppies Restaurants of Sacramento, the race was a charity affair to help fund the Aquarian Effort drug abuse program in Sacramento. Lured by a prize list that included a new bicycle for each member of the first-place team, 51 three-man teams from throughout Northern California took part.

Each team consisted of a runner, a boater and a bicyclist. Don Pickett of Tiburon and son Toby cycled for the first and second place teams respectively.

"The key to the whole thing was to get a good water man," Pickett said yesterday. "I don't think they were ready for the kind of boating talent we brought."

The course consisted of three miles of cross country running through rural Sacramento, five miles of boating down the American River and five miles of cycling through the streets of the city.

Running for the senior Pickett's team was Jim O'Neil from Sacramento. Gunther Hammersbach, formerly of West Germany and a former member of the U.S. national kayak team, handled the boating chores.

The second place team was an all-Marin contingent. Jim Ferran of Mill Valley did the running, Brannen Agajan from Tiburon took to the water in a single skull and the young Pickett cycled.

The winning time was one hour and 26 minutes; an hour and 32 minutes was good for second.

Raiders' Coach Madden Is Angry

SANTA ROSA (AP) — Oakland Raiders coach John Madden says he won't provide practice plans to his National Football League veterans who haven't reported because of the players' strike.

"The players should be in camp," Madden said yesterday. "They're either in camp or they're out striking. The idea of saying you're on strike and then practicing is a hypocritical idea."

"What they're doing is not what this strike is all about," he said. "In one instance they're telling their players to remain away from training camp for team unity, and in another they're instructing them how to get ready for the season."

Meanwhile, veteran starting guard George Buehler reported to training camp last night, becoming the 14th Raider veteran to cross the players' picket lines.

As for the rookies in camp, Madden said Saturday night's exhibition game in Oakland against Dallas will be "the chance of a lifetime" for some of the 35 free agents and marginal draftees still in camp by virtue of the strike.

"I think the best in them is going to show Saturday night," he said. "They've done a lot of hard work to get there."

Freedoms Win 16th Straight By Downing Golden Gaters

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Brian Fairlie and Fred Stolle won the men's doubles last night to clinch the Philadelphia Freedoms' 16th straight World Team Tennis victory — a 28-16 decision over the Golden Gaters.

Fairlie and Stolle took Dick Bohrnstedt and Gaters' player-coach Frew McMillan, 7-5 in the deciding set of the match after Bohrnstedt kept the visitors close by beating Fairlie, 6-3 in men's singles.

Philadelphia player-coach Billie Jean King scored her 34th victory in 38 matches with a 6-1 win over Leslie Hunt and Ilana Kloss in women's singles. Miss Kloss substituted for Miss Hunt after three games.

Mrs. King and Julie Anthony won their 19th straight women's doubles set, scoring a 6-2 victory over Miss Kloss and Denise Triolo.

In mixed doubles, Miss Anthony and Tory Fretz, who came in after four games, and Stolle took Miss Triolo and Whitney Reed, 6-2.

The Freedoms, who already have clinched the title in the Atlantic Section, boosted their record to 28-16. The loss dropped the Gaters to 16-18.

Wright, Pugh Jump To WFL Next Year

Combined AP & UPI

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — The Birmingham Americans of the World Football League announced today that linemen Rayfield Wright and Jethro Pugh of the National Football League Dallas Cowboys have signed contracts for the 1975 season.

Mike Merrill, director of publicity for Birmingham, made the announcement when about 2,500 persons gathered at a local motor hotel to form the Birmingham Americans Booster Club.

Tennis

PERTH, Australia — Former Wimbledon champion Margaret Court Smith gave birth to a seven-pound girl named Marika Sunday. It was the second child for Mrs. Smith and her husband Barry. Their son, Daniel, was born in Feb., 1972. Mrs. Court, 32, said she would return to competitive tennis in December.

Yachting

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich. — Corrected time had no bearing and Dora IV's line honors held for victory in the 333-mile Chicago to Mackinac Island Yacht Race yesterday.

The Dora's owner, Lynn Williams of Chicago, had his doubts as he guided his 61-foot yacht across the finish line early yesterday morning. It looked as if the handicap on Scaramouche and Namis might have handed either of them the official win. The corrected time was 37.7787 and the Dora held as victor.

Basketball

LEXINGTON, Ky. — Former University of Kentucky basketball coach Adolph Rupp was reported yesterday in satisfactory condition after being hospitalized late Sunday for back pains. He reportedly suffered a fall at his home here earlier.

Foreman To Begin Training

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — World Heavyweight champion George Foreman said yesterday he will begin training in two days at Pleasanton, Calif., for his boxing title defense against Muhammad Ali.

Foreman is scheduled to meet Ali on Sept. 24 in Zaire, Africa.

The heavyweight champion said he will train at the Alameda County Fairgrounds and will leave for Kinshasa, Zaire, where the fight will be held, about two weeks before the bout.

Foreman made the announcement at what he called his "last press conference" before the fight. He was flanked by four bikini-clad girls and then later was joined by Jim Brown, the former Cleveland pro football star turned actor who will be a commentator for the fight.

Foreman refused to be baited when a reporter suggested Ali was over the hill. The champ said he agreed with Brown that Ali was dangerous because "he always has the ability to come up with something."

DiMAGGIO PLAY

Keating Is Big Hitter For Toby's

Dennis Keating had four hits including two triples and a double to lead Toby's Truckers to a doubleheader sweep of Kelleher Lumber Sunday in Marin County Joe DiMaggio baseball league action.

Keating tripled home the winning run in the sixth inning as Toby's took the opener, 5-3, and tripled home a pair in the first inning of the nightcap to spark a 5-4 win.

Two other twin bills were played yesterday, and both were split. Morris Roofing defeated Italian Club, 10-8 in the first game and lost, 9-3 in the nightcap. Holiday Magic shutout Villa Builders, 2-0 in the second game after losing the opener, 3-2 in extra innings.

Third Time A Charm For Golfer Randig?

Third time's a charm, the saying goes, and if that's true Al Randig will win the 1974 Marin County Tournament of Champions.

Of the six champions of Marin's regulation courses who will play next Sunday at San Geronimo National, only Randig has competed in the last two TOC's. He finished third both times, to Jack Sterley in 1972 and Roy Hruska last year.

A 12-year member of Novato's Indian Valley course, Randig considers himself "an amateur who likes to play a little better than average." That'a a modest statement considering his handicap of six.

Playing against Randig will be former winner Mat Palacio, Jr. of Novato's Marin Country Club, George Frazer of Meadow Club in Fairfax, Jim Sherbert of San Geronimo, Elmo Petterle of Peacock Gap in San Rafael and Mill Valley's Dave Cardy. Palacio finished second in last year's TOC, and Frazer tied for third with Randig.

Randig has played San Geronimo's 6,500 yard layout but twice, the last time five years ago. "But the long course shouldn't bother me," he says. "I'm a pretty long hitter, but mainly I'm a scrambler.

"I've been playing more golf lately, but not complete rounds," he says. I don't know how my game's going to hold up."

If the last two years are any indication, it'll hold up fine.

The 41-year-old Randig lives in San Mateo and works in San Francisco for Falstaff Brewing. He is married and has a four-year-old son.

California Hosts White Sox Tonight

ANAHEIM (UPI) — The California Angels, in good spirits after splitting a doubleheader with the Minnesota Twins and a one-day rest, face the Chicago White Sox tonight at Anaheim Stadium.

The Angels suffered 15 consecutive defeats at home before winning the second game Sunday 12-9. They lost the opener 5-3.

Softball Score

Tommy Giono had three hits to lead Marin Supply to a 4-1 win over Ron Sanches Builders in San Anselmo adult softball league action last night at Memorial Park.

6 Of 7 Awards To Italian Club In Lacrosse

The Italian Club of Corte Madera, undefeated for the last two seasons in the Northern California Lacrosse Association's Ira Markwett junior league, has captured six of seven league trophies.

Team leader Steve Fogle won two awards: most valuable player and leading scorer.

Eddie Ugarti was named best on attack, Mark Rogiers best on defense. Award for the most assists went to Charles Filmer, and Jean Weber won the most improved player award.

The seventh league trophy, for most valuable goalie, was won by Mark Doran of Novato Parks and Recreation Department.

Anderson Wins Jr. Golf Title

Rick Anderson of Novato fashioned a par 72 to finish one stroke ahead of Tom LaMore and win the first Marin County Junior golf championship at Indian Valley in Novato.

Anderson, 17 was the overall winner among 54 golfers who took part in the tourney. LaMore, also 17 and also from Novato, was the 16-17-year-old flight winner.

Jeff McAndrew, Indian Valley pro, said afterwards that the tourney would be an annual affair, and that next year 36 holes would be played instead of 18.

The results:

16-17 flight — Tom LaMore, 73; Tim Moen, 77.

14-15 flight — Mike McKelligan, 74; Chris Buncing, 78.

Landry Crosses Over Detroit's Picket Line

BLOOMFIELD HILLS, Mich. (UPI) — Quarterback Greg Landry has crossed over to the training camp of the Detroit Lions after promising the veterans he left behind he wouldn't play any exhibition games.

The National Football League team wasn't exactly pleased with those terms but welcomed its top quarterback to the fold anyway.

"We're not going to put any undue pressure on them," acting coach Rick Forzano said to the vets earlier yesterday before he chatted with Landry. "They're human beings. They had feeling for Don McCafferty. They're welcome in camp any time."

"We let Landry go in," said Ed Flanagan, the Lions' center who is also their player representative. "We let him in to help Forzano organize the offense.

Most Doubles

"I walked out there and told him, 'Son, you're gonna' stay in here so keep going.' I wanted to give him his first win and I left him in," Westrum said. Halicki retired the next eight batters.

Garry Maddox singled three times and Bobby Bonds, Gary Matthews, Chris Speir and Bruce Miller each got two hits.

And Halicki had a good night with two hits and a sacrifice bunt. After Miller's single and a ground out by Ken Rudolph drove in the first two Giant runs in the second, Halicki sacrificed Rudolph to second from where he scored on Bonds' hit.

In the fifth Halicki led off a three-run inning against loser Claude Osteen with a single. It was that kind of night for the big right-hander.

Oil Nations Want To Invest Here

JIDDA, Saudi Arabia (AP) — Whether Americans like it or not, oil producing nations expect to invest their vast oil wealth where they want and in the amounts they want.

If that means buying General Motors stock to gain control of the auto firm, then oil producing nations like Saudi Arabia expect to be free to do it.

The Saudis — who may have up to $20 billion to invest in foreign markets this year — are genuinely puzzled by fears in the United States that they might obtain control of major U.S. corporations by purchasing a majority of shares.

"I don't know why you have that fear," said Sheik Ahmed Zaki Yamani, the Saudi oil minister.

"You should be extremely happy if we decide to do this because there are so many countries on earth who have been extremely enthusiastic to get Saudi Arabia to come and invest in their equity market," he added.

Yamani's view was echoed by other Saudi officials in interviews here. They were noticeably irritated at suggestions there would be something objectionable in Saudi control of U.S. corporations.

As one American banker here said: "For years, I have been trying to justify American ownership of foreign enterprises. And suddenly Americans are saying it would be wrong to have foreign ownership of American corporations. It's madness."

Referring to talk in Congress that there should be some restrictions to the amount of foreign ownership of a domestic corporation, Ambassador James E. Akins said, "If we do that, we might as well give up and go home."

Akins and other U.S. officials here believe it is imperative for the United States to make attractive investment opportunities available to Saudi Arabia, Iran, Kuwait and other oil producing nations.

If the oil producing nations can't invest their vast surplus wealth profitably now, they almost certainly will cut back on their production until such time as they can, the officials said.

Such a move would reduce the supply of oil, drive oil prices higher and make a bad world financial situation even worse, they added.

Estimates of the amounts available to be invested abroad by oil producing nations are staggering. They range as high as $70 billion this year, $200 billion in two years and over $1 trillion by 1985.

Since the bulk of this money will come from the big oil consuming nations, such as the United States, Japan and European countries, it will represent a net outflow of wealth from the developed world.

It is essential to the economies of the developed world that the money be reinvested so it can be used again.

So far, the oil producing nations have not invested heavily in the U.S. stock market because the market has not been an attractive investment.

Most Saudi investments — an estimated $8 billion to $9 billion so far — are in short-term investments offering a high return in the United States, Saudi banking officials indicated.

1975 MONARCH

The new Mercury Monarch is offered in four models — two and four-door sedans in two series: Monarch and the top-of-the-line Monarch Ghia. The clean, crisp European look is complimented by a bold, vertical-bar grille and elegant hood ornament. All Monarchs have standard equipment including steel-belted, radial-ply tires, solid state ignition, fully reclining bucket seats and cut-pile carpeting. The Ghia model (above has additional standard features including a vinyl roof, padded door trim panels, a digital clock, luxury wheel covers, and a fully lined and trimmed luggage compartment. The Mercury Monarch will debut in late September. Local dealer is Marin Bay Lincoln Mercury in San Rafael.

Marin Title Guaranty Company Opens New Branch In Novato

Wood

Gubbins

Marin Title Guaranty Company, headquartered at 1300 Fourth Street in San Rafael, opened a new branch office in Novato last week at 1125 Grant Avenue, next to the Novato Chamber of Commerce.

Manager of the new branch is Nancy L. Robinson of Novato, a native Marinite with more than 15 years of title and escrow experience. Joining her as escrow officer is Norma George of Novato, with 10 years of escrow experience.

HAROLD L. CLEEK of Santa Rosa was promoted to vice president and county manager of Marin Title Guaranty Company, replacing Elmer Curry, who asked to be relieved for health reasons. Curry will continue as senior escrow officer in the San Rafael office.

Cleek has 16 years of banking and title company experience including escrow administration work for Wells Fargo Bank. He will move from Santa Rosa to Marin.

Other promotions at Marin Title Guaranty are John F. Blodgett of Rohnert Park to assistant vice president and Dorothy Duke of Novato to assistant corporate secretary. Blodgett has been an escrow officer with Marin Title for a year. Mrs. Duke has been an escrow secretary with the firm since 1961.

LAWSON L. WOOD tax consultant service has just opened at 295 Adobestone Court in Marinwood to provide tax preparation and tax planning, primarily for small businesses and individuals in Marin.

Wood was with the Internal Revenue Service audit division for 33 years until his retirement last year and worked for Dean Hale & MacKenzie tax consultation in Novato for four months this year. While with IRS, Wood conducted investigations and audits of large corporations as well as small businesses and individuals.

Wood will provide tax planning and preparation service and some bookkeeping if needed, primarily for small businesses and professionals like doctors, and for individuals.

Wood was active in the Marinwood Lucas Valley Little League, Cub Scouts, and Marinwood Homeowners Association and is a drummer with the Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District's non-marching band. He and his wife Allene operate the Newcomers Service of Marin.

ROGER D. GUBBINS of Sausalito has been named assistant marketing director of Consolidated Capital companies, an Oakland-based group specializing in property management and in real estate investment programs for multiple investors.

In the investment field since 1958, Gubbins was a trader and administrator for various Illinois stock brokerages. He is a graduate of Regis College in Denver.

NINO'S RESTAURANT will be the name of a new restaurant planned at the former Little Joe's in San Rafael, corner of Lincoln Avenue and Fourth Street.

The new owner is listed as Lenino Inc. of Larkspur, whose principals include Achille Marchesiello, president; and John G. Canzona, vice president. They have applied for a beer and wine license.

SEABROOK Jewelry and Lapidary Supply Store, which carries a full line of tools, equipment and stones for the professional jeweler, craftsman and hobbyist, is now open at 135 Third Street in San Rafael, one block east of the Montecito Shopping Center.

Owner Jim Stevens, who formerly operated the shop in Sausalito, said the new location, with 4,000 square feet, allows space for more large equipment and lapidary supplies and is more convenient for his customers.

RICHARD J. VASQUEZ of Sleepy Hollow has joined Empire Chevrolet, 7123 Redwood Highway in Novato, as general manager.

A resident of Marin since 1965, Vasquez has been selling automobiles and recreational vehicles for 10 years in San Francisco and the Peninsula.

BACHELOR & STRANGE Imports Ltd., specializing in bulk import of English antiques and collectors' items, opened this week at 100 Gate 5 Road in Sausalito, behind North Bay School.

W. Daniel O'Connor, director, announced he has four full containers of items which he collected during the spring buying. They include pieces from the Queen Anne, Georgian, Chippendale, Regency, Empire and Victorian periods. He also provides repair, refinishing and upholstering.

The office and warehouse is open weekends from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. for sale to the public. Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays are reserved for those in the trade — retail shop owners.

Stocks' Values Dip; Should He Sell?

By ROGER E. SPEAR

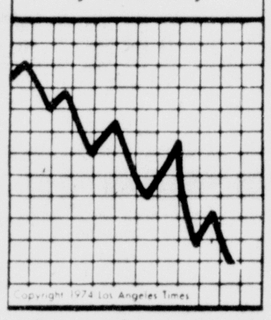

Q. A year ago, I had a profit of $4,600 on my portfolio: today, I have a $5,700 loss. Should I continue holding, buy more, or sell American Electric Power (NYSE), Cluett, Peabody (NYSE), Sterling Drug (NYSE), and Texaco (NYSE)? — E. S.

A. American Electric's dividend was raised in the June quarter, making this the tenth consecutive year of higher annual payments. Although AEP faces many of the same problems as other utilities, 95 per cent of generating capacity of coal fueled and reserves are substantial. While some 48 per cent of earnings are derived from A.F.C. (allowance for funds used during construction), which artifically inflates results, the dividend appears secure and shares should be held for their generous 11.5 per cent yield. The March quarter should be the swing point for earnings recovery at Cluett, Peabody. Changing men's styles favor a resurgence of demand for the Arrow Shirt division. Price controls and material shortages, both major factors in the 1973 profit slump, have been eliminated.

Sterling Drug is in an excellent financial position, an important consideration in these times of record borrowing costs. Assets, which are 3 times liabilities, are 21 per cent in cash. Long-term debt at the year-end stood at $27 million, ⅓ of the figure for cash assets.

Texaco, as did most oils with large international interests, recorded large inventory profits in the six months ended March and may face modest inventory losses if Saudi Arabia cuts oil prices. However, continued large production at higher prices assures good operating earnings while output gains are likely in Ecuador, Indonesia, Iran and Saudi Arabia. The stock, selling at less than the value of U.S. reserves alone, is a buy.

Bay Area Markets Considered Efficient

The recent "Market Basket Price Survey" conducted by newspaper food editors in 20 major U.S. cities indicates that the Bay Area's retail grocery stores are among the most efficiently run in the nation, according to an analysis of the data by Stanley F. Johnson, executive director of the Bay Area Grocers Association.

"While food prices here were 1 per cent below the national average for a representative 'market basket' during the June survey, the retailers' labor costs are among the highest in the nation," Johnson explained. "San Francisco ranked 11th out of 20 cities in terms of food prices, but this area is first in food industry wages." Food industry journeymen clerks cost grocers $7.06 per hour in the Bay Area, as against a national average of about $4.00 per hour.

"To a small extent, this is because raw food costs and transportation distances are not as high in California as in other parts of the country," Johnson stated, "but the main reason is that the intense competition among retailers in the Bay Area has made our markets more efficient than others. This means that despite rising costs, the consumer is still getting whatever savings the retailer can possibly pass on."

Inflation Concern Deflates Market

NEW YORK (UPI) — Investor concern with the inflationary spiral kept the stock market on the downtrend in routine trading on the New York Stock Exchange today.

Renewed concern over inflation arose with statements from Herbert Stein, outgoing chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, and Arthur Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, whose tight credit policy in the face of heavy corporate loan demand has pushed interest rates to record levels.

Stein said forecasts had underestimated inflation rates and said past policies "were too weak in dealing with inflation or abandoned too soon."

Burns said the FED's monetary policy has resulted in a 6 per cent growth rate in the money supply and described that pace as "still too high for stability of average prices over the longer term."

CEASELESS DIN — Some of the over 200 construction workers employed on the $10.5 million Firemen's Fund American Insurance Companies computer center being built in the Lucas Valley area of San Rafael pour concrete in the floor site of one of the wings.

MAZE OF STEEL — An engineer working on the $10.5 million Firemen's Fund American Insurance Companies computer center being built in the Lucas Valley area of San Rafael carefully threads his way among rows of steel rods.

New Computer Center Built Tough

By MARK LITTMAN

Fireman's Fund Insurance Companies' new computer center at Highway 101 and Lucas Valley Road (opposite Northgate Industrial Park) is designed to withstand earthquake and fire and quickly process insurance claims after such a catastrophe, according to its engineers and builder.

"It's built like a missile silo," declared Donald McKinley, superintendent of Dinwiddie Construction Co. of San Francisco, the contractor.

"Just look at all that concrete," he shouted above the din of whining steel drills and the seemingly endless stream of cement trucks lumbering to and from the 38-acre construction site located between Los Gamos Road and Highway 101. "It's designed to meet the most advanced seismic standards. And it's built of entirely noncumbustible material, not even a trace of plastic."

The 285,000-square-foot building will have concrete caissons tunneling down 40 to 45 feet into solid bedrock. In all, 27,000 cubic yards of concrete, enough to fill 3,375 trucks, will be poured into the $10.5 million structure.

"In 19 years of working on large buildings of this type, I've never seen anything like it," McKinley marveled.

McKinley expects at least partial occupancy before the end of the year. He said that construction, which began in January, 1973 and originally scheduled for completion this month, was delayed by severe rains the past two winters, two carpenters' strikes, and the scarcity of steel and copper piping stemming from the energy crisis.

Destined to be the hub of the San Francisco-based insurance firm's nationwide data processing network, the center will house a computer system valued at over $20 million.

The center will open with a work force of 900 personnel employed in management information services and computer services, corporate systems, publications services, premium audit and processing.

The 150 Firemen's Fund employees now working at an office leased in the Northgate Industrial Park in San Rafael and computer technicians from the firm's home office, will be transferred to the new computer center when it opens.

In all, 175 Marin employees will be affected by the move and the company expects that by January, 1976, an additional 267 of their employees now living in San Francisco will move to Marin, Sonoma or Napa counties.

A spokesman for the insurance firm, Daniel B. Brigham, said the firm chose San Rafael as its new computer center site because it was cramped for space in San Francisco, residents there frown on large buildings, and a lower property tax rate in Marin.

Last year's property tax rate in San Francisco was $12.25 per $100 of assessed valuation as compared with $11.75 per $100 assessed valuation in the Lucas Green area.

Over $565,000 in tax revenue, based on last year's tax rate, will be generated from the new computer center.

Another feature of the center is that it will be equipped with a $1.5 million emergency generator capable of providing power throughout the building in the event of an emergency.

Two San Francisco firms, Henry J. Degenkold and Associates, structural engineering consultants, and the building's architects, Page, Clowdsley and Baleix, worked closely to design a center that would not only be able to survive an earthquake intact but would also be able to quickly process insurance claims after a catastrophe had taken place. But the designers concentrated on preserving the quiet, verdant surroundings of Lucas Green, as well.

The building and parking for 701 vehicles is situated on only 12.5 acres of the 38-acre tract, purchased in March, 1971 from American Savings and Loan for $2.3 million.

The rest of the site will be landscaped with over 700 trees, 3.25 acres of ground cover and over 3,000 square feet of shrubbery. One acre of land has been placed in open space in perpetuity for the benefit of the homeowners on Salvador Way, whose homes overlook the site.

At the ground level main entrance on Los Gamos Road there will be fountains and pools situated under a covered walkway.

The building will be dark grey in color to blend in with the environment. Building materials include precast fluted concrete panels, Bronze toned window frames and solar glass windows will be on all sides of the structure.

McKinley was quick to point out that no two square feet of construction is exactly alike. "We've varied the outside material slightly in texture," McKinley said, adding, "It doesn't look like one big box."

I-J News Staff Snares Awards

The awards were made at the association's annual convention in Toronto, Canada, last week. Publisher Wishard A. Brown accepted them for the newspaper.

An honorable mention in the best news story category for papers of 4,000 or more circulation went to reporter Erik M. Ingram for his story of July 4, 1973, "Rabies Nightmare for Six Persons."

An honorable mention for the Herrick Editorial Award was given to Associate Editor Bryce W. Anderson for six editorials in 1973, "best reflecting the most outstanding and unusual efforts made by a newspaper to explain democracy to the people."

Cranston Calls For Information Protection

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Police investigators can use an overdrawn checking account as a basis for delving into "a thousand details involving the personal aspects of the citizen's life," according to Sen. Alan Cranston.

Cranston said yesterday that present law permits officers to review customer's bank records with little restraint:

"They can see what magazines the individual subscribes to. They can see what political organizations the individual gives to. They can determine what religious groups the individual donates to. They can determine whether or not the individual has a psychiatrist."

Cranston made the remarks during a one-day hearing on possible amendments to the 1970 Bank Secrecy Act. He and fellow California Democrat Fortney Stark heard eight witnesses testify, most in favor of tightening the disclosure regulations.

United dedicates our West Coasters picnic basket.

Check our schedule and call us at (800) 792-0707. Or ask your Travel Agent to book you on United. And remember, our return flights are just as convenient.

Sears Highway Passenger Tire Guarantee

If you do not receive the number of miles specified because of your tire becoming unserviceable due to (1) defects, (2) normal road hazards, or (3) tread wear-out,

We will: At our option, exchange it for a new tire or give you a refund charging in either case only the proportion of the then current selling price plus Federal Excise tax that represents mileage used. If the tire is unserviceable due to any of the above causes before 10% of the guaranteed mileage is received, the replacement or refund will be made with no charge for mileage received.
